Captain Tuttle has taken com-Francisco. Captain Tuttle has taken com-mand of the Bear, and it is a toss-up as to which one is the more popular. Four-years ago Tuttle was commander of the Hartley and eight years ago Buhner was in the same position. The people who had business with the incoming ships were sorry to see Tuttle go and are glad to see Buhner back.

The news that the British Columbia authorities had sent a vessel to search for the Cadzow Forrest, was joyfully re-ceived in this city yesterday. While it is the general belief that the Forrest will never again be seen, that hope against hope, which always exists, but, in this instance, has almost died out, was re-newed in the hearts of Captain Grasman's friends. It is said that the cap-tain was to have been married during the Christmas holidays, but that the event was postponed to some time in January. This only adds to the many sad features of what is now supposed to be his death.

On his way back to China during the war he met in San Francisco George Howing, alias George Cameron, and Alec Wood, alias Alec Brown. All three salled for Yorolanna on the Gaelic, and at that point were transferred to the French liner Sydney. They were arrosted by the Japanese authorities as dynamiters and ASTORIA IRON WORKS Japanese authorities as dynamiters and thrown into prison. The United States consul interfered, as the Americans had General Machinists and Boiler Makers consul interfered, as the Americans had never been on Japanese soil, so they were released. Chan Fau Moore was held, however, as the war between China and Japan was then raging. It was only a month ago that he was released, and he lost no time in setting sail for America. He is on his way back to Washington, where he will take the position of secretary of the legation. For male by Chas. Rogers, Astoria, Or., sole agent. The water front was treated to an unusual sight yesterday, says the Call. A Pacific Mail Company's steamer went out with a lighter in tow, and the people who watched her from the lookout station were willing to bet that the venture would end in disaster. As far as the passing out was concerned there was no danger, but when it came to meeting a southeaster. watened her from the lookout station were willing to bet that the venture would end in disaster. As far as the passing out was concerned there was no danger, but when it came to meeting a southeaster there was a difference of opinion. Some of the pilots thought that the vessel should never have been hampered with a tow, while others asserted that during the present fair winds and smooth seas there should be no difficulty in navigating the Acapulco to Panama. The Pacific Mail Steamship Company is under contract to carry eight lighters to San Big & is a nen-poisoners ramsay for Gonorthosa. Whites, unnatural dis-charges, or any inhamma-tion of un cous mon distribution of ulcera-tion of un cous mon about the poisoners and about by Drengeles, or sent in plain wrappor by express, prepaid, 16

Jose de Guatemaia, to assist the govern-ment in building and equipping a new wharf. The latter is to be erected about are eight other lighters built to the same order awaiting instructions from the Central American combine, and just as soon as it gives the word there will be a chartering of vessels heretofore unknown. Machinery, lumber and general merchandise are in demand at Costa Rica, Guatemala, San Balvador and Honduras, and in consequence the trade at San Francisco is augmented. The steamer San Juan started with lighter No. 1, but failed to get past Fort Point with her tow. The San Juse made better weather of it, and finally landed the craft at its destination. There were eight of the crafts and finally landed the craft at its destination. There were eight of the crafts to go, however, and the Acapulco had to make an attempt at the job yesterday. Judging by the Merchants' Exchange big glass at Point Lobos the venture was a success. The Acapulco crossed the bar without any trouble, and when last seen was making good headway on her way to San Jose de Guatemala.
