The Missippi Method-Democratic Silver Convention-Englishmen Arrested Appeal.

Portland, August 15.—During the month of July Mr. A. M. Crocker, manager in this city of the R. G. Dun & Co. Mercantile Agency, addressed an inquiry to each of its correspondents in Oregon seeking information regarding the wheat crop in information regarding the wheat crop in this state. The inquiries were: I—What is the acrosage of the fall sown wheat as compared with the previous season? 2—What is the acreage of spring sown wheat as compared with the previous season? 3—What are the prospects for crops? 4—What is the estimated yield to the acre? 5—Is this an increase or decrease as compared with last year? 6—How much old wheat is there or hand? 7—What is old wheat is there or hand? 7-What is the business outlook? Answers to the circular letter have been received from 116 localities, covering nearly every county in the state. Throughout the Willamette, Rogue River and Ump qua valleys there is shown an increase o fall acreage, while in many localities there has been a decrease in spring sown wheat. The crop prospects in all these places are also reported from fair to extruordinary good ,and in many places an increases of yield per ucre is noted.

In Eastern Oregon not so good a show-ing is made. Hardly a precinct makes the showing of former years, but the wheat fields of Cove, Union county, present a better average than other sections. In Morrow, Crook and Gilliam counties the wheat crop will hardly average one-hait the product of former years, and Sherman county, although enjoying an average crop, better than at previous times, fails behind the acreage of last year. There is one significant feature in the reports received by the Dun agency, and While there are a few sections, notably where the crop prospects are poor, that the reported outlook is discouraging, the great majority of the correspondents say that business is better and the future ticular portion of the state. All sections seem to realize that better times are com-ing, and only those suffering under the depression of poor crops express different views. This reported business outlook is far different than the two preceding years.

ries about Marshall. Thursday morning Marshall and his company hired a livery rig and went to Brandon, where they found Dinknes standing on the depot platform waiting for the train. The prisoners were arranged in court this morning and by agreement pleaded guilty of murder in the first degree and were sentenced to life imprisonment in the state prison.

TENNIS GAMES.

The Outing Club Tournament Ends in Match Game

For several days past the Outing Club have been engaged in a little tennis tournament much to the pleasure of its members and friends. eYsterday the effair terminated in a set-to between the Kinzie Brothers, formerly of California, now of Fort Canby, and C. R. Higgins and R. R. Astbury, of 'Astoria, resulting in the following score for the three sets played, in favor of the Kinzie Brothers: 6-2; 6-2; 6-2.

While the sets ended as they did, yet for the most part the games were very close and the home boys did some most excellent playing. Puture games are promised by the Out-

Says Mr. Hammond, if the Proper Arrangements Can

Be Made.

The following statements made recently in relation to the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad are of peculiar interest to Astoria today:

Mr. R. O. Phillips, of Lincoln, Neb.
right of way agent for the Burlington, is in Seattle. He is there ostensibly to look over the resources of the state, but his visit is taken as another indication that the Burlington is preparing to extend its lines to the Pacific Northwest, and his presence may have a more direct bearing on the proposed extension than he is willing to admit.

Almost simultaneously with the appearto Astoria today

Almost simultaneously with the appear Almost simultaneously with the appearance of the Burlington's agent at Seattle comes the news that the Montana Central, which is controlled by the Great Northern, has commenced grade work on the extension east from Helena. It is said that this extension will follow a survey of the Burlington leading through the Big Bell workstate. the Big Belt mountains, to White Sul-phur Springs, thence to the valley of the Musselshell river, and across the di-vide to Billings. Such a line would give direct connection with the Burlington, It would nearly parallel the Northern Pa-cific and would open up to the Great Northern the big territory of the south-ass.

It is again stated that the Burlington is about to take a big leap westward. It is alleged to have sent engineers into the Salmon river vailey with instructions to push work on the preliminary surveys as rapidly as possible. It is said that the Burlington has applied for permission to build through the Yellowstone National Park. The new routs now being explored will run nearly midway between the Un-ion Pacific and the Northern Pacific through a wild and unsettled country.

The Spokane Chronicle prints a dis-patch from Starbuck which says: "Two civil engineers, giving their names as Dean and Kechies, from Ashland, Neb., arrived here yesterday efternoon en arrived there yesterday afternoon can route to Pomeroy. They explained that they were en route to Lewiston, but could not wait for the boat, and proposed to go to Pomeroy and drive across the country. On further inquiry it was learned that they were working for the Burlington railway, and had instructions to get into the Salmon river country in Central Idaho as quickly as possible. They propose to locate a line up the valley, working east toward the Wyoming line, probably crossing it in Northern Fremont are what are wanted here and Mr. Hammond save he well have the Puriferator are want are wanted here and Mr. Ham-mond says he will have the Burlington if it can be accomplished. If the Burling-ton builds to the coast we want them here at Astoria. Seattle and Portland are making great efforts to secure the old reliable "Q," but what Astoria should do is to help Mr. Hammond induce them o make connection with the Goble road and secure their terminus here. It is cer-tic that other trunk lines are figuring on the same proposition, and intelligent co-operation now, on the part of Astorium, with Mr. Hammond, will secure not only one transcontinental road, but probably several. The field is broad and only the lack of proper effort can fail to secure one or more new trunk lines. o sicure one or more new trunk lines Some time ago these columns pointed ou: the feasible connection, that is talked of,
