Astorian representative, last vening, Mr. H. Bell stated that he had been somewhat misrepresented concern-ing his remarks referred to in yesterlay's issue relative to street grades. In view of the action taken in the city council last night, and in justice to Mr. Bell, it should be stated that he specifically denies that he said to an Astorian reporter, or any one else, that the council could change the street grades at will, as it requires a three-fourths vote of all the property wners on any street in order to change the grade of that street. He simply said that the grades of streets over the water ought to be raised six or eight feet in order to provide cellarage for buildings, and that he had been called upon by numbers of people recently concerning street grades, to all of whom he could assurance as to what would be the future grade.
