Matters Are Lively in the Valley, and the Farmers Are Busy.

Mr. Andrew Olsen, who came in yes terday from the Nehalem to attend the Republican county convention, said to a reporter that the valley was looking splendidly this spring, cattle and sheep are in good condition, and the farmers are busy with spring plowing. "The only trouble with the Nehalem is, that you cannot get to it. It is a most beautiful farming country besides possessing such tremendous timber preserves, yet the bad roads make it almost impossible for us farmers to make a living, let alone profits. Astoria is our only market, and should be our principal source of supply. But notwithstanding the fact that the soil will produce anythin. the soil will produce anything, magnifi-cent potatoes, the finest cabbages I ever cent potatoes, the finest cabbages I ever saw in any country, we cannot get them to market. Astoria, on the other hand, buys cabbages and potatoes as well as all other vegetables, which we can grow better, in California. It costs me one and one-half to two cents per pound to have my supplies from Astoria home. This atmost equals the first coat of the goods at the store. I can buy cheaper in Portland and have the goods transported 100 miles to my ranch at less than half the cost of teaming from Astoria. Your merchants do not from Astoria. Your merchants do not seem to realize the disadvantage at which they are placed as well as ourselves. I think if they did they would

A CONSTANT VISITOR

Pain is a constant visitor of persons troubled with chronic rheumatism. This unwelcome guest will, however, take its departure, and not renew his visits if a writ of ejectment is served upon it through the agency of Hostetter's Stom-ach Bitters, the most efficient blood depurent and anodyne to rheumatic twinges known to medical science. No testimony clusive than that which proves its effi-cacy in rheumatic complaints. It is also conspicusly efficacious for malarial, neryous, bilious, dyspeptic and kidney disorders. It promotes appetite and sleep, and is particularly useful to invalids re-covering from a lack of vital stamina, who find it highly beneficial. Give it a persistent trial. No medicine used spasonod-ically, and at irregular times, can be expected to achieve lasting results.
