Murderer Blanck Killed Yesterday Near Kent, Washington.

DEPUTY BADLY WOUNDED.

Men's and Boys' Cloth- The Murderer and Jail Breaker Died Game .-- The Body Taken to Seattle.

Seattle, March 21.-Thomas Blanck the murderer and jail breaker, is dead, shot through the heart and body by bullets from the Winchester rifles of John Shopich and Robert Crow. The execution took place on the Northern Pacific railroad, about a mile north of Kent, at 5:30 p'clock, and about sixteer shots were fired. Whe nthe smok cleared away Thomas Blanck was a lifeless corpse and John Shopleh lay with wounds on his left shoulder in proximity of the heart. Blanck was shot through the ear, nose and body, His romains were immediately taken to Kent together with the wounded deputy. The injuries of Shopich, while serlous, are not thought to be fatal. The battle was one of the most desperate imaginable, and was fought out with only ten feet separating the foes. Blanck shot twice before the deputies opened fire." He refused to throw up his hands, and in his usual bold, bloodthirsty manner drew his gun and wen at it. Fast and furious was the shoot ing, the two deputies firing almost sim ultaneously. The following story of the battle was told to the Post-Intelligence reporter by W. L. Mhittimere, of Kent who saw the fight from a distance and was one of the first to arrive after the fight. He said: "This afternoon a report Orillia, and as soon us the news was for the place. Bob Crow and John Shopich, who carried Winchester rifles, down the track. They had no idea when they saw the man approaching that they were going to reet the desperado, and arrived within ten feet of him before the real danger developed fiself. The stranger walked along without saying a word, and finally Crow and Shopich called to him, "Throw up your hands there." Their commands fell upon deaf ears, for the man without further delay drew a black Colt's 38-calibre, five shot revolver from his pocket and opened fire. Two shots from his revolver were discharged and still the deputies were unhurt. Then the men with Winchester commenced pumping bullets into their antagonist and it was a regular fusilade, and not until the desperado had emptied his revolver of all its shots, wounded Sho pich, and had been bored through and through, that the battle was over and the desperado lay on the track. The lifeless body was taken to Kent and held awaiting the order of Sheriff Van de Vanter."

TAKEN TO SEATTLE.

Searcle, March 21.-Blanck's body was brought to this city tonight and when the train containing it arrived at the station several thousand people were present. It was with great difficulty that the crowd was driven away in order that the body could be placed in the dead wagon and conveyed to the undertaker's. Inside of his coat and almost directly over his heart the desperado had several thicknesses of heavy blanket in order to protect himself from.bullets.

FOUGHT A DRAW. The Choynski-Creedon Mill Ends in the Sixth Round.

Chicago, March 21.-The six round contest between Joe Choynski and Dan Creedon was a draw, no decision being given by the referee. The condition provided that if both men were or their feet at the conclusion of the sixth round, no decision was to be given. Choynski had the best of it except in one round. He knocked Creedon down twice, brought blood in a stream from his nose, and had his man very tires and groggy when the sixth round closed. Choynaki weighed 161 pounds, and although Creedon's weight was not given, he looked to weigh fully as much, In the last round it was hammer and tongs with Choynski doing all the hammering. He drove right and left into Creedon's face, and finally gave him a smash that laid him flat. Creedon clinched repeatedly to save himself, and was a very weary man when the round closed. He did not look able to go two rounds more.
