"A year ago, in Thomasville, Ga., Major McKinley, when offered the delegates of three Southern states if he would declare for free silver, said, in the presence of the editor of this journal: 'If the Republican platform declares for free coinage, I will not be a candidate. I would not run on a free silver platform." "-Chicago Times-Herald.

THE ISSUE AS LAID DOWN BY EMI-NENT AUTHORITY.

There is something in the attitude of some of our leading public men which promises a better tone in public life. The old-fashioned idea that principles were of the first consequence in politics is again coming to the front. Not long since Mr. Carlisle, in a letter which the Democratic party might well take as a text book, declared that the platform and not the candidate was that by which the party was to live or die. A plain declaration for the gold standard was and is, he said, the best chance of salvation, or-which in the minds of so many men comes to the same thing-of success at the polls.

Since then ex-President Harrison is quoted as saying to the Republicans of Indiana that not tariff but currency is and must be the chief issue in the coming presidential contest. The party, in his opinion, cannot be too conservative on the tariff question, nor too radical induces refreshing sleep. She took the induces refreshing sleep. She took the advice and is well. PROSPERITY'S ADVANCE AGENT.

In a little more than a month from now the great national Republican party. through its representatives in national convention, will have chosen its standard bearers for president and vice-president. The gathering at St. Louis on June 16, will be the most memorable of its kind, perhaps, in the history of the Republican party, on account of the sharp rivalry between the aspirants for the presidential nomination, at a time when It is conceded on all hands that the Republican party is again about to return to the control of national affairs.

Towering in magnificent brilliancy among the splendid galaxy of aspirants for the presidency, is that brilliant orator, that renowned statesman, diolomat, soldier and great advocate of protection to American industries and American labor-Hon. William McKinley, of Ohio. His protective principles and policies alone have invited the admiration of the industrial world; they have long been the admiration of our greatest crators, statesmen and the press.

As an evidence of how highly his idea has been followed by the great leaders feed, she did, mum.

Tall Woman-She raid that, did she?

You wait a minute, and the Fifty-third congress, threatened to offer the McKinley bill as an amendment to that measure. The great significance of that threat goes without comment. The reason is plain. There has been scarcely a day since the sitting of the present congress in which the name of McKinley has not been broudly referred to in the debates, either on the floor of the house or senate.

How to best protect American indus tries and American labor, and how to make our country the most prosperous of the industrial nations of the earth, and an investigation will cost nothing and will result in much good.

Kinley at St. Louis means a vote for the very best interest of our country. It will mean an increase of American industries, an increase of work and wages for American workingmen. It will be a vote for all for which the Republican party stands.

A storm of popular disapproval of the to 1 silver contention being imminent, the politicians in both parties are making preparations to come in out of the wet. Senator Wolcott has led off and declared his intention to support the St. Louis candidate whoever he may be, and Sent by mail per year, $2 in advance the platform, whatever it may be. Governor McConnell, of Idaho, has taken substantially the same ground, and has expressed himself as not at all in accord with the extreme views of Senator Du bois. So, too, with Senator Shoup, of the same state, who, while declaring himself "loyal to silver," is not willing to sacrifice all other issues to it. As the days go by and the Republican state conven tions are seen to be wheeling into line for honest money and the gold standard, all the leaders of the party are becoming conscious of a great light. They know by long experience that when the people are aroused on any question it is their voice that must be heard, and that the days of the trimmers are past. They are hastening, therefore, to bring themselves into line with the popular command.
