AN HONEST POLICY.

The trade paper, as we have before had occasion to remark, fills a place in the journalistic field at once more unique and more intrinsically valuable than that held by the ordinary daily, or the weekly newspaper.

strength of our hard won position in the commercial field will we promise the jobber, the consumer, and the canneryman, be put forward to expose and destroy them.

Mr. Cleveland's friends, says the Philadelphia Times, have taken such liberties with his name that his silence makes him a candidate for the Democratic nomination in 1896.

Consul Robertson, located at Hamburg, in informing the state department of the intention to hold an international rival exposition at Kiel from May 25 to September 20, 1896, says: "The grounds chosen for the exhibition are beautifully situated along the shore of the bay of Kiel, close to the eastern entrance of the newly opened canal, and with a splendid view of the harbor of Kiel. They measure about 350,000 square meters.

Many of the foreigners who went to Europe during the period of depression, making an exodus that strained the capacity of the ocean steamers, are evidently returning, attracted back by the report of returning prosperity.

A CRUCIAL FACT.

The debate between Herr and Harvey has not proved as interesting as was expected, not from any lack of ability or knowledge of his subject on the part of either or of skill in dialectic fencing on the part of his antagonist, but partly because the plan of the debate, which cuts direct bearing on the main question.

the half of every form of pecuniary obligation, embraced by the nation, by the states, cities, counties and school districts; by every corporation, savings bank, insurance company and private individual. Such a scheme need not be discussed in these columns. It is simple, unadorned, unadorned. The nation or people which should undertake to do this sort of thing would place it outside the pale of civilization. The individuals who attempt it have, at least, to go through the form of bankruptcy before it can be done without a prolonged residence in the penitentiary, and no legal sanction could make it less a swindle.
