article which reflects severely upon the Shaver Transportation Company for alleged refusal to grant right of way to the Astoria Railroad. I will say that the Shaver Transportation Company does not own a foot of land within half a mile of where the railroad wants the right of way at Clatskanie. The strip of land in question is held in trust by G. W. Shaver, one of the owners of the company for Captain C. Bureau, who has the land at his disposal. The land is on a point, and it is the intention of the company to build a ditch across this point to save our boat a half-mile trip around. A mud clerk, you must Know, was the man who stood at the outer end of the gang plank as a steamboat came up to the levee and checked the goods as they came ashore. It was the mud they came ashore. It was the property of the present silver dollar of 371½ grains, which would have a purchasing value of one would have a purchasing value of one they came ashore. It was often necessary to jump into the mud in the hurry of being at his post on the minute—hence the title. Before he left the layee Hill filled every position on it.

Meanwhile he dierleved his ability as an economizer he displayed his ability as an economizer station on contract for about half what it was then costing the company. This proposition and his being visionary gen-erally led to his being called Crazy Jim Hill. However, the company accepted his offer and he made good his promise and developed the business so much that ridicule quickly gave way to respect.

Editor Astorian:—
There is probably no public question which is today attracting so much attention as the money question, and I have been somewhat interested in watching the arguments which have been adduced for and against the proposed free cottage of both silver and gold at the ratio of 18 to 1. pared with gold. When one considers that the borrowers in all these cases received gold from the lenders, is it right that they should be allowed to return money of less value than that which they received? Bue the free coinage advocate says that Napoleon of railway managers," "These if a free coinage law was enacted, silver would be worth as much as gold, at the ratio of 16 to 1. Mr. D. Ellery, freight agent of the Norgrains of silver, and should never vary thereform; and that the gold dollar with his own hands. It was a tradition of those days somewhere between 1869 gold. He says he believes the United States can, by enacting a free coinage law, such as I have above described, maintain that ratio, regardless of the color of the other commercial nations is of the world. Mr. Harvey, however, is not very certain of this, for in answer to the question, "if after a fair trial gold continued at a premium, what remedy would you suggest?" Harvey, through "Coin," his teacher of finance, answers: 'Put less gold in the gold dollar: bring the weight of the gold dollar down till they are on a parity." Again in his discussion of the money question with Prof. Laughlin, at Chicago—and I use his lan-guage—"What we want is bimetallism. and scientific bimetallism is this: "First-Free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver; these two metals to constitute the primary or redemption money of the government. "Second-The silver dollar of 271% grains of pure silver to be the unit of from time to time, if the commercial parity to the legal ratio shall be affected by the action of foreign countries. "Third-The money coined from both metals to be legal tender in the payment of all debts. "Fourth-The option as to which of the two moneys is to be paid in liquidation of a debt, to rest with the debtor, and the government also to exercise that option when desirable, when paying out re demption money."

It will be seen that Harvey admits tha the action of other nations will possible affect the parity of the two metals not withstanding the enactment of a fr coinage law by this country, and his rem thus destroying the ratio of 16 to 1 which he contends can and ought to be main tained. In other words, Harvey's whol argument is in favor of the passage of a law which will allow the debtor to pay his debts in depreciated currencymoney of less value than he receive when borrowing. Do the people of thes United States favor such scnemes? I be lieve they do not. They have, in the past opposed repudiation of debts, public and private, in every shape and form, as it future. Belleving that there were many su picious circumstances connected with the drowning of the man Peter Romeo, near Waterford, on the 21st uit, the Astorian quietly started some investigations which have resulted in the establishment of the fact that Romeo must have been mur-dered. It is known that matters in the Romeo household were not very smooth, there being many passages between the husband and wife of anything but a friendly nature. Yesterday when the facts seemed to clearly point to foul play, a confirmatory telegram was received by the Astorian from Oak Point, in reply to messages sent to parties there, reads as follows: "The body of Peter Romeo, who was drowned near Waterford May 31, was recovered this afternoon in the river near

EXTENDED SYMPATHY.

"Do unto others as you would have others do unto you," is sympathetically shown in the following lines, the pren being that sympathy is born, metals upon some agreed ratio; there is a third class who believe that the United States should enter upon the free coinage of sliver, regardless of the action of the other commercial nations.

Free coinage, as advocated by the latter class, means that this government should coin and put in circulation all the sliver and gold that is brought to its mints, at the ratio of 15 to 1—which means that a flyer delice shell resident states.

Sumption being that sympathy is born, or akin to pain or sorrow:
