Meany is the leading tailor and pays the highest cash price for fur skins.

Mr. Gamble—Would you like to take a chance in a lottery, Miss Overage? Miss Overage (blushing)—This is so sudden, sir.

Ladies, if you want a fine dress lower than any place will sell for, go to the Low Price Store.

The crown prince of Japan wants to marry an American heiress. Evidently the Japs doubt their ability to collect that war indemnity from China.

Look at the underwear and hosiery and save big money at Cohen's Low Price Store.

Charlotte Fowler Wells was the first woman publisher. She has been in business since 1814, and is still at it in New York.

S. E. Utlinger is the agent in Astoria for the celebrated Chambrinus Bottled Beer of Portland. Dr. P. him a postal card and he will call for your order.

Mrs. Maddocks, a Sydney wheel woman, has won international fame by riding a bicycle all the way from Sydney to Melbourne, a distance of 600 miles.

A good, never fading photograph is always a source of pleasure. You can obtain this kind from Crow's Gallery, as they turn out that class of work and no other kind.

Denison Wheelock, leader of music in the Carlisle Indian school, and a Chippewa girl, now at the same school, celebrated Christmas by getting married.

A family gathering of fine liquors at the Office every day. But Hope Whiskey stands to the fore. Its quality is the lever that is turning hundreds of lovers of the pure article to the Office bar.

The only woman chemist in Paris is a Yassar girl, Miss Ida Weil. She has distinguished herself at the University of Geneva, and at the University of Paris.

Foard & Stokes Co. have secured the agency of the famous STEWART'S TWINE, the only GENUINE FLAX TWINE manufactured in IRELAND.

Colonel Watterston denies that he intends moving from Louisville to New York. The movement for a western Democratic candidate for 1896 may now safely proceed.

When Goodman & Co. say that "our shoes earn you interest," they mean that they wear so much longer than the same price shoes sold elsewhere that it is like investing money and receiving interest on it.

There is an Anglomaniac living on Madison avenue, New York, near Nineteenth street, who provides a bread-crumbs and out breakfast for about 500 English sparrows every morning of the year around.

Ask any one familiar with the wood market who it is that is capturing the trade of the city. There'll be but one answer. There is one yard that stands easily at the head and that is the Scov Bay Wood Yard, Office opposite Fisher Bros's store.

The Printz-Crain Drug Co. are making a specialty of fine perfumes, soap and toilet articles. They have just received a line of imported perfumes, including the specialties of the leading foreign manufacturers. Call and examine them. It will cost you nothing to look at them.

The best goods, and by far the cheapest in the city, clothing, underwear, socks, suspenders, hats, caps, neckwear, blankets, comforters, umbrellas, oil clothing, rubber boots, at the Consignee's Sale, 600 Commercial street.

One would think to see the crowds continually going to and leaving Foard & Stokes' store, that they, too, were having a sale like the dry goods men. They do have a sale every day in groceries, and if all good housekeepers will deal with them they will find that their expenses will be cut down considerably in '95.

AROUND TOWN

Died, yesterday morning at 4:30, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Porter.

Mr. I. L. Osgood and family are now living in the house at No. 655 Irving avenue, corner 15th street.

Messrs. Bonner and Hammond yesterday received from the Seashore railroad Company, an option until April 1st, on that road.

The funeral of Charlie Snow, who died Saturday morning, will be held from Grace Church Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock, leaving the house at 9 o'clock at Greenwood.

The British ship Persian, 1324 tons, Captain John S. Carnegie, arrived in port from San Diego yesterday morning in ballast. She has been beating about off the heads for two weeks.

Services in the Finnish Lutheran church today as usual. The pastor of the church will conduct the services. The church recently received a new illustrated bible from the Northwestern Bible Company.

Maninger Overbeck took a day off yesterday and put the finishing touches on a new chicken coop which he has been building for the past two months. He will turn a number of prize chickens in it today and test its holding capacity.

Services at Grace Church today at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. The change of half an hour later than usual is made and will continue until further notice.

Services at Holy Innocent's at 7:30 p. m. Monday evening a special service under the auspices of the St. Agnes' Guild will be held at 7:30. All friends are most cordially invited to be present.

News of the Bonner and Hammond success in the purchase of the Oregon Pacific was watched for eagerly in this city. It was late before the first wire arrived, which was soon bulletined, and around the board all evening long a large number of people congregated and expressed various views as to its connection with the Astoria-Goble road.

The North American Trading and Transportation Company, doing business on the Yukon river, and the north-west coast of Alaska, will sail two steamers from San Francisco during the present season, touching at Seattle, and making connections at St. Michael's Island with the steamer P. B. Wear, which will run up the Yukon river.

Sheriff Hare has received the new roll-topped desk the county court awarded him not long ago. It is just the article needed in that office, and there is no one that knows how to make better use of it than Mr. Hare. The fact that there are a number of compartments for official documents, etc., is a feature that makes it a most useful piece of furniture.

The report of the Life Saving service shows that 329 vessels in distress have been aided, and that out of 4,654 persons on board of them, only 51 were lost. The estimated value of the vessels was nearly $10,000,000, of which $1,685,000 was saved; the cost of the service was a little over $1,250,000; the number of disasters by reason of storms was greater than in any previous year since the introduction of the present system.

