TOOK AN ADJOURNMENT

The Republican Convention De- cided to Hold Off.

NOMINATE ON THE 25TH INST

A Harmonious Meeting Came to the Conclusion That It Was the Best Course to Take.

Yesterday afternoon the Republican City convention was called to order in the council chamber by Mr. G. Wings, chairman of the city central committee. Most of the delegates were present in person, the balance being represented by proxies. The meeting was harmonious throughout and outside of a slight difference of opinion prevailing about the postponement of nominations, there was no evidence of a clash of any kind. Dr. Jay Tuttle, secretary of the Republican central committee, read the call for the meeting and the chairman then asked that the convention proceed to business.

The election of a temporary chairman being the first move on the board, Messrs. Hope Ferguson and W. H. Barker were placed in nomination and Mr. Ferguson was elected unanimously and took his seat amid acclamations. Mr. Frank L. Parker was the only nominee for temporary secretary.

Messrs. Ward, Linville and McGregor were nominated a committee on credentials by the chair, and they received the reported back to the meeting satisfactorily.

On motion the temporary organization of officers was made permanent and Messrs. McGregor, Hare and Wickman were elected a committee on order of business. Another short recess being taken to allow the body to formulate its recommendations. When the meeting was called to order again the secretary announced that the committee on order of business had recommended the advisability of adjourning till a later date in the present month.

This report immediately brought on a mild discussion. Mr. P. J. Goodwin warmly contested the idea of adjourning and moved that the report be referred back to the committee with instructions to "keep it" a formulated order of business. He thought that the committee had exceeded its duty. There was no reason why the convention should not at once proceed to nominations.

The motion was seconded. Mr. Barker took issue with Mr. Goodwin. The idea of adjourning till later he thought was a very good one. As far as the Third Ward delegates were concerned they were doing their best to get a splendid man to accept the nomination for the office of mayor. He thought that the committee had exceeded its duty. There was no reason why the convention should not at once proceed to nominations.
