AROUND TOWN.

A red sunset—clear morning. Nothing to get ready—Col. Norton.

Henry IV tonight. Admission only fifty cents.

Judge McBride went to Portland last night.

Another "Omaha" is Astoria, says Van Etten.

John Finney, of Netadon, is at the Parker.

F. Bourne, of Iwaco, is registered at the Parker.

Herman Wise's new store—is on the ground floor.

Geo. Watson, of Lewis and Clarke, is a guest of the Parker.

Henry Fisher, of Hare, paid a visit to Astoria yesterday.

S. W. Mudge, of Frankfort, made a Sunday visit to Astoria.

E. VanHorn, of Seaside, registered at the Occident yesterday.

L. P. Slack, of Seaside, was among the Sunday visitors in Astoria.

The mail boat did not arrive yesterday morning till eight o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Oden, of Long Beach, are guests of the Occident.

Alfred Theakston and wife, of Balmora, are guests of the Occident.

H. S. McGowan, the canneryman, of Chinook, was in the city yesterday.

S. C. Baker came in from Wabbe Hills yesterday and put up at the Parker.

J. M. Coleman and J. C. McKinnon, of Seaside, were in the city yesterday.

Ralph Hay and Ray Morton brought in all the ducks from Gray's River yesterday.

E. B. London, of Wadsworth & Co., Portland, called on his Astoria friends yesterday.

E. W. O'Connell, of the Bailey Gatzert-Telephone line, registered at the Occident Sunday.

The Elks say that they were royally entertained in Portland, Oregon, and carriages galore.

The three cronies who walked the streets last night as a public exhibition, are well known.

As there are no reserved seats at the recital this evening, come early and secure a good seat.

The Shikspere recital tonight at Fisher's Hall is under the management of the Astoria Public Library.

A. C. Chibber, the Seattle banker, was a visitor to Astoria yesterday, and is stopping at the Occident.

The Clatsop Mill Company started their 14th mill yesterday, and are now prepared to fill all orders for laths.

H. Anderson, Walter Way and Thor Björvold, prominent members of Young's River, spent the day in Astoria yesterday.

T. W. London, of the grain shipping firm of Balfour, Guthrie & Co., Portland, and his traveling dog, were guests of the Occident yesterday.

Martin Olsen and August Danielson were busy yesterday entertaining Hanker Chibber, of Seattle. Mr. Chibber says he is most favorably impressed with Astoria.

Tongue Point is the natural location for a city park, and with comparatively little expense could be made to become to the finest Astoria what Suro Park is to San Francisco.

Customers should secure their tickets today to Herman Wise's inaugural ball which will take place in the new store building as soon as completed. Dates will be given later.

Mr. Frank Danant, of the Astoria Transfer Co., returned yesterday from Portland and brought with him a brand new hawk for the benefit of the travelling public of Astoria.

It is a cold day when Boyle & Co. can't make a deal. Yesterday they sold two of the most desirable hill lots to H. S. McGowan, who anticipates erecting a handsome residence in the near future.

Portland exposition excursion steamers Telephone and Bailey Gatzert commencing October 20th, the round trip rate to Portland will be $1.50. Tickets good returning up to October 20th, inclusive. Reduced rates have been made by the O. R. & N. Co. from all Columbia river points to Portland at rate of one fare for the round trip for this occasion.

Mr. Jensen, the builder of the little craft that was launched last week at Martin's boat shop, was so pleased with the trial of his latest invention, a propeller, that he now contemplates placing it on the little steamer Bertie, and giving it a thorough test. At the trial Saturday the little boat laid her own with a large float and propelled her heavily laden hull, something that was hardly expected of her. If the new invention proves a success on the Bertie, a similar propeller will be placed on a large steamer.

The early risers yesterday were treated to a beautiful sight. The last quarter of the moon, bright and burnished as silver, surrounded by a few stars, hung in the pale blue sky in wistful effect. Presently the rays of the moon began to disappear, and in the east, the moon disappeared, the sun came over the eastern hills and another day began.

The A. F. C. boys who are so well known for their efforts to advance the social interests of Astoria now promise another treat to the fun loving public. On the night of Tuesday, October 16, about November 1st, that popular society comedy, "The Private Secretary," and judging from the past work of the club it cannot help but be a howling success. The play in itself is enough to attract a crowded house, but with the added fact of the prospect of being entertained by the most talented every one in town "will be there."

Sunday was another perfect day and many Astorians were out on the hills to enjoy the fine air and drink in the grand scenery, which never fails or grows tiresome to the lovers of nature. A dreamy haze hung over the river and shore. The bright blue sky, blue line of fir crowned hills and the blue waters of the bay and river, all held in their hands a white, still lazily flapping at the mast, the day being so calm that not even a ripple disturbed the surface of the water, making of the scene a most inspiring scene for which man is always better.

HE WAS ANGRY.

