Yesterday afternoon, in Judge Osburn's court, the case against Phil Carroll was dismissed. It was shown that his threats about shooting were made conditionally, and as his wife could not be compelled to testify against him and the complaining witness did not appear, the only course left was to dismiss the case.

The fruit season may now be said to be at its height. Mr. J. T. Ross, of Ross, Higgins & Co., reports that the better class of Oregon peaches, the Crawfords, are coming in, and that prices are reasonable. Owing to the recent reduction made by the Southern Pacific in freight rates, the growers will this year realize some profit.

Clarence Mathona was sixteen years old yesterday and the event was celebrated by a party. All of his friends were present and joined in the good time. Games and music filled the hours and the festivities were capped by a supper. Not forgetting the newspaper boys, a large dish of ice cream, with plenty of cake, was sent to the office, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

The attention of the street commissioners is called to the fact that the rickshaws in the sidewalk on Duane street in the block just east of the Astor house. There are a number of loose boards which slip up one step on them and a child might easily be precipitated to the water below and every one walking over these boards is liable to get a broken leg. It is a regular man trap and should be seen to at once.

Mr. H. M. Hughes, of Boise, Idaho, is here visiting his brother, the Colonel. Mr. Hughes says that placer mining has largely taken the place of quartz mining in that section since the silver mines were closed down, wages are being made but no large profits. Mr. Hughes will remain here several weeks, his wife being at the beach on a vacation. Today, with his brother and a party, they will go to the Nehalem on a few days' fishing trip.

The dead horse which has been floating back and forth on the tides, has this time lodged under Campbell Bros.' wharf and the stench is rather strong. Many, unacquainted with the circumstance, blamed the odor yesterday on the oil factory, but such is not the case. The attention of the police department was called to the matter, and while they hauled the carcass away, arrangements were at once made to do so again, and no doubt by this time the nuisance has been abated.

Last night the Astoria Hose Team ran a practice sport with their team from Foster's Exchange along Commercial to the corner of Fourteenth. The hose was coupled at the hydrant in front of the
