The determination of the silverites to hold a convention at St. Louis on July # Exchange bold a convention at St. Louis on July 25 and put a national ticket in the field on the straight-out issue for the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1 is a legitimate undertaking and might result in a clearing of the political atmosphere.

In the past there has been altogether too much pretense made by men in both the great political parties in respect to financial question, and they have been much juggled with. Bimetallism is a term of deceit, and may mean much or little, according to the standpoint taken. The American people love nothing so much as a fair and square issue to vote upon, and if the politicians will only give it to them they will settle the silver question in the twinkling of an eye.

Exchange
Of all the momarchs of Europe the most extravagant is Emperor William, and in order to find a parallel for the detuce of debts and pressing liabilities by which he is overwhedred it is necessary to so back to the reign of King George IV of England. Until now the Hohensollerus have been renowned for their excessive thrift. Their economy used to be a household word throughout Europe, and much excended word throughout Europe, and much excensive and reckless expenditure, be being the only excessive and reckless expenditure, be being the only of the excessive and reckless expenditure, as who can be described as guilty in this particular.

The question is timely in view of the official announcement to the effect that the emperor and empress intend the winter season of 186-85 to surgass in splendor and magnificence all those that have gone before, this in spite of the fact that prover helders and present and the strange of the political atmosphere. tion in the twinkling of an eye.
