

"Ubi Mei, Ibe Apes."

At a recent banquet in New York a witty person gave the following toast: "Ubi Mei, Ibe Apes." One said it meant "where there is honey there will be bees;" another, "where the carcass is, there will the vultures be;" another said "where the turtles are the clubs will be;" the last said "where the cards are there the ships will be." The person discarded all, and said it meant "where there is attraction there will the admirers be." And we said to ourselves, the secret is out, for people continue to crowd our store because genuine bargains continue every day—and notwithstanding a loud howling of trumpets from all the four corners, customers know we have attractions they want and they come.

Today those that come here and want bath towels will find among a lot just opened a full bleached, extra heavy, Turkish towel for 23c. that is worth more money. That's the plain, bald fact. A volume of talk wouldn't say more.
