SUBSIDIZED SILVER AGITATION.

None have been so free as the advocates of free coinage with their charges of improper motive. For more than twenty years, says the St. Paul Pioneer Press, has been kept in circulation a absurd lie about the act of 1873 having been passed by the aid of a bribery fund distributed by Ernest Seyd. It was not until within the last two years that this charge was wholly swept away. Until that, probably, many thousand people believed it. That was not, however, the measure of the abusiveness of the silver men. They have charged advocacy of sound currency ideas up to the money power of Wall street. They have flung invidious slurs right and left. They have declared that the liberties of the people were being bought and sold for gold, and every protest against the silver monometallism which they ascribe to has been ascribed to the venality of a "subsidized press."

It is worth while noting, in these premises, what an immense amount of money is now being expended by the mining interest of the silver states in spreading the silver propaganda. That which these men have charged, and charged falsely, against others, they are now guilty of themselves. It is proposed to create, by purchase, a sentiment favorable to free silver where none now exists. It is being done as a speculation, and the stake is great. Why a banker or broker or any other person should put money into a campaign for the gold standard is inexplicable. But we can point to the very men whose pockets would be lined at the people's expense if free coinage were to be successful; whose wealth would be enhanced by many millions on the day that such an act went into effect; to the men who could afford to give millions in aid of the free silver campaign, if they could carry it to a successful issue. That is what these men are doing today; and the writers and publishers who have been subsidized by the silver interest are numerous enough to give the matter a serious aspect.

To take a particular instance, a wide circulation has been obtained for a propositious publication known as "Coin's Financial School." This book is a cross between a Populist stump speech and a comic almanac. It pleases the mob by a lot of cartoons, and does not contain one argument in favor of the free coinage of silver which is the least difficult to meet or has not been answered many times before. This is only one of a lot of publications in the free silver interest which are being pushed into circulation at the rate of several thousand copies a day. Nor is that all. To one who is in the habit of examining every day a considerable number of newspapers, the evidences of silver purchases are unmistakable. He will find in the columns of some journal that has never taken any interest in the question a communication on free silver which has been obviously prepared by parties in interest, and is as obviously paid matter. He will find interviews with different men who have once achieved some prominence in public life, and are just well enough known for the use of their names as a marketable commodity, telling the people that free coinage is the necessary and unescapable issue. In short, he will find, in books, pamphlets, tracts and newspaper articles, and in the method by which they are arranged and brought to the attention of the public, evidence of a campaign in the interest of cheap money which witnesses the expenditure of liberal subsidies by the silver side. It is not asserted that these mining interests have not the right to do this thing if they want to. But we want it done under true colors. We want all disguises stripped from those who have been clamoring for years about the unscrupulousness of the money power, and are now actually the first to attempt to bribe public opinion. Let it be understood that there is no upstart in favor of free silver; that there are no general changes of public opinion, unless it be in favor of honest money; and that the continuous agitation and the beautiful performances on the free silver side are purely commercial in their origin, and as definitely arranged beforehand as a scheme for booming a new patent medicine, and the people will not be fooled. What new activity there is in favor of free silver is a purchased activity. The silver interest would pay liberally for the power to compel the public to take its product at twice its actual value. But the public is not a fool, and we think it is able to see the extent of the tremendous subsidizing for free coinage that is now going on.

While the committee appointed to secure the new subsidy deeds have reason to be gratified with the large number of subsidy contributors who have cheerfully and promptly responded to their notices and appeals published in the local papers, there are yet a few—and among them some of our largest and most prominent property owners, who have thus far failed to come forward with the required new conveyance. It should be remembered that the delay in closing up this important matter is a serious hindrance to an early beginning of the railroad construction, and is, besides, a hardship on a faithful committee, and a great unfairness to those who have already deposited their deeds. The suggestion has been made that the committee publish the names of those whose deeds are in, but as this course would result in much unfavorable comment on the course of those who are lagging in the matter, the committee is loath to adopt it. It is certain, however, that some other plan than that of mere begging or persuasion will have to be resorted to unless the railroad is to be delayed by the failure to bring these deeds in.

WHAT A WORD WILL DO.

Byron reminds us that a word is enough to raise mankind to mutual slaughter. Yes, there is power in a word—Marathon, for instance, Waterloo, Gettysburg, Appomattox. Great battles, these, but what a great battle is going on in many a sick and suffering body. In yours, perhaps. Take courage. Call to your aid Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It acts powerfully upon the liver, cleanses the system of all blood taints, and impurities; cures all humors, from a common blotch or eruption to the worst Scrofula, Salt-Rheum, "Fever Sores," Scalp or Rough Skin.
