The Republican party will carry every state in the Union this fall that has ever given a Republican majority. has been thought that the province of besides a few others it never carried a newspaper lies in printing the news, before.

The country, of course, will feel very surry for poor Teller, but if he chooses to follow the way of the lamented Greely it is his own folly and there is that it wasn't Colorado, Idaho, and unreliable channels of heresay, or in Utah that walked out of the convention the lying and disgustingly insincere pavesterday, but simply a trio of plain tols of a paper like the Budget. individuals named Teller, Dubois and Cannon

McKinley and Hobart, on a platform of sound money, protection, reciprocity and restricted immigration, will have more electoral voles, backed by a larger popular majority, than has ever been given for any national ticket nominated since the war.

Where protection is likely to stand and free silver to fall is in the United States senate, according to the best calculations. These are based on elections held and to come, and taking into consideration the attitude of those who hold over in that branch. Twentyone of the forty-eight who voted for free coinage in February step down March 4, while only nine opponents of in, twenty-two are Republicans and ten Democrats, who might be expected to oppose any tariff that might be introduced by Republicans. Fourteen Democrats, eleven Republicans, two Populists, two silver bolters, and a senator from Nevada make up the list of those whose terms are so soon to end, and their places have already been filled by the election of Allison, from Iowa, re-elected; Foraker, from Ohio, and Weilington, from Maryland-all Republicans. Vermont, Con necticut, New Hampshire, Illinois and Pennsylvania are certain to choose members of the senate from the same party, with Delaware and Kentucky reasonably sure of doing the same, factional disputes alone preventing the latter states from so acting. The Republican list may also be counted as being swelled by the action of New York, Wisconsin and Indiana legislatures in place of Democrats; Kansas and South Dakota in place of Populists. With these sixteen senators there would be a total of thirty-eight protection and honest money votes, to which could be joined ten anti-silver Demoerats.

CARLISLE AND MCKINLEY.

Is it not a fact that if the gold standard Democrats had succeeded in electing a majority of the delegates to the Chicago convention they would have been delighted to nominate John G. Carlisle for president of the United States on a gold standard platform?

Is it not a fact that John G. Carlisle was in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver before the ruinous effects of that course had been demon- the at Chas. Rogers' Drug Store strated? Do not honest money Democrats accept Mr. Carlisle's own avowal of his belief in the necessity of the gold standard?

William McKinley at one time before the effects of the unlimited coinage of silver had been demonstrated shared in a measure the former view of Mr. Carlisle, and voted with the majority of his own party in congress on the money question. Since the ruinous efbecame apparent William McKinley has not hesitated to admit that his party was wrong for a time on that question. Like John G. AN OBSERVER'S VIEWS.

I desire to express my appreciation of the candid and unprejudiced course which your paper has pursued during the troubles inaugurated by the fishermen's strike. While I am not in a position to judge as to the merits of the controversy, it appears to me that the Astorian has been eminently fair and impartial in its treatment of both parties; certainly no right-minded peron can charge it with distorting the facts of the situation, or in trying to excite public opinion to the prejudice of any one concerned. In this respect it stands in agreeable relief with the contemptible tactics of one or two of its contemporaries, who do not seem able to distinguish between straightforward honesty and open rascality in their handling of a question fraught with so much of moment to the people of this city.

If the Budget and the Herald think their time serving venality escapes the audience sang the Red White and notice of the public, they raise their stupidity to the unenviable level of their dishonesty. The undisguised efforts of one or both of these pitiable organs of crime and mendacity to make the most of the situation is as anparent as their puerile attempts to exonerate the fishermen of all blame at the expense of the cannerymen. It not in suppressing it in the interest of this or that faction. The people of Astoria are too intelligent not to know that the news cannot be suppressed. The world is bound to know the truth about the strike situation here, and this being the case, surely it is better to have it presented through the me-It will probably be found, when the dium of a reputable paper like the Asides of November have come and gone, torian, than through the devious and

REV. WALTER TALKS.

Astoria, June 18, 1896.

Editor Astorian:-Dear Sir: I deprecate very much that my name has been used in any way in connection with the present disturbed conditions of our community But fifteen minutes after a man has expressed a sentiment on any subject here, if he should meet that same sen timent running around loose he would not recognize it.

The highest glory of all men is selfgovernment, especially in a Democratic country, and recognizing this principle I, with all peaceable citizens, deplored the arrival of troops, especially as the leaders of the Fishermen's Union said the forty-nine go out. Of the antis that immediate steps were to be taken for the final settlement of the quesif it is possible to settle this difficulty by the withdrawal of the troops, then the troops should be withdrawn without delay. But I am not ready to denonnce as "infamous" or "outrageous the actions of civil officers, the reasons for whose actions I may not under-J. J. WALTER.
