Packard is taken from the San Francisco Examiner of Wednesday "The American ship Benjamin F. Pack erd struck on a sunken rock between Long Bridge and Mission rock shortly be-fore noon yesterday, while in tow of the tig Hercules, and so far all efforts to move her have been unsuccessful. The hip has in her more than 3,000 tons of wheat, and agents of her charterers were busy yesterday afternoon securing lighters with which to take out the cargo. If the Packard is not broken to pieces swine with the tide, it is said that she will have to be discharged in order that a survey may be made of her. The Benjamin F. Packard was chartered by Balfour, Guthrie & Co. to load wheat for Fugland. She took on cargo at Louis Bridge, but as the water there is no deep enough for the draught of the vessel when loaded. Captain Allen applied to the wharfinger for a borth of the street wharf to take in the balance of to the wharfinger for a beeth of "or has a full and carrying voice, and Colonel street wharf to take in the balance of cargo. This programme was c or d yesterday morning, when it was decided to take the vessel into the stream and finish loading there, and the tug Sea Queen was engaged to haul the vessel out. In the interval the stevederes continued loading wheat into the vessel. The Hercules had not proceeded with her 160 yards when the Packard struck. The tug, which was alongside the vessel, started to back, but the ship was immovable. The Sea Queen hartened to the assistance of the Hercules, but the combined efforts of the tugs could not hodge the ship. The fug J. H. Raymond was sent for, and then the Spreckels Towheat Commany was notified. The tugs Alert, Vigilance, Beliance and Active were sent to the scene of the trouble. Seven tugs were hooken onto the Packard, forming a line on either side of the ship, but they could not move the ship. The hawsers were strained to their utmost, but all the work was useless. Finally all the towboats but two withdrew to make another attempt at hauling the vessel off after midnight on the high tide. There are two rocks between Mission rock and Long Brigge, one of which has twenty-three feet of water over it and the other fourteen feet at low ede. It is said that the Packard was caught on the former, which is known as Mission bay rock. Captain Allen lays the blame of his misfortune to the Hercules, and the owners of the tug claim that they were compelled to wait for the captain while the tide was falling. The result will probably be a very interesting law suit. The stern of the Packard points if directly to the buoy which marks the rocks. Captain Allen, when seen on board the vessel yesterday afternoon, stated that up to that time the ship had not made any water. He argued from this that there was no break in the ship's bottom, but when the wheat is lightered a different story may be told. At the bow of the vessel there is a depth of twenty-three feet of water; at the stern there are seven fathoms, and amidships six fathoms. The Benjamin F. Packard was built in Bath, Me., in 1833. She registers 2025 tons and is 244.2 feet in length, 433 feet breadth of beam and 25 feet depth of hold."
