WHY THEY WANT FREE SILVER.

I have just returned from the silver states, says Ed Perkins, and I find that every man, woman and child in Wyoming, Idaho, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, New Mexico and Arizona has gone pell mell, for free coinage.

"Why," I said to them, "when your Democratic free trade has stopped the mills and brought Coxy's tramp and poverty to the people you add it to the coming of silver and you destroyed the only bimetallicism we will ever have in this country; and now you same Democrats jump and demand unlimited free coinage!"

"But free coinage will double the value of our mines—can't you see?" they said. "The commercial value of silver is now 40 cents for a Mexican dollar. If our government will only agree to free coinage and let us miners take 50 cents' worth of silver to the mint and get a dollar marked 100 cents, with gold under it, why, we can make millions out of our mines—can't you see?"

Then on the cars near Helena I met a big miner, who is also a senator in the Montana legislature. "You have a big mine?" I remarked. "Yes," he said, "it's the biggest silver mine in Montana. We've put a million dollars into it."

"Does it pay?" I asked. "No, it does not. We get just enough silver out of it to pay our men. We make no profit on our million dollar investment."

"How would you like free coinage?" I asked. "Like it?" he said, "his eyes sparkling with joy: 'It would make me a millionaire in five years!'"

"What would free coinage do to the world's silver?" I asked. "Why, if our government would guarantee 100 cents in gold for 50 cents worth of silver, it would double the value of all the commercial silver in this world."

"Would you increase your mine?" I asked. "Why, of course. I'd put a thousand men where you now see fifty. I'd rush things!"

"What would the other miners do?" I asked. "They would open every closed mine in the country. We mined $50,000,000 worth of 50-cent silver last year, but we would double it to $100,000,000 in 1896, and $200,000,000 in 1897."

"And what would the government pay for this $200,000,000 worth of 50-cent silver?" I asked. "It would cost the government if free coinage were successful, just $100,000,000."

"Would you open more mines?" I asked. "No, that would be risky," said the miner thoughtfully. "My present mine is more than an average mine. I'd take no chances at all. I'd go for a sure thing."

"What's that?" I asked. "I'd buy all the silver at its present market price I could buy. Then I'd go to Mexico and get a trainload of Mexican dollars and take them to our mint and double my money on them. Then I'd go to South America and China and get more."

"And if our government took and coined it all, what would be the result?" I asked. "Why, Ed, then the United States would double the wealth of 1,500,000 half-civilized people, and double the value of all the uncivilized silver in England, Germany, France, and all the Latin nations too. The man in China got worth $50 would be worth $100."

"Wouldn't it be a pretty big job for 15,000,000 Americans to try to double the wealth of 1,500,000 half savages, and double the value of all the uncivilized silver of the 500,000,000 of civilized nations too?" I asked.

"Well, I should think so," he asked. "The brilliancy in his eyes had gone. An awful fact had struck him. He was silent and thoughtful after this."

"No," said the miner, half dreamily, after a few moments' reflection "the nation can't do it. She would be bankrupt in one hour. I see it all now. Free coinage sounds well—the free trade—but all the civilized nations on the earth could not shoulder all the 50-cent silver of 1,500,000 people. It would bankrupt civilization."

"Then, what can we do?" I asked. "Why, Ed," he said, and the tones of that honest miner mellowed down as low as a mother's moan over her dead baby. "All we can do is to follow that good old Republican party that brought us out of the wilderness in '48 and brought us through thirty years of prosperity. We don't want to stray off our false gods. Let us get as near the double standard as we can—buy all the silver, we need at its commercial value, coin it and stamp it with the American flag, make it good as gold, let John Sherman do his best and pray for forgiveness and help."

no tin plate made in this country and that the alleged existence of such an industry is groundless. Of course all business men who deal in tin plate know that it is made here in very considerable quantities, and they also know that the growth of the industry was due to the protection that was afforded it by the last Republican tariff law. At any rate this fact is fully recognized by the tin plate manufacturers of Wales. The London Economist, in a review of the iron, steel and tin trade of Great Britain, for the first quarter of the current year, stated that the tin trade was never so depressed as now, and said that "the cause of this depression is the large production of tin plates in America, which has been grossly favored by the exceptionally low prices ruling for steel billets. The price has been actually less in the United States than in south Wales, and in addition to this is the protective duty of about 5 shillings per ton." There is supplied in this an edifying object lesson teaching that protection has built up the tin industry in the United States to proportions that have produced an appreciable effect upon the industry in Great Britain, and that this result has been attained without increasing the cost of tin to the consumer. Does not this most amply justify the Republican policy so far, at least, as the tin plate industry is concerned?

