It has been a surprise to many that during the recent storm the glass has stood higher than at any time in two years past. When asked his opin the strange occurrence, yesterday, Weather Recorder Grover said that the only explanation he could offer was the fact that just at the present time Astoria was about the meeting point of two different weather areas. In one area the glass is high and the atmospheric conditions here to have followed that, while the wind and rain came from the other area where the glass was low and storme pre-
