Marine Matters, Here, There and Everywhere.

The bark Vidette leaves out for San Francisco this morning. She is lumber laden and carries a large quantity of fir planking.

The steamer Columbia came in yesterday morning from San Francisco with 251 passengers and a very large quantity of freight. She left up the river at noon.

The Gulf Stream, which left this city for Liverpool four months ago, was a great deal more badly damaged in the storm encountered off the Irish coast than was at first supposed.

One hundred and fifty tons of Roslyn coal were put aboard the United States man-of-war Philadelphia today. The cruiser is by her own hook and the coal was taken to her in lighters. It was intended for the ship to take coal at Whatcom, but it seems that the tests of Puget sound coal made on the South East by the United States Army and Navy, and the fact that the Roslyn coal is the most economical for navy use will be turned exclusively by the North Pacific squadron hereafter.—Tacoma News.

The British ship, Captain Robinson, arrived here on December 1st, and on that day was taken to her in lighters. It was intended for the ship to take coal at Whatcom, but it seems that the tests of Puget sound coal made on the South East by the United States Army and Navy, and the fact that the Roslyn coal is the most economical for navy use will be turned exclusively by the North Pacific squadron hereafter.—Tacoma News.

The Louisiana arrived here February 5, 1894, after a passage of 212 days from New York, says the Commercial News of San Francisco. When 72 days out she was off Cape Horn and encountered terrible weather. She fought against headwinds for quite a while and then turned back and came the way the Reliance came. The large four-masted Hawaiian Isles, she bound for Australia and New Zealand. She did not get badly off, for although she encountered an angry hurricane off the south end of New Zealand she made a quicker passage of 189 days. The Hawaiian ship John Ena arrived here from Swans Bay January 31, 1894, after a passage of 106 days. She tried to round the Horn, but after a whole set of sails had been blown away, she gave up and ran to the eastward and came around the other way. The iron ship Macmillan made a quick passage along this route. She took her departure here from the Lizard on May 23, 1881, crossed the equator on June 18th, crossed the meridian of Greenwich in 38 on July 16th, kept along the parallel and reached Bass' straits on August 7th, crossed the 190th meridian in 38 S on August 17th; twelve days later crossed the equator in 152 west; on September 28th arrived at San Diego, 125 days from the Lizard, 125 days from Antwerp. In 1876 the British ship Wadswade made the passage from San Francisco to this port in 105 days by way of Australia.

The barkentine C. C. Funk, which arrived from the Sound yesterday, says the fall reports that she was on the morning of the 4th inst., in latitude 33 degrees 20 minutes north and longitude 124 degrees 15 minutes west, she collided with an unknown schooner. The night was dark and foggy and when the lookout saw a stranger she was close aboard, heading diagonally from the barkentine's port bow. So suddenly did she drop out of the fog and so quickly that the barkentine's bow most immediately she plunged the tip of her bowsprit into the barkentine's hull, smashed the rail and carried away the mainmast. For a moment she hung to the larger vessel, the sea banging her against the side of the barkentine. Then she broke away, dropped stern and was quickly swallowed up in the night and fog. Not a soul was seen aboard of her nor were there any voices heard. Even her lights were invisible, and whatever she was doing was not guessed at. The C. C. Funk was quickly put over on the other tack to leave her wounded side well out of the water and an anchor was cast. But no hope of serious injury was found. The vessel, however, of this midnight collision may be found in the report from the barkentine's log. The schooner which arrived from Port Blakely yesterday, on December 5, in latitude 23 degrees 15 minutes north and longitude 124 degrees 35 minutes west, she spoke the schooner which was quickly swallowed up in the night and fog. Not a soul was seen aboard of her nor were there any voices heard. Even her lights were invisible, and whatever she was doing was not guessed at. The C. C. Funk was quickly put over on the other tack to leave her wounded side well out of the water and an anchor was cast. But no hope of serious injury was found. ROYAL Baking Powder.

Highest of all in leavening strength.—U. S. Government Report.

Sir Charles Halle, the musician, was a great friend of the poor. In his funeral sermon the bishop of Salford told how long ago he was a postman carrying to his house so intoxicated that he was obviously not able to continue his rounds. Mr. Halle—as he then was—had the man delivered all the letters.

Coughing irritates the delicate organs and aggravates the disease. Instead of waiting for coughs to come on, try Erle's Cough Cure. It helps at once, making expectoration easy, reduces the soreness and inflammation. Every one likes it. Chas. Rogers.

TOOK IT OFF.

