RAILROAD EARNINGS

Greatly improved net railway earnings are shown in a carefully prepared special report to Bradstreet's, an ab-stract of which is as follows:

Gross earnings of 145 railroad companies for the first six months of 1895 aggregate $349,090,773, a gain of 3.6 per cent. over the corresponding period of 1894, which, in turn showed a decrease from 1863 to 16.4 per cent. Te net earnings of the same roads for this year aggregate $102.767.786, a gain over last year of $1 per cent. and following a decrease in 1894 form 1893 of 18.8 per cent. Divided into groups, a striking uniformity is noted in the increases and decreases in the gross net. Of the 126 railroad systems, comprising the 145 railroads which make up the following table, two-thirds show increases: Granger, decrease, gross 7.7; net 3.4 per cent. Central West-ern, increase, gross 9.8; net 25.9. Trunk increase, gross 5.8; net 25.9. Trunk liners, increase, gross 5.2; net 25.2 Coal roads, increase, gross 5.3; net 1.0 Southern, decrease, gross 5.3; net 1.0 Southwestern, increase, gross 2.8; net 16.0 Pacific, decrease, gross 2.8; net 16.0 Pacific, decrease, gross none; increase, net 9.1. Total increase, gross 3.2; increase net, 22.0. WILEY B. ALLEN CO. SWINDLED.

There are some decreases in gross earnings this year from last, notably the Southern and granger roads, but there are also notably large increases in nearly all the other groups, where last year the dead level of decrease was without relief. When the net earnings figures this year are considered the abovcomes off this afternoon on the Portland ing is still better. The decreases in the field. This is the third game of the sories grangers and southwestern roads are still notable, but the gains showed in the other group of roads are sufficient to more than counterbalance this falling off, usual, at II a. m. and 7,31 p. m., Sunday and the result is a very satisfactory gain school at 12:30.
