Late last night detectives had about Miss Williams, and the theory was further strengthened this morning, when, on making a thorough search of Elman uel church they found the dead and outraged body of Miss Lamont concealed in the steeple. Death had been caused by strangulation. The body was found just inside the door of the tower room, maked and on the floor. Around the neck there were streaks, the marks of fingers that had been pressed deep into the tender flesh. The mouth was open, showing the regular teeth. The features were badly distorted, being drawn at one comer and the lips awolien and bloodstained. The nose was the only feature that retained its original shape, for the cheeks were bloated. The girl's light-brown hair was mutted with dirt, and hung loosely about her shoulders. The body was to the first stage of decomposition, the other enmanding from the remains having reached the nostrils of the de-

When confronted by the evidence that Miss Williams' purse had been found in his pocket, Durant gave the following explanation:

"I was going home from the meeting at Dr. Voget's, Friday night, when my foot struck a small object on the side walk. I picked it up and found it was and mirror home with me, intending to tell my parents of my fine. It was late however, and I went right to hed. In decided that Durant had murdered the morning I was in a furry to get away with the signal corps, and forgot all about it."

The police take exception to Durant's statement that he had not seen Miss Williams for three weeks. They say they can prove that he was with her Monday and Tuesday, and probably

From all appearances, Miss Lamont was not murdered in the room where the body was found. The body had been dragged up the beilty states, and like his serious predicament. The pointo the tower room. Her clothing was found stuffed into various con ners of the room.

Chief Crowley, in specking, of the case tonight, after detailing the circomstances of Mirs Williams' disappearance just Friday night, and the fact that a person answering Durant's description had been seen entering the church with a woman who answer Miss Williams' appearance, said: "Durant made his appearance at Dr.

Durant accompanied a young lady from church, and during the conversation which ensued he asked the young lady if she were not suffering from some female complaint, and suggested to her that he would prescribe for her, and that it did benefit her. On a later sion, one day after church, Durant his question, and answered no. Durant en told her that she ought to be and that he could do it. She told him she did not desire to be examined that her folks would attend to this He then told her that there was no fear of detection, and he proposed that "When Durant left Dr. Vogel's resice about 11:30 he deft there in company with a young man by the name of Wolf, and a number of young ladies. They waiked from Vogel's house to Twenty-fourth and Howard streets when the parties separated, and Durant continued west on Twenty-fourth street. About 12:15 a. m., Wolf went to his stuble, and saddled his horse. Crossing the corner of Twenty-fourth and Bartlett streets, he noticed Durant standing on that corner. When these facts were made known to me I detailed Detective Seymour to Tamalpais, understanding that Durant was to go there, and Detective Anthony to go to Mount Diable. I was informed "I also came to the conclusion that church and thought nothing that Durant might be at either place. liams had something to do with the disappearance of Miss Lamont. I kept the facts to myself, and only advised the detectives who were working on the case of my suspicions. I told them that I thought Miss Lamont would also be found in the church. I accordngly listructed Detectives Gibson and Cody to take what force of officers rey required and make a thorough 1. estigation of the church. Ofbsor and Cody, with Sergeants Burke and Reynolds, succeeded in finding the body of Miss Lamont in the steeple. I then directed Sergeant Burke, being satisfied that my suspicions wree correct, rant's house and there search for any evidence procurable. Burke took Officer Jeseph wish him and they found a king ulster and a photograph album containing a photograph of himself and two of Miss Whitems, and in the pocket of the uister Miss Williams' purse was found, containing an Oakland car ticket. The purse has been positively identified by Miss Williams' father. for he gave it to her as a Christmus

"Up n examination in my office this vening I asked Durant the following: Young man, you will be placed on trial for your life. I only want to ask you one question, and do not wish to convict you from your own mouth. Did you ever see this purse?" "He maid 'Yes."

"I saked him 'when?" "He said: 'Last Friday night. I found it about 20 minutes to 12 o'clock, at the corner of Twenty-third and Bartleet streets."

Durant appeared confident and composed in his cell, which is one of the steel tanks in the new city hall. His attorney was present during the inter-"lew given to the reporters, and when he made the statement shall be had not seen Miss Williams for three weeks riance with the facts-his attorney interrupted him, saying he had talked enough.