Herman Wise is usually of an agreeable disposition, but yesterday he was mad through and through; he had ordered a large assortment of new goods from the factory of the highest and best bidder, so that they would be here about the time he was ready to open his new store. Instead of that, the manufacturer shipped them so that they did not arrive yesterday. "I have been trying to cut down my stock," said he, "so that it would be easy to move, and here I am with a larger stock than ever."

"What am I going to do about it? Why will you do this? You see these suits? Well, I will have to re-open the store, and again give people the choice of any suit or overcoat in the house for $11.50, and all this undergarments and overhairsts, boys' clothing and everything else will be cut to the bone. Oh, I will get rid of them." And he went cursing manufacturers in general and this one in particular.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

The Y. P. S. C. E. at the Presbyterian Church.

Sunday evening the Y. P. S. C. E. held a special service at the Presbyterian church. The audience room was filled to overflowing and the exercises were most entertaining. Addresses were delivered by Mr. Adams, and others interested in the work, to which the closest attention was given.

A special feature of the evening was the music which was of an exceptional order. Mrs. Ross sang one of her beautiful solos and others well known for both instrumental and vocal music took part in the program.

The work of the Y. P. S. C. E. has been a strong element in the churches, under whatever name they may go by, and too much encouragement cannot be given them.

McINTOSH.

What's In a Name.

A good story is told by a gentleman who made a tour of Europe last summer. At Wiesbaden, in Germany, while in a cafe, a portly Englishman proposed this question: "Now my American friend, do you know Buffalo's Bill?"

"Yes, sir, I have heard of him."

"Well, I would like to know if, in Mr. Buffalo Bill's any relation to your statesman, Mr. McKinley Bill."

"This is on a line with one of our country cousins, who walked into Herman Wise's store the other day and inquired: 'Is Mr. McIntosh?' I noticed in the Astorian that there was a Mackintosh in your store, and as my name is H. B. McIntosh, I desire to find out whether he is a relative of mine."

We introduced him to our immense line of mackintoshes just received from the factory and the prices we quoted caused him to buy one of these fine rubber mackintoshes. We have them for men and boys, in the same variety as our men's and boys' suits or overcoats; men's or boys' hats and caps and underwear, overcoats, trunks, valises and blankets.

The Reliable Clothier.

THIS FIRST.

First, before making up a list of papers to be subscribed for in order to provide reading for the family for the next year, get a copy of Public Opinion; if you are not already familiar with it, and see what an enormous amount and variety of reading matter it furnishes, its careful, selected, edited and condensed. There is no other paper published by reading which the busy man or woman can so easily keep abreast of what the world is thinking about and doing. The readers of Public Opinion get not one man's views or one side only, but all sides and many views. Its symposium upon political, religious, social and other topics are invaluable to the student of affairs. Teachers in the public schools will find Public Opinion's plan for the study of current topics an excellent method of enlightening school work. Every community, especially in the rural districts, should have a current copy of Public Opinion for its text book. For particulars send a postal card inquiry to the Public Opinion Co., New York City. Special club rates if taken in connection with the Astorian.

THE CITY STREETS

Effort Will Be Made to Improve Condition.

IF ACTION CANNOT BE HAD

Our Streets Will Have to be Blocked to Traffic—Council Will Find a Way.

It is understood that at the council meeting tomorrow night ways and means of repairing the holes in Exchange street near the Clatsop Mill will be discussed. This is a much needed move in the right direction, said a prominent alderman yesterday, and no doubt some way will be found to compel the property owners along the street to make the necessary repairs. It would be a fine comment on the city should the superintendent of streets be compelled to put a fence across the street and stop traffic on the only outlet to the east end.

The majority of the owners of property along the street are good judgment and business management of the members of the city council will devise some way to have the repairs made. This is a much needed move in the right direction, said a prominent alderman yesterday, and no doubt some way will be found to compel the property owners along the street to make the necessary repairs. It would be a fine comment on the city should the superintendent of streets be compelled to put a fence across the street and stop traffic on the only outlet to the east end.

High-priced clothes wringers are mostly sold at high-priced stores at ridiculous profits, because so few are sold there. These stores will sell still less after it is found out that The Arcade sells a 10-inch wood frame, hard rubber roll wringer for—the price got caught and squeezed between the rolls—$2.10.

Parties wishing to buy candles at wholesale will save money by calling on or writing to the Astoria Candy Factory, 461 Duane street.

Every woman should know:
That moire is different from watered silk, the waves of the first being smaller than those of the second.
That bengaline has the effect of coarse gros grain, but as if the cord had not been inserted.
That surah is a soft silk, the threads of which mingle rather than look straight, as they do in most other silks.
That satin is a general term for all wool fabrics.
That heliotrope is an Irish silk, being a deep lilac rather than the heliotrope itself.
That bodice is the proper name for any fitted covering worn above the waist.