There is no mistaking the firm set of the returning tide of prosperity throughout the manufacturing states of the East. We shall not have to wait long before its effects are felt in a great increase of industrial activity in the West. There is already a tone of cheerful confidence and revived activity in trade circles throughout the West which are premonitory symptoms of a general industrial revival. Concurrently with these encouraging indications from every quarter is the splendid promise with which the spring has opened of an abundant harvest in all the Northwest states.

A TRUE HERO. Is the individual who smiles with apparent cheerfulness during an attack of rheumatism. "If such there be," we never met him nor her. An agonized grin is the nearest approach to cheerfulness in respect we ever beheld under such circumstances. But when Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has attacked—as it certainly will—the earlier attacks of this formidable disease, the quondam sufferer has good reason not alone to smile, but to give vent to hearty guffaws interspersed with frequent chuckles. To the removal of dyspepsia, neuralgia and kidney complaints, constipation, and disorder of the liver, the Bitters, is specially adapted. It renews falling strength and appetite, and counteracts the infirmities of age. When debilitating maladies are succeeded by tardy convalescence with a danger of relapse, it accelerates a gain in vigor and flesh, and tends to re-establish health on a lasting basis. Give it a suitable trial.

A SUFFERING CHILD. Head and Scalp Ruff with Pieces Size of Silver Dollar. Various Remedies only caused Fresh Eruptions. Applied CUTICURA. Change in Twenty-four Hours. Perfect Cure in Two Weeks.

My little son, aged three, was very much troubled with a breaking out on his scalp and behind his ear. The places affected were about as large as a silver dollar, the hair seemed raw and covered with little blisters. The child suffered considerably, and was generally very fretful. I tried several remedies without obtaining any beneficial results; in fact the eruptions seemed to be spreading and new places breaking out. I concluded to try the CUTICURA REMEDY. I washed the affected parts with the CUTICURA SOAP, taking care not to irritate the flesh, and applied CUTICURA. I noticed a change for the better in the appearance of the eruptions in twenty-four hours, and in two weeks the eruptions entirely disappeared, leaving the skin smooth, and the scalp clean; in fact a perfect cure, as I have not seen any indications of any eruption or breaking out since. I saw the child only a few days of the CUTICURA REMEDY. I consider your CUTICURA REMEDY very valuable. I believe CUTICURA would be excellent for applying to insect bites, which are very annoying in this country. C. A. ALDRISTON, Seattle, Wash., D. C.

Absolutely Dry and Pure Tropical Climate.

Pronounced by Physicians the most Favorable in America for Sufferers from Lung Diseases and Rheumatism.

Many Remarkable Cures.

The objections urged against Indio in the past by the large numbers who otherwise would have been glad to take advantage of its beneficial climate, has been a lack of suitable accommodations. The Southern Pacific Company, takes pleasure in announcing that several Commodious and Comfortable Cottages have just been erected at Indio station, that will be rented to applicants at reasonable rates. They are furnished with modern conveniences, supplied with pure artesian water, and so situated as to give occupants all the advantages to be derived from a more or less protracted residence in this delightful climate.

(From the San Francisco Argonaut.) "In the heart of the great desert of the Colorado—where the Southern Pacific road traverses—there is an oasis called Indio, which, in our opinion, is the sanitarium of the earth. We believe, from personal investigation, that for certain invalids, there is no spot on this planet so favorable."

"The purity of the air, and the eternal sunshine, all one with wonder and delight, much that there remains but little for man to do. As to its possibilities as a health resort,—here is the most perfect sunshine, with a temperature always pleasant, a perfectly dry soil for rain is an unknown factor; pure oxygen, dense atmosphere and pure water. What more can be desired? It is the place, above all others, for lung troubles, and a paradise for rheumatism. Considering the number of sufferers who have been cured, I have no hesitancy in recommending this genial oasis as the haven of the afflicted."
