The people of Clatsop county have only to avail themselves of the benefit of what is known as the Cross road law, as amended and improved at the last session of the legislature, to solve the problem of how to open up and develop the vast farming and lumbering districts tributary to the deep water of Astoria's harbor.

According to the San Francisco Argonaut, for every $100 in gold produced in Colorado in 1892 there were $164 in 1893, and $253 in 1894. The estimated production in 1895 is $20,000,000, and in California $14,000,000.

SEASIDE NOTES. An attachment was put on all the lumber belonging to Logan by Campbell Brothers, of Warrenton, Saturday last.

H. Bell and R. C. F. Astbury are stopping at McGuire's. Mr. Bell is going to take a crew in the field to survey an 80-acre tract of land.

S. K. Stanley and wife have bonded 200 acres of land to Clark Carnahan et al. The price paid is $30 per acre, bond to run for six months, the consideration being $100.

Mrs. M. J. Weatherford is spending a few days on her claim. Mrs. C. Goodell has gone to Astoria to spend some days.

It is rumored that C. Bradbury has bonded his place. Bonding property seems to be the business of the day.

Last Sunday night's singing service was conducted by Miss Dickie Byrd, in the absence of Mrs. E. B. Stoner. The latter is up and around, but still very feeble from her sickness.

Bubnell, of Hoquiam, is here visiting his friend, Anthony Bain. Old Hannah, a Tillamook Indian, and mother of Jennie Lane, died on Thursday night of old age. She claimed she was 95 years old.

Mrs. S. F. Clayton, Miss Victoria Alcaraz, and Mrs. Chas. Dubois arrived home on Tuesday last. As soon as can be learned what the toll road people are going to do about their road the question of roads will be taken up and pushed. The county could perhaps buy a cheap piece of road in the toll road.

A road along the beach seems the one most favored from Elk Creek to the county line.

SHILOH'S CURE, the great Cough and Croup Cure, is in great demand. Pocket size contains twenty-five doses only 25 cents. Children love it. Sold by J. W. Conn.

Harpur's Bazaar: "I wonder why taxes are generally due in March," said the suburban. "It's easier to raise the wind then, I guess."

What is the use of having a "human form divine" unless you care for it, and dress it and clothe it so as to make it a source of joy to yourself and a pride to your friends? Nature supplies the form. A. Lake, the tailor at 33 Commercial street will make the garment. See him.

Cincinnati Tribune: "It seems," sadly mused the postage stamp that had been bought at the corner drug store, "that I am driven from pillar to post."

Most people cannot afford to experiment. They want immediate relief. That's why they use One Minute Cough Cure. Chas. Rogers.

New York World: Mrs. Brownstone—I thing Mary's music professor has a beautiful touch. Mr. Brownstone—I should say he had! Seven dollars a lesson.

Take a dose of DeWitt's Little Early Risers just for the good they will do you. These little pills are good for indigestion. Good for headache, good for liver complaint, good for constipation. They are good. Chas. Rogers.

Philadelphia Record: A modern novelist tells us that his hero's proud spirit was humbled in the dust. He shouldn't kick at that if it was the right kind.

many of the men in each of the two great organizations who favor free silver will be drawn to it, and the expectation is not unreasonable. Mr. Bland, it is said, gives his "sympathy" to the movement. If he carries out the threat which he made at the beginning of the last congress, when he presented the Democratic silver men's ultimatum to the Eastern section of his party, he will join the new organization. Very probably many of the Bland element in the West will flock to the new party, but its greatest strength will unquestionably be gained in the South. The falling of the silver end, which is the larger end of the Democracy, against the sound money and small end is almost as bitter as was that of the Breckenridge faction of the party in the convention of 1860 against the Douglas element, though unlike the 1860 vendetta, it is not likely to lead to an open rupture in the party.

The cry of the tariff reformers was that, with a reduced tariff, our relations with other parts of the world would so much improve as greatly to increase our exports. But certainly the first half year does not make haste to fulfill that assurance. Not only are the great countries of Europe closing their ports against our most important exports, such as meats of all kinds, by reason of this law itself, but the reports of our exportations since the law went into effect show an enormous falling off as compared with the corresponding months of last year under the McKinley law.

ON PEARY'S EXPEDITION. Perfect Reliance Was Placed in Paine's Celery Compound.

"When I was selected by Lieut. Peary to accompany him on his trip to the Arctic regions to try and find a way to the north pole," says Mr. James W. Davidson in the Fourth Estate, "I was partly on account of my strong, healthy constitution, and my belief that I could endure the fatigue and danger incident to the trip. I had been associated with him as his business manager on his lecturing tour and was on terms of the greatest intimacy with him. When the ship Falcon left New York on her trip northwards it had among the stores several cases of Paine's celery compound. The reputation of this medicine was well established, so that it was the most natural thing in the world that the members of the party, and they comprised men from nearly every walk in life, from common sailors to men of science, should desire to use it. The record of our perilous trip to Camp Annikery is too well known to need repetition. Once in camp we naturally took an inventory of our possessions, and I was exceedingly glad to find Paine's celery compound. The medicine chest was open to all, and we were free to take from it what we thought advisable. I, in company with some of the others, selected some of the compound, taking a bottle of it to my cabin, knowing that it would be handy when wanted. Nor was I mistaken, for the excessive cold weather soon had its effects, and I began to be troubled in a number of ways. In every case whenever I felt the slightest indisposition, I used the compound and found relief. "One thing noticeable in the Arctic region was that the cold weather made us all exceedingly nervous. We became irritable and cross. Our nerves were all unstrung, and naturally it affected our health. I talked the matter over with some of the others, and made up my mind that possibly the celery compound would be beneficial, for I knew that it was used for nervous disorders at home. Well, sir, we tried it, and I must say that it helped every one of us. "When the long night of six months came on and we were in darkness, we found that the effects were very depressing. Imagine, if you can, living for six months in darkness such as occurs here every night, and you can readily understand how we were situated. It is a wonder that some of us did not go mad. We had not very much to divert our attention, and the effect was something like solitary confinement in a dark cell. "I have used Paine's celery compound for a dozen times such as a person is liable to have at any time, and especially in that desolate country. It has always helped me, and I should be pleased to have more of it should I go north again. "I do not know of any one thing that I can say more of than Paine's celery compound. It certainly is a great medicine, and I am an advocate of it."
