GOOD WHESKY. That is the test of a saloon's stock. Competition for a long time ran to big mirrors. Folly! If that were all, the saloon business might quickly capitulate to the sense of sight, and not to taste. Our move The Office move, has been toward quality. That is the reason we obtained the agency for HOPE WHISKY, and the more cuitivated and critical your taste is the better chance our whisky will have.

A PLEASANT DANCING PARTY.

Tenterday on complaint of D. J. Set. Last evening the lovely home of Mrs. C. H. Page was the scene of one of the most delightful full dress dancing parties that Astoria's society people have enjoyed in a long time, about 20 couples being present. The spacious parlors were beautifully decorated with fragrant flowers and ferns, over which the soft glow of shaded lights had a most enchanting effect. The hostess, who were a beautiful gown of light-blue silk, trimmed with forgetme-nots and diamond ornaments, received her guests in her usual charmmg manner. She was gracefully assisted by Mrs. Thomas and Miss Lion-

The movement of the county court to improve the roads was also commented on as a move that would stop the outflow of coin for articles that are abundant in the county, and the Seaside road would also help to put money in the county by increasing summer travel.

About the Olney school trouble, it is a habit of directors in some districts to be informal in their methods. We have learned here by experience that it is much the best to come together in ments furnished the most exquisite a regular way, after due notice, and conduct a board meeting with as much formality as we do an annual school meeting. All the facts are much better brought out, for each director will have thought the matter over, for which the meeting is called, and the clerk can often furnish information, if he has not a vote, so the case often stands quite different than it would if two of the directors met in the road perhaps, and agreed to do a certain thing. I don't know anything about the other teachers named, but Maud West is well known here, and if we did not already have a first class teacher, the directors would try very hard to