A Precocious Child That Could Undress Without Her Nurse.

(Washington Star.)
Little 3-year-old Mabel, who lives on M street, Northwest, is very precocious, a lot of which the mother is usually proud, but a few days ago she showed evidences of it that were not appreciated. The child had been dressed in a slip and very little else, that she might play the part of a model for a picture of several fashionable ladies and the husband of one of them called to discuss a club-table enterprise with the mother. Suddenly Mabel ran to the parlor and "You dirty child," exclaimed the mother, "go right upstairs and have nurse take off that dress!"
She obeyed, and in a few minutes returned clad in childish innocence, without much other adornment, and explained: "Mamma, I couldn't find nurse, but I did get it off my own self."
The child is wondering yet how she came to be so unceremoniously carried upstairs and locked in a room.

WOMEN IN SCANDINAVIA.

(Gaston Herald.)
Whatever the "new woman" may signify, it is said the British and American exponent is not in it with her Danish sisters. Throughout Scandinavia the "newness" is affecting whole communities, and raising in some old fogies' opinion the device of a row, while in others more liberal people find it the greatest benefit in nearly all the provinces of human industry. Last summer there was opened a great Scandinavian women's exhibition, the whole affair being managed by women, and women alone being permitted to contribute. The result has been a triumph for the new woman in every direction. So many and so thorough have been her labors in fact that the exhibition, it is due to her sex to say the least has proved a great success. During this exhibition concerts

CURE FOR HEADACHE.

As a remedy for all forms of headache Electric Bitters has proved to be the very best. It affords a permanent cure and the most dreaded habitual sick headache yield to its influence. We urge all who are afflicted to procure a bottle and give this remedy a fair trial. In cases of habitual constipation Electric Bitters cures by rousing the needed tone to the bowels, and few cases long resist the use of this medicine. Try it once. Large bottles only fifty cents at Chas. Rogers' drug store.

HOME DOCTORING.

Hot milk is the greatest benefit to the complexion when used at night and morning. Six drops of olive oil on a pinch of mustard, taken before retiring, will prevent sneezing.

Wash weak eyes in soft water containing a soothing liniment for rheumatism is a good mixture of five cents' worth of crude oil, four drops of oil of peppermint, four drops of oil of aniseess.

A pint of rum containing a tablespoonful of flour of sulphur, when rubbed on once a day, will remove moth patches from the skin.

Pimples may be removed by bathing, taking care that the mixture does not get in the eyes, with one tablespoonful of carbolic acid and one pint of rose water.

THE LORD'S SUPPER.

That the Lord's Supper ought to be a real meal, and not a sham supper of crusts and crumbs of bread, was the radical proposition put before his congregation by Rev. J. M. Gibson, of Plattsburg, Mo., a few days ago. And it is stated that many of the congregation are heartily in favor of the innovation.

Hall Caine writes about 1,500 words a day when he is engaged on an important work and does not suffer a stroke of the morning. He does nothing the rest of the day except to "think out" the work for the next day. It has been known to rewrite a book after it had passed through three editors in order to satisfy himself that it was as good as he could make it.

WIFE—HERE'S AN ACCOUNT OF A MAN WHO SHOT HIMSELF RATHER THAN SUFFER THE PANGS OF INDIGESTION. Husband—The fool! Why didn't he take DeWitt's Little Early Bitters? I used to be bothered with indigestion before I commenced taking these little pills. Chas. Rogers. John Mackay, the millionaire, claims that he can run, jump or hop against any other millionaire in the United States. It is, however, well known that in his early days, when he was engaged as a miner, Mr. Mackay was noted for his athletic performances. He is powerfully built, with bold eyes, a strong and aquiline nose, and a heavy, square jaw, which warns strangers of his character.

By the promotion of Thomas O. Selfridge to rear admiral, it happens for the first time in American history that a father and his son are both on the navy list at the same time as rear admiral and a postmaster general. The father of the father, appointed a midshipman in 1818, is a hale and hearty veteran of 94 years, while the son was graduated from the naval academy in 1883. He was in command of the gunboat battery of the Commodore when the Merrimac sunk it in 1862.

Any doctor will tell you that Professor Hare, of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, is one of the highest authorities in the world on the action of drugs. In his last work, speaking of the treatment of scrofula, he says: "It is hardly necessary to state that cod-liver oil, which has been so long and so generally given in emulsion, so prepared as to be palatable."
He also says that the hypophosphites should be combined with the oil.
Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, with hypophosphites, is precisely such a preparation.