Despite the fact that the only clipper ship between this port and San Francisco has been abandoned because of the alleged dearth of business, two schooners have been chartered to load full cargoes of case petroleum at Marcus Hook, to be delivered on clipper ships loading at New York for San Francisco. Not only these cargoes, but carloads of merchandise go over to New York every week to load both steam and sail craft bound for Pacific ports.—Philadelphia Record.

The little schooner Lottie was brought alongside the O. R. and N. Co.'s dock yesterday where she was surveyed by the customs officials. She has been fitted out for deep sea fishing and will in a day or two go outside. The Lottie, it will be remembered, was picked up nearly three years ago by the steamer Augusta, which came across her bottom-side-up, just off the mouth of the river. She was sold for salvage, the purchaser being Mr. Sam Olsen, of Uppertown. It is supposed she was a smuggling vessel.

Last evening the British bark County of Antrim, in ballast from Rio de Janeiro, was towed into the harbor and anchored below the Seaside cannery. Boatman Bradford went aboard of her as soon as she dropped her anchor, and was told by the captain that on the trip up one of the crew was down with the small-pox, but had eventually recovered. Upon hearing this, Mr. Bradford, who is boatman for the health officer, advised the captain not to let anyone go ashore until after the health officer visited the bark. He at once notified Dr. Walker, who deputized him to return and place the vessel in quarantine until this morning, when he will personally visit the bark.

The British bark Glandinorwig, 117 days from Rio de Janeiro, arrived in port early yesterday morning. She is an iron vessel of 108 tons, has a crew of 29 men, and is commanded by Capt. John Jones. The Glandinorwig has had a rough time of it since the day she left Rio until picked up by the tug yesterday morning. On December 2 as previously reported in the Astorian's dispatches, the ship W. A. Law was signaled and a quantity of flour and bread obtained. Their supply of meat and vegetables gave out over two weeks ago. Eight days ago the lightship was sighted, but on account of off-shore winds they were unable to get in. Last Saturday, during the gale, Claf Andries, a sailor, fell from the rigging and sustained a fractured collar bone. Together with a sailor who is ill with dysentery, he was removed to the hospital last evening.

At Resene Club last night a large audience greeted a program that was rendered to the delight of every one present. President Estes presided. The following program was rendered: Recitation, Grace Simpson and Nanette Adams; vocal solo, "Sweet Mignonette," Miss Pearl Hooding; piano solo, Miss Lolla Grange and Miss Lulu Bates; duet, violin and banjo, Messrs. Edwards and Lewis; piano solo, Miss Mamie Smith; selection from "Samantha Allen," read by Mrs. Staver; vocal duet, "When Summer is O'er," Miss Burns and Mrs. Kearns; song, "Marguerite," Miss Fannon; vocal solo, Mr. Jones, accompanied by Miss Busby; piano duet, Mrs. K. Osburn and Miss Nannie Belcher; reading, "Where is Your Boy," Dr. Estes, who gave an earnest talk in reference to the employment of young boys in any business that leads them into the lowest dives in the city at all hours of the night.

PERSONAL MENTION

Hon. C. J. Curtis spent Saturday in the metropolis.

Mr. Adams, city water works engineer, returned yesterday from Portland, where he has been examining the reservoirs of the Bull Run water works.

"SWOPE'SWIPEY."

(From Longfellow's "Hiawatha.") Far beyond the western prairies Past the land of the Dakotas In the fastness of the forests Close beside the peaceful ocean Where the mighty river ends— Mighty river, rush of waters, Ever flowing past the lodges Of Cathlamet and Chenamus, And the tribes of Old Concomly, And the Clatsop and Chinooks, Ever flowing, ever restless, On its shifting, sandy bottom, Ever shifting, ever changing, Past the lodges I have mentioned Till it mingles with the sea; This the home of Swope'swipey— This is where he has his wigwam. He it is of whom I sing:

And the little Swope'swipey Learned of every paint its color— Learned its name and combinations— How to mix it on his palette; How to mix it up in buckets; How to put it on with brushes— Put it on and make it stay there— Make it stick and stay there tightly, So the sun's rays would not blister, And the fog and damp of winter Would not fade or change the color.

With his brushes made of bristles From the wild bear of the forests, And the hair of bear and sable, And the long hair of the camel— These he handles quick and deftly; Fashions with them many letters, Various in style and color, That adorn the signs of commerce, Advertising your and business On the wigwams of the paleface.

Thus I sing of Swope'swipey; He the painter-decorator; He the man that hangs the paper So it stays where it is hung— So it stays upon the ceiling— So it stays upon the side-wall— Till the plaster it is hung on Rots and crumbles underneath it.

Hangs it in a manner tasty— Pleasing the eyes that see it— Fitting to the purse that pays him For the outcome of his labor; He it is who writes this jiggle To catch the eye and hold it Till it gives you the impression Why and wherefore he did write it. Swope, the signwriter-decorator, 423 Duane street.

THE DISCOVERY SAVED HIS LIFE.

Mr. G. Callousta, Druggist, Beaverville, Ill., says: "Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles around, but I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle, and began to use it, and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it." Get a trial bottle free at Chas. Rogers' Drug Store, Odd Fellows' building.
