Mr. Joseph Walsh is expected up from Cannon Beach, and together with Mr. James Wilson, of Seaside, will assist Mr. H. Bell in tax levying, commencing next week.

Yesterday afternoon Constable Fred Oberg left for Clifton for the purpose of arresting Martin Stanovich, on a charge of assault and battery. He will have a hearing today before Judge Abercrombie.

Yesterday evening when the Potter and Gatzert steamed away from the city they found the channel filled with gill nets from the Clatsop mill to Tongue Point. They were forced to run over some of them, but did it so carefully that none were injured.

"Grandma Burnside will celebrate her 85th birthday Wednesday, May 8th, at 118 Bond street. As this may be the last mile-post of her earthly pilgrimage, it is earnestly hoped and expected that as many as possible will call on her that afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock.

A local grocery firm are going to start a large creamery here in a very short time. They will have a fleet of boats to visit the various settlements by water, and already have made arrangements for milk from nearly all the cows in the county and settlements across the river.

The Casino was crowded last night, the new program taking immensely. One of the great features of the performance was the first appearance of Mlle. Clarice Bofante and Sadie Carot in their latest Parisian dance "A la Belle Masque."

Harry Hamblet and Fred Overbeck have lately been buying in a number of fancy breed pigeons, and their rookery on 8th street contains a variety of birds that would fill with enthusiasm the heart of any fancier at present their stock.

The following were among the passengers for Portland on the Potter last evening: Wiley B. Allen, Miss Taylor, L. H. Adams, J. Timmons, F. W. Ryan, T. J. Gorman, W. W. Calk, I. Fitzpatrick, Wm. Wilson, W. Braze, H. Cannon.

Messrs. Ferguson and Wingate claim that they have gone over the right of way route so carefully that they could go back over the same ground with perfect safety. They made it a point to not only work for deeds to the right of way but to work for the friendship and confidence of those whom they met. It reports are true they succeeded in both cases.

The following were passengers for Portland last evening on the steamer Bailey Gatzert: Mrs. E. J. Smith, Miss E. Rowe, Mr. Wier, J. O. Hanthorn, John Miller, W. H. Goddard, Senator Patterson, wife, Senator Bancroft and wife; H. D. McGuire and wife, J. Hollister, T. Van Scoy, G. E. Hegardt, Chas. Ellis, J. Kelly, J. Quincy, Miss Quincy, E. J. Ford; Mrs. B. Grant, Mrs. R. Lemon, P. Grant, W. H. McCuen, Mrs. M. Ford, E. Taylor, W. L. Mercer, Felix Kohn.

There was considerable trouble yesterday over the clothes belonging to the sailors on the ship Ancona. Lynch, the Portland sailor boarding house keeper, has for some days refused to allow the clothes to be taken aboard, claiming that he had a lien upon them. However, his partner, Powers, who was in the city yesterday afternoon finally decided to let them go without further trouble, and they were accordingly taken down and put aboard the vessel last evening.

Mr. J. F. Behm, superintendent of the Pacific Paving Company, arrived from Portland yesterday and took charge of the work of the new water works. An office was opened on Coxcomb hill, which will be connected with the city by telephone. Mr. Behm says that he will have at least three years, had a set net nearly a mile outside the jetty, and Saturday evening started out in a small boat to "take a look at it. He never returned and it is supposed the drift drifted in the rough water running at the time. The deceased came to this city from Corvallis, Ore., was 26 years of age, a nephew of E. J. Ford, of New Astoria, and a cousin of Jeff Crandall, of this city. The remains were sent to Cornelius by last night's steamer.

Mr. W. A. Foster, one of the early pioneers of the Nehalem country about Elsie, came into the city yesterday in response to a summons as juror for the May term of court. As court has been abandoned by Judge McBride his services will not be needed, so he will return home this morning. Mr. Foster states that the Upper Nehalem country is well advanced in an agricultural way, the farmers being well along with their spring work. The road question is first in the minds of the people of that section just now, and all are united in their efforts to secure better roads to this city so that they can get their farm products to market. It is probable something definite will be done in the road matter the coming summer.

Harry Hamblet and Fred Overbeck have lately been buying in a number of fancy breed pigeons, and their rookery on 8th street contains a variety of birds that would fill with enthusiasm the heart of any fancier at present their stock.

The McKinley Club met last evening in the Circuit Court room with good attendance, for the election of delegates to the convention of state Republican clubs at Portland on the 22d of this month.

After the discussion of the question of admitting new members prior to the election of the delegates, it was decided to proceed with the regular order and after the selection of delegates then to permit any persons who desired to become members to present their names. The election of delegates then followed with the following result: C. W. Fulton, F. I. Dunbar, F. J. Taylor, J. W. Hare, Jno. Fox, W. M. LaFores, Dr. Jay Tuttle, F. L. Parker, J. H. D. Gray, H. F. Fracl.

Yesterday the steamer Queen took quite a party of prominent people to Baker's Bay, the object being to allow the fish commissioners appointed by the last legislature to make a personal examination of the fish traps in that vicinity. The party consisted of the following ladies and gentlemen: Senator Patterson and wife; Senator Bancroft and wife; H. D. McGuire, wife and daughter, Miss Astill; Mrs. Frank Gunn; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Chutter, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Elmore, Mr. Goddard and son, Mr. and Mrs. Holdridge, Messrs. George and Barker, of Seaside, and others.

Returning to the hotel a sumptuous luncheon was partaken of by the party. Mr. Seaborg, and was greatly enjoyed by the visitors, who were by this time unusually hungry, the sharp morning air having sharpened their appetites as only a sea breeze can do. After lunch was over a special train provided by Mr. Seaborg took the party to the fish saving station at North Beach, a trip greatly enjoyed. Returning the steamer Dispatch conveyed the party to Markham's trap, where Senators Patterson and Bancroft and Mr. McGuire accompanied a small boat into the trap and watched the raising of the net. So strong was the wind and so heavy the sea that it took four men to lift the trap. The fish commissioners wore oil coats, in spite of which they received a good drenching, but they were well repaid for their trouble in witnessing the lifting of the trap net with its catch of bright and shining salmon.

Returning to the steamer the party was soon conveyed to the Queen, which was in waiting near Sand Island. The trip across the bay was made during a severe storm and during which time the ladies proved themselves quite sailors. Although the lines were made disagreeable by heavy clouds and falling rain, the entire party expressed themselves highly pleased with the trip.

B. H. Bowman, Pub. Enquirer, of Bremen, Ind., writes: Last week our little girl baby, the only one we have, was taken sick with croup. After two doctors failed to give relief and life was hanging by a thread, we tried One Minute Cough Cure and its life was saved. Chas. Rogers.
