OLYMPIAN GAMES. The departure of the eight young American athletes for the shores of ancient Greece to participate in the contemplated revival of the Olympic gam's is attracting much attention outside of the sporting fraternity. The contest is to be international, will be limited strictly to amateurs and will follow the lines of the ancient games of 2,000 years ago as closely as conditions will permit. The intirnational congress of athletic associations, which met in Paris two years ago, profected this revival, and their plan has been warmly and practically seconded by the Greek people, and especially M. Aberoff, a wealthy and public-spirited Greek, whose generosity has gone far to make the revival possible. The games will be held in the Panthenaic Stadium near Athens, the Stadium naving been rebuilt as nearly as possible on the onginal lines. They will include the ancient features of jumping, running, weightthrowing, quoit-throwing, boxing, wrestling, and sprinting, but there will also be shades of Homer!-tennis, polo, golf and cricket, not to mention rowing and bieyeling. The spectacle of a victorious not till then did Way & Williams know wheelman crowned with laurel, or a panting tennis player receiving the amphora at the hands of the king of Greece will be a sight for the gods-especially the Greek gods-and men. The American boys will doubtless have a most enthusiastic backing among their compatriots, although there will probably be less excitement over the contest, from an international point of view, than over the angio- American games which will mark the year. Perhaps the most truly interesting and significant feature of it all is the fact that while the world has fetched a circle back to the point where healthy, honest physical prowess is rehealthy, honest physical prowess is respected and admired, the men who claim it have coased to be heroes on that ground alone. There are worse things to the first, and, with explanations, the ground alone. There are worse things than the worship of physical strength. but we believe it can be said, without

The wonderful interest shown all ov r the country in the primaries and conventions of the Republican party, with the corresponding indifference manifested In the results of those meetings wherever held by other parties, attests the extent of the revival of confidence among the people in Republican principles and their belief in the ability of the statesmen and leaders of that party to Chicago News.

Settin all questions of national concern They used to plant trees in men's so as to put an end to the distractions and uncertainties of the past three or four years and restore the old-time condition of permanent prosperity. It is said that never before in the history of Clatson county has there been such a display of general interest in any anteelection event as that shown in the primari's last Samuray. The mass meetings before the primaries were crowded beyond the capacity of the rooms in which they were held, and the vote cast at the primaries is the largest recorded on a similar occasion. In all this the party leaders may see both an encouragement and a warning. It is plain that many Republicans mean to take a hand in the elections this year who have paresprore taken no interest in politics for carefusiough for the success of the party ticket to an to the polls and vote

HOW IT WAS DONE.

N. W. Lumberman Next month Way & Williams, of Chi-cago, will bring out, under title of "A Mountain Woman, a book of short stories by Elia W. Peattle, a newspeper woman of Omaha. Mr. Way was tell-ing me a bit of goestp the other day ing me a bit of goesip the other day about the preliminary vagabondage of that little gem—for it is that—or rather, perhaps, a cluster. Most of the stories had been published. Mrs. Peartie sent the manuscript revised for book form to a Chicago firm which is conspicuous for fine selections of bindings—though sometimes a trifle shy on proofreading, and it was refused. So she made up her mind that their merit was exhausted with their fugitive publications. Not so her husband. He sent them to Way & Williams, and Mr. Way sat down at home one night to look them over, and almost entirely forgot to go to bed. And to the tenderest of them all the publish-er's wife paid the glistening tribute of sympathetic tears. Then Mr. Way asked a sentleman, himself an artist in letters, to look at them, and the artist fell at their feet likewise. Tirms were proposed and accepted, and the funny of it all is, that until the contrac presented to Mrs. Penttle to sign was presented to Mrs. Penttie to sign, she did not know the stories had again that they had been dealing with the hus-band instead of the author.

Busy people have no time, and sensible people have no inclination to use a slow remedy. One Minute Cough Cure acts promptly and gives permanent benefits.

UNCHURCHLY DOCTRINE.

That any mere man, be he prophot, privat or king, can pardon size, is an unscriptural, and undue complacincy, that the time is hence an unchurchly, doctrine. Who can forgive sins but God caly? The declaration of absolution states cluriy the prerogative of the priest. To declare past when that alone is sufficient to crown a man with laurel in the presence of a nation.
