CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregorie, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons? Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons? Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of Its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest? Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts, Wonderful Record in an English Colliery.

The Many Industries Depending on the Shipping Interests of a Nation and its Importance to a Country.

Some discussion blaving taken place on the Frantiston as to the durability of steel rope, and a number of skippens be ing quite interested in the discussion, the Astorian has looked into the subject comowhat and publishes the following: The following instances of long wity of teel ropes are given by an English trade ournal. A rope of Cruddock's improved crucibie steel, an inch in diameter, after the steer and the state of the circumference, was continuously used in a Sheffield coffery for II years and 8 months; a third rope, 32 yards long and 5 inches round, was used on the under side of a description. side of a drum, near Barnsley, for three years and ten months, tifting 735,679 tons of coul in that time.

Few people stop to combider the varied industries that are interested in a ship. The tax gatherer seldom thinks of the benefits derived by a community in which ships are owned. The industries directly concerned in a vessel are alone sufficient to encourage shipping as a bussiness and to discourage the assessment of local taxes of any kind. The attention to a few of these. There is the builder, the owner, the iron manufacturer the engine builder, the chain and anchor maker, the spar maker, the canvas and sail maker, the various manufacturers who furnish provisions, fittings, electric lights and various goods that enter into the make and building of a ship as into the building of a hotel; the cargo owner, the many buyers of the varied cargoes, the many buyers or the varieties in the underwriter, the numerous middlemen that arrange for everything in the appropriate and management of the ship and in the buying and sale of he cargo; the warehousemen, the crew, the men who live on the crew, the tugs and the whintinger. There are many trade besides directly engaged and depending almost entirely upon the ship for support. There are also to be added those trades that supply goods to and are but ramifications of those directly concerned in the making and running of the ship itself. Indeed, when the list is consider-ed us a whole, it may be claimed that no single industry is as important as shipping in the variety of trades that it practically creates and supports, or as valuable to a country in its influence upon the general business and commercall welfare of a country. It needs no other argument, therefore, to support the assessition that it is of the very greatest necessity and of immense allyantage for this country to be a ship owner.

Nothing is sweeter than sometimes finding a faither who confesses himself a child with his children, a mother who is a young girl with her daughters. There is no quesction of authority or infalibility with these, yet somehow there is always obedience, always barmony; dignities are not sacrificed, while something better than blind homage is rendered. There are no harsh judgements, no moral reactions. Each recognizes that the thing to be a'trained, the quality to be expressed—as, for example, beneficence, tove, courteey, charity—is forever greater than possible human tattainment, yet that each individual grows in knowledge, perfection and understanding while he strives; grows without pain, development being normal, without pain, development being normal, and grows without effort, the impetus being from within and recreative, not from without, coercive and destructive.

True respect each for the other—and this is the vital point-true respect each for the other, for even the opinions and the standards of the other, is at last attained. Certainly this is something better than any obedience born of the exercise of blind authority, or cultivated by a parent's personal pride in his position.-

A FRENCH BOARD AND ITS LESSON In the country districts in France board are put up telling people what animals and insects should not be killed and the reason, and also which ones should be ex-terminated in order to afford protection the farmer.

"This board is placed under the pro tection of the common sense and honesty of the public And, of course, after that no boy or man would mar or remove the board. Then follows these instructions:

"Hedgehog lives upon mice, snaks and wire worms-animals injurious to agriulture. Don't kill a hedgelog. "Toad helps agriculture, destroys twen ty to thirty insects hourly. Don't kill the only enemy capable of battling with them vigorously; they are great heips to farmers. Children, don't take the birds nests."

And so on the instructions read. Among the animals which need kifting on a farm are mice and rats, and the reason they increase in spite of the constant warfare of cats and dogs is because the boys on the farm kill the animals that would destroy the pests if they had a chance.
