The railroad work is now being carried on right in the city's midst. Pile-drivers are being erected to carry on their noisy work, and buildings along the water front have been torn down or removed to make room for the steel rails.

The fresh westerly wind yesterday afternoon filled the bay with white-caps, and the view from the docks was a fine one. A number of sail boats were out, and with the larger vessels lying in port, the picture was complete.

Evidently yesterday was floral day in Astoria. After the school exercises were over there was almost a continuous procession of blossoms along the streets, which did not cease until after the commencement exercises in the evening.

A telegram was received yesterday from Salem stating that Victor Nelson, who was committed from this county in 1893 for insanity, died in the asylum. The sheriff was engaged during the afternoon in looking up the friends of the deceased.

The Columbia, which left for California at 3 a. m. yesterday, is expected to arrive in San Francisco this evening at 6, thirty-nine hours from Astoria. The passengers will pass but one night en route. This is excellent time and brings Astoria considerably nearer the cities of the south from which there should be considerable passenger traffic this summer.

Joseph Capaldi, and Pasquella Camlinia, were yesterday afternoon on trial in the police court for having engaged in a fist fight to the night before. Both men were badly damaged, but they shook hands in court and made up their differences. Each stated that the trouble occurred on account of the wine, and the judge let them off with a fine of $10 each.

Thursday evening Prof. Williams entertained at his residence the graduates of the Alderbrook school. Games and music occupied the early hours, and refreshments followed. Quite an amusing accident, but which might have been more serious, occurred among Contractor Normie's forces on Grand avenue heights yesterday afternoon. The ground with which they are filling in Mr. Flavel's canyon, gave way under the weight of several horses and wagons, precipitating three of the animals and one wagon down the embankment, where they were piled one over another in a confusing heap. Chief Loughery yesterday evening took charge of a black mare which was being driven in a cart belonging to Fred Leinenweber, on a telegram received from Mr. Purcell, of Stella, requesting the chief to report to L. C. Hartman, Portland, concerning the matter. It seems that Mr. Leinenweber purchased the animal for sixty dollars from a party in Stella who was also an innocent purchaser from a man who is supposed to have stolen the mare from Mr. Hartman, of Portland. The name of the guilty party is not known.

A good story is going the rounds that Mr. Andrew Dalgity, who wanted to play a little joke upon one of the employees of the city auditor's office, rushed into the police station Thursday afternoon, and said that the owner of the bicycle standing there wanted him to take it out for repairs. Captain Hallcock said all right, and the machine went its way. Yesterday Captain Hallcock and the entire police department, at the instigation of the owner of the wheel, made a thorough canvass of the city to find the thief. Fortunately, late in the afternoon the genial captain happened to remember sending it out for repairs, and the little episode was brought to a happy termination.

Most so-called "salmon twines" are colored with acids. The acids rot the fibre and render the material useless. In the office of Elmore, Sanborn & Co. is an object lesson that ought to be examined by all fishermen. It is the whole of the material used in the manufacture of Marshall's twine—from start to finish. Go there and examine the color right through. You will see then why Marshall's is called the best in the world.
