Affairs are in a very prosperous state at Easter island, so the British bark Centaur, which arrived recently at San Francisco, 141 days from Liverpool, re-ports. On January 3d, when the Cen-taur was passing the island, the chief and fifteen natives came off to her They brought a mighty welcome pase-cffering in the thing of six sheen, two hogs and a lot of fruit. The chief re-ported that his people and his flocks were well and prosperous. The sheep on the island numbered 30,000, while the cattle of different kinds equaled that number. The tribe had sheared enough wool to make a cargo for a ship, and a British ship was there loading at the time. The Centaur had an uneventful voyage.
