The heavy salmon shipments have cleaned up the market on all grades, says the Herald of Trade. There is not reemaining but little more than enough to neet local jobbing demand, and car load lots of red Alaska are hard to get. The Cutting Packing Company last week shipped some of this fish to Algoa, South Africa, and it may lead to the opening of a new market for this product. Quotations are firm.

There has been a large ship wrecked within the last three months on the northeast coast of the Auckland islands. The rocks are strewn with Australian lumber and broken timber. It appears to be nearly a new ship. The deck plankings are 3'4 inches thick. The topsail yard is 66 feet long, painted yellow, the paint quite fresh. All hands must have been lost, as no one was found on the island. At Auckland, New Zealand, the wreck is supposed to be that of the Brit-bark Stoneleigh, which left Melbourn last February for London. The belief is Sydney, however, is that the wreckage is from the French bark Marie Alice.

A strong sentiment in favor of the Nic A strong sentiment in favor of the Nic-aragua canal project was developed at the meeting of the Society of Naval Ar-chitects and Marine Engineers at New York recently. Captain Taylor, of the naval war college, read a paper on Amer-ican maritime development, in which he dwelt upon the increasing importance to the United States of the commerce of the Parific ocean. He pointed out the diver-Pacific ocean. He pointed out the direc-tions of the connection between San Francisco and Yokohama and other Eastern points, and alluded to the adapta-bility of the Aleutian islands as coaling stations. He showed at length the great importance of the Nicaragua canal to the commerce of the United States, and urged commerce of the United States, and urged the society to devote special effort to its consideration and in its behalf. His po-sition was vigorously sustained by Ad-miral Meade and others, and a committee was appointed to formulate a memorial to congress, urging the construction of the canal as a measure of the highest importance.
