THE INCREMAND OF INSANITY.

The increase of instality in all parts of the country and a nong all classes of the population is becoming a very serious matter. In every state, the statisticians tell us, the rate of increase in registered ensane is far beyond the rate of increase in population. There has beeen an inin several of the states during the last country have a farger ratio of insane vious reason that the people in the latter are younger and more vigorous. Local conditions undoubtedly have a good deal important of these, we are assured, is that of race. It is because the negro race has hitherto been but little affected by insanity that the proportion of the insane is so small in our former slave ecates; and Mr. F. B. Sanborn says it is because the Northwestern European races are peculiarly liable to insanity that the proportion is so great where those make a large element in the population. There are conditions of climate, also, of occupation, of forms of living, that tend to increase or diminish the proportion in different localities; but the information is not yet sufficient in this relation to justify any definite assertions.

As for the causes of insanity, the experts are now generally agreed that most of those tabulated are mere guesses. often the manifestation of the invanity who know most about the matter-the physicians in charge of asylums, and the meatal. The mind is overshrown, that is tourists. Here are some of them: to say, by various boddy allments, by excesses of different kinds, by accidents hand, $1.50 a day for France, and $1.70 a which have no direct relation to the bra n. day in Switzerland. That includes the This implies, of course, that whenever these causes can be reached and removed, for weight, by all means take an Amerithe insanity can be cured; and the sta-tistics show that there is now much more success in the treasment of such cases than there was some years ago. But in Europe. America the ugly fact remains that insanity is also be taken along.

TWO DIFFERENT THINGS.

There are two contentions between Great Britain and Venezuela. One is a trivial matter wasts which the United States need not be concerned. Pending colliement of the boundary line, it was agreed between the governments of Great Brown and of Verezuela that no encroactament should be made on either aide of the Schomburgh line deduced in 1840. In violation of this agreement a Brilleh seegeant of police named Barnes elemed the river with two companions at Uran and planted are Braisn flag on the Venezuelan elde. The Venezuelan police arrested the trespassins, drave them derous the river, and within British territory, as claimed, arrested them.
