That politics makes strange bed fellows is a trite saying of which we are daily having new proof, says a writer in the Omaha Bee. The situation in South Dakota with reference to two important measures brought before the present legislature is an illustration well in point. It shows nothing less than the advocates of woman suffrage claiming to be in control of the votes necessary to pass the bill for making the divorce law still more lax than it is, and offering to assist in the enactment of that bill in return for support of the proposed submission of a woman suffrage constitutional amendment. They are apparently insisting that the encouragement of the divorce industry and woman suffrage must be linked together and that only by a concession to the latter can the divorce promoters have the legislation that they are seeking. The humor of this political play lies in the complete registration on the part of the woman suffragists of the high moral standard which they have constantly claimed as their guide. The professional woman agitators have always proclaimed their staunch support of every alleged great moral reform. Although few of them have been permitted to enjoy the blessings of home life they have been careful to uphold the sanctity of marriage and the importance of the family and to deplore the laws of wicked men that enable the discontented spouse to break asunder the sacred bonds of wedlock. They have told about the stringent divorce laws they were going to enact so soon as they were accorded a share in the work of law-making. In fact, some of them have gone so far as to assert that the only way uniform and conservative divorce legislation can ever be obtained is by way of the woman suffrage route. Yet what do we see now? To gain a slight political advantage all these good resolutions are suddenly cast to the winds! Far from spurning an alliance with the hotel-keepers, lawyers and court officials, who thrive upon the proceeds of the divorce industry, they even suggest a union of forces themselves. Of course it is very doubtful whether such an alliance will be effected, or if made, whether it could possibly accomplish its purpose. The spectacle, however, is an interesting one, the woman suffragists and the divorce traders consoling one another in defeat.

A large clothing manufacturing firm in New York, with retail stores in other cities of the United States, recently sent out circulars to all parts of the country soliciting trade and saying that the removal of the duty on wool by the Democratic party enabled them to sell their goods at lower prices than in former years. Among a large number of letters received by the firm complaining of the effect of the Gorman tariff bill was this one from C. S. Broadbent, of De Rio, Tex. "Yes, your circular letter is true. Prices do show the effects of the changes in the tariff. But this is a stock country, and with wool selling at 7 cents a pound and hides selling at prices that do not make it worth while to ship them, if the free trade salesman will tell us where we are to get 22 to buy a boy's suit that we formerly paid 26 for, they will do us a favor and solve a knotty problem. Our people can hardly get enough to eat, and have to wear clothing carried over from the days of 18 cent wool. In the days of 25-cent wool they lived and dressed well and had a good annual surplus. We do not sell one-half the goods we used to sell, and those we do sell are at less than one-half the former prices, and where there is such vast underconsumption the markets are bound to be glutted."

The city of New York has just disposed of nearly $4,000,000 worth of its bonds, bearing 3 per cent interest, at the handsome figure of 102.77. The same syndicate that purchased these bought $2,000,000 of the bonds of the United States within a few days, bearing 4 per cent interest, at 104.3-2. Thus a 4 per cent bond of the government brought less than 2 per cent more in the market than a 3 per cent bond of the city of New York. The debt of the metropolis is huge. Its government is, at present, well administered; but it has been the most corrupt political machine in the civilized world, and it is likely to fall again into that condition at any time when the people shall relax their vigilance. Yet the fact remains, to be seen of all men, that the credit of New York city, in the financial world, is apparently higher than that of the United States; and that the people of New York will pay 1 per cent less interest on their obligations than the people of the country.

When the condition of the country is such that a man can only eke out an existence by constant labor what is he to do when he gets sick, out of employment or old, even though there be not a lazy bone in his body? And yet the country is teeming with plenty. Employment is what the people want with a just compensation for their labor and a reasonable exchange for their products. In a land of plenty there would be no want if all things were properly adjusted. It is not an uncommon thing to see men who though they work incessantly, can do no more than keep even with the world.

The name One Minute Cough Cure suggests a medicine that relieves at once, and quickly cures. Its use proves it. Chas. Rogers. Harper's Bazaar: Hardup (scribbles)—My dear fellow, couldn't I lend me a Y? Wiggins (scribbles below)—My boy you must think I am a J! Busy people have no time, and sensible people no inclination to use a slow remedy. One Minute Cough Cure promptly and gives permanent results. Chas. Rogers.

Great Divide: Fred—I say, Jack, do you know that fine-looking girl we just passed? Jack (moodily)—Should I care, she's my sister. Fred (doubtfully)—Your sister? O come off! Since when? Jack—Since last night. You make no mistake when you take DeWitt's Little Early Risers for biliousness, dyspepsia, or headache, because these little pills cure them. Chas. Rogers.

Cincinnati Tribune: "I wouldn't swear that way," said the kind looking old lady, mildly. "Bless your soul, ma'am, you couldn't. It takes years of truck drivin' to come anywhere near it," responded the gentleman whose team had balked across the street car track.

What is the use of having a "humor form divine" unless you care for it and drape it and clothe it so as to make it a source of joy to yourself and a pride to your friends? Nature supplies the form. A. Lake, the tailor at 359 Commercial street will make the raiment. See him.

DREADFUL PSORIASIS. Covering Entire Body with White Scales. Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose, and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes, and the physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, back and shoulders being the worst. The white scales fell constantly from my head, shoulders, and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDY, and after using two bottles CUTICURA REMEDY, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA REMEDY, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the REMEDY. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and so is my eyesight. Miss ROSA KELLY, Rockwell City, Iowa.

Thoughts for Fishermen. On a dark, stormy night, when the tide is ebbing fast and the hardy fisherman finds it almost impossible to handle his net, has he ever stopped to think, should it become caught on a snag, what brand of twine would stand the greatest strain? Did he ever ask his brother fishermen what sort of twine they used? If so in nine cases out of ten, if they be successful fishermen, the answer has been "MARSHALL'S TWINE."

It is the ONLY Brand of Twine to use. S. H. WILLETT, PLUMBING, Gas and Steam Fitting, Hot Air, Steam and Water Heating. 119 Twelfth street, Astoria, Or.
