SENATOR MITCHELL ON FREE SIL VER.

Senator Mitchell has embiazoned his way from the Atlantic to the Pacific by statements of the most radical and extravagent kind on the silver question to every newspaper reporter who could be induced to listen to him, and these "interviews" have been heralded as expressive of the temper of Oregon and other northwestern states regarding the money issue. The senator either doesn't know the sentiment of his own people on this question, or else has become desperate over his glimmering chance for re-election in the light of the recent robust repudiation of the dogmas and crowd with which he is unfortunately allied by the Portland League convention, and he is thus bidding two years in advance of the legislature for the Populist votes which he thinks may be in that body. A few days ago he repeated in St. Paul the same stock of predictions he tes loose in every town of consequence between here and Washington, and the Pioneer Press of that city was provoked to take up his case and dispose of it in the following effective fashion:

Semator Mitchell should have waited till be got back to Oregon before indulging in such nonsense as he talked to a Pioneer Press reporter. For without relecting on the average intelligence of the people of Oregon, there are evidently more of the kind of people there who are capable of swallowing such stuff, or they ong other foolish things he said, "the silver. The last Republican national convention declared unequivocally against the free coinage of eilver. Every Republican state in the Union outside of the pocket-bouough silver mining camps and their next door neighbors is dead against the free coimage of silver. Ohio has just spoken for the Republican states of the North, in a ringing declaration against free milver. The Republicans of Kentucky have just taken a firm stand against it, and there is a fair prospect that they will carry the Democratic state of Kentucky upon that issue. Not dare, indeed! Hefore what power will they quall when it comes to declaring in the next national convention the convictions of seven-eighths of the Republicans of the land? Is it Colorado and Nevada and Montana and South Dakota and Oregon that will stiffe the voice and the conscience of the party that was brave and strong enough to put down the Southern rebellion and strangle the gigantic power of subsidiary coinage never exceeded $ 400,000; whereas, since that time, we have put in circulation in effver coin or in paper notes representing silver coin duction and supply of gold which sud-and bullion nearly $600,000,000, and have have held them up to par with gold. We cover es in Chiifornia and Australia about 1850? How, also, could we foresee the don't believe there can be many people in Oregon so ignorant as not to know that, or who are so simple as to believe his story that the furmer would get any more for his products by taking his pay in depreciated solver, so that it would require two dollars to have the purchasting power that one dollar in silver has now, It ought not to require much of that it would repeated the product of the world until it has reached a greater amount annually than ever before in the history of the precious metals. It is evident, at once, that, even on the gold of the comparison, there are conditions of tremendous importance to the value of gold wholly outside the contract being of nonsemes to convince the that kind of nonsense to convince the people of Oregon that a cause which is supported by such arguments is the shallowest humbug and fraud of the day.

The Republican party will reaffirm, with more emphasis than ever before, in its next cational convention, its opposition to the stupendous crime and free silver snakes, and sign the plodge and enter upon a sober and virtuous life of orthodox, sound money Republicans. Senator Mitchell, meanwhile, will do good service in helping to redeem Oregon from the Populist free silver craze by going back there and retaking such arguments for it as he dealt out to the Pioneer press. For there cannot be many people what value is. Since it is a ratio to other what value is. Since it is a ratio to other Press. For there cannot be many people In Oregon who can be deceived with such absurdities as that the monetary value of absurdities as that the monetary value or silver has been distroyed by its demonetlastion in this country. For they know better. They know, or ought to know better. They know, or ought to know, that previous to 1878 the entire circuit all the conditions of silver in this country outside of subsidiary coinage never exceeded $1.

According to the "Army and Navy Reglener." President Cleveland and Secretary bert have not yet abandoned the hope of court-martialing Admiral Meade.

> There is a man in Milwaukee who, ac according to an exchange, says that the Revolutionary war was "a little war," gotten up by men who had failed in everything else and who turned their attention to riot as a last resort. He says there was no real opposition in the colon ies, and that the Americans won no genuine victories, but were helped out by for e.gn o.d. This kind of statement would be simply an amusing curiosity, to be forgotten in ten minutes, if it were not that the man is a school teacher. There is something in the thought of notions like this being enstilled into the mind of the embryo patriot that is calculated to stir the blood of the most easy-going American. That it has had this effect is attested by the fact that numerous indignint citizens have demanded that the young man be requested to resign from the service of the public schools.

THE VALUE OF MONEY.

(Prof. Laughlin.) The klea restding in the words "value of money" seems to be particularly open to misunderstanding. Of course, value is a relative thing. One article can have exchange value only in comparison with exchange value only in comparison with something else. Its exchange value is the quantity of other goods for which it will exchange. Gold, for instagee, may be compared against corn. The value of 23.22 grains of gold, expressed in corn, is the number of bushels of corn it will exchange for. The value of that gold (a would not have elected Pennoyer for their dollar) in general is the quantity of goods governor or Mitchell for their semator. In general for which it will exchange Now, what follows? It must be as cleaas a whistle that value, since it is a re Republican national convention would lation between two commodities, or not dere to declare against the free coinage of silver." The Republican party has always opposed the free coinage of things compared. If the conditions affecting corn change, but if nothing whatever has changed the conditions affecting gold, then the relation between gold and corn has been changed. That is, the value of gold relatively to corn has been modified, even though nothing whatever has affected the gold term. It whatever this affected the gold term. In other words, gold can go up in value rela-tively to corn, whenever corn is cheap-ened in cost, even though there is as much gold in existence os before. If this explanation of value be kept clearly in mind, it will be easy to see why a government stamp on money can-not fix its value. The stamp, certifying that a sold coin contains 23.28 grains of that a gold coin contans 23.22 grains of pure gold, is not all that is needed to give to the gold an exchange value; nor is it even as essential. Gold would have a value even if it were never stamped. The stamp is only a convenience to save weighing and assaying at every use o gold. The important thing, however, is will exchange. How does the minting of gold change the value of gold in the world. The value of gold can be medified not merely by causes affecting the supply and demand of gold, but also by causes affecting the cheapness and degraess of all goods exchanged for god. If goods are generally cheapened in cost, that means that gold buys more goods, or prices fall; but it does not imply that good has been limited in quantity. For the cause changing the value of gold did not concern gold at all. swindle of the free coinage of silver.

And, if we are not much mistaken, even Oregon by that time will shake off its delirium tremens of Populism with its the value of gold? It is impossible for a the value of gold? It is impossible for a government to govern the varying costs of commodities in general; it cannot say that goods shall be made this year at higher cost of production, and next year at lower cost of production. Hence it cannot possibly control the value of gold.

gold. goods, the value of gold can be controlled only by governing all the conditions of supply of and demand for gold, and all itself is quite as impossible for any gov-ernment. For instance, how could any
