MRS. ECKLES' CLOSE CALL.

A Neighbor's Quarrel at Nehalem Al-most Ends in Murder. At 4 o'clock Sunday morning a man on horseback came racing down Commer-cial street. He had no hat on and his head was covered with a large bandanna handkerchief. As he neared the corner of A. V. Allen's grocery store he was stopped by Police Officer Simott, who inquired the cause of his fast riding at such an unseasonable hour. The man informed the officer that his name was Thomas Eckles; that he had just come in from the Nehalem to get a doctor to attend his wife who had been shot. The man appeared to be laboring under great excitement and the policeman advised him to take his horse to the Every stable, when he would assist him in procurhandkerchief. As he neared the corner of when he would assist him in procur-ing a doctor and in notifying the sheriff ing a doctor and in notifying the sheriff. By the time his horse was unsaddled Eckles had somewhat cooled down and was able to give an account of what Officer Sinnott thought would be the story of an awful crime. Eckles said that a neighbor of his, Thomas Hopkins, by name, and with whom he had been on terms of unfriendliness for several years, In the police court yesterday, Peter Casper, H. Price and Mike Harrison paid 5 for being frunk, and Alexander McDonald, for trespassing, was assessed $10 Columbia Engine Co. No. 3 at a meeting held last evening nominated the present chief, C. E. Foster, to succeed himself, and Lars Larsen as assistant engineer.

had come to his house between and while Mrs. Eckles and himself were in front of the house. Hopkins, who suddenly put in an appearance, raised a rife and fired a shot at him. The shot went over his head and struck his wife, who was standing behind him. Hopkins then went away and Eckles carried the prostrate form of his wife to her bedroom. He then mounted a horse and at a rapid pace started for Astoria, which was thirty started for Astoria, which was therty miles distant. On the way he lost his hat, but he stopped not a moment. His handkerchief was tied around his head and horse or rider did not pause an constant until they came tearing down Commercial street and were stopped by Officer Binnott. At 7 o'clock Sunday morning Sheriff Hare, accompanied by Mr. Eckles, started for the scene of the shooting, arriving there late Sunday even-ing. Mrs. Eckles was found to be not seriously wounded, in fact, aside from a slight mark on the top of her head, which had scarcely broken the skin, there was nothing at all the matter with her. But a shot was fired by Hopkins and the target he aimed at was Mr. Eckles, and massing him came nearly ending the life of his wife. It was a close call for Mrs. Eckles, and when Sheriff Hare arrived on the scene she was still in state of excitement. Hopkins was placed under arrest and yesterday morning taken to Jewell, where before Justice of the Peace Foster he waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over to await the action of the grand jury. His bonds were fixed at $100 which were promptly furnished and the prisoner giv-en his freedom. The charge against Hopions is attempt to kill and a great many are of the opinion that for such a serious offense the bail the justice required the defendant to put up was entirely too small.
