And now Populists Peffer and Coxey are at odds. Peffer declares there will be no fusion of Populists and free silver men this time, that the Democrats will be whipped out of their boots, and that four years hence the Populists will triumph. Coxey meanwhile is jealous of Peffer, because he suspects that he will be the nominee of the People's party—a nomination he wants himself.

There are no signs of agreement between them. Peffer wants free coinage of silver, Coxey wants free coinage of paper. Both men are rotten on the money question, and are not only jealous of each other but of all the other rotten men to whatever party they belong. It is a cheerful spectacle of rottenness.

The Europeans have very sharply defined ideas about William McKinley, of Ohio. They think they are well informed about him. The prejudice against Major McKinley is by no means confined to the British Empire.

It is rampant in Germany, fierce in France, active in Austria, and perceptible wherever there are manufacturers abroad seeking American markets.

Whatever may be thought on this side the Atlantic, the people abroad who produce goods for our consumption have the notion that when they are taxed for selling their stuffs here they pay the taxes, and they have become so accustomed to the peculiar politics, philosophy and economy of the free trade Democracy—free trade in our markets for those who do not aid us to bear the cost of the government.

Other than through customs duties—that they regard themselves as wronged by what they are pleased to term McKinleyism, and they resent the nomination of McKinley by the Americans for the presidency.

A dissonant melody triumphed at the polls four years ago. This triumph paraded as a Democratic party victory. But there could be no fusion of such discordant elements, united only by a sentiment of hostility to the party in power. Ex-President Harrison keenly satirized the undertaking of Cleveland to drive his wild and balky horses in harness. Everybody can see its inevitable conclusion today in the upset chariot and the stampe of the free-silver coinage steeds, in utter defiance of the call of their would-be driver.

Fortunately for the country, no such incongruous union is possible this year. Gold and silver standard Democrats cannot be yoked together again by any flimsy straps of pretense. While the supporters of the sound money cause are joining ranks of indissoluble solidity behind the Republican standard, the free silverites are obviously distracted and likely to remain so in this campaign.

Teller is heading the rally of free-silver Republican bolters with assurances of support from prominent Populists and labor union leaders. The free silver Democrats at Chicago are declaring their intention of nominating a straight party ticket. The disorganized Populists will put up a candidate of their own or divide their votes between the silver Republican and Democratic candidates. Unless a seemingly impracticable union can be effected, the only solid party this year will be the Republican standard bearers.

A REVIVAL OF CONFIDENCE.

The firm stand taken by the Republican national convention for sound money has had its effect on the financial world. It was almost like changing night into day. Where there was doubt before, a reign of content followed, and this was accentuated by the quick response made in London. American securities were in demand in the English money markets, and our stocks ran up the scale 2 1/2 to 5 per cent. Could anyone imagine that there would have been the same feeling had the financial plank of the platform been of a doubtful character? It is another way of giving expression to the belief on the other side of the ocean that the Republicans are to be victorious in the presidential election. The London Economist, in an article a few days before the convention, gave expression to this view in these words:

"It is easy to understand why the results of the national conventions are exciting so much anxiety. If they point to the election of a president fully committed to the maintenance of gold payments, and strongly supported by the country, the probability is that there will be a distinct improvement in the financial situation. The distrust which European investors regard American securities will be largely dispelled, and thus one of the main causes of the continuous efflux of gold from the treasury will be removed."

Judging from reports abroad there has scarcely ever been a period when the investing nations of Europe were prepared to take such a large amount of external securities as they are at present. The cry at London has long been what a large sum of American stocks and bonds would be taken by that market, if adequate assurance were given that we are safe against drifting upon the silver basis. That assurance is now afforded in the most unmistakable terms, and no one doubts that, next November, it will be confirmed by the popular vote.

Alluding to the situation in New York, Henry Clews & Co. say: "Wall street is not yet ready to give full effect to this complete turn in affairs. To some extent, it is taken by surprise at this political result. The imposing display of force that has been made by the silverites has largely moderated expectations as to the outcome of the conventions. It was very generally feared that both parties would adopt a 'modifying' policy on the silver question; and consequently the large operators, who give direction to the course of the market, were unprepared for the free and sustained buying operations which the result now warrants. Instead, therefore, of a great sensational rise that would discount the whole effect of the new situation within a week, we seem more likely to have a steady upward movement, extending over the summer months. This is a safe course for matters to take; as operations will then be supported by the gradually extending effects of the restoration of business in all departments, and will be justified by constantly accumulating encouragements."

It is felt all along the line that the finances of the country will soon be in safe hands, and that the currency system will be so reconstructed that the West and South will be supplied with a currency that will suit them better than what they seem to think they want.

ELECTRIC BITTERS.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any season, but perhaps more generally needed when the languid, exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious attacks. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, constipation, biliousness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c and $1.00 per bottle at Chas. Rogers Drug Store.

It is a revival of an old English fashion to have the maids of the household present the bride with a piece of needlework in which they have all taken some active part.

AMONG SOME OF THE FAIREST SCENES.

On this continent and in the tropics, malaria poisons the atmosphere with its pestilential breath, sowing the seeds of disease and death in every direction. It is in such localities that the preventive and remedial qualities of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are most conspicuously shown. For every form of malaria it is a signally efficacious remedy, and conquers disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, remedies inactivity of the kidneys, and counteracts the weakness and lack of stamina which invades disease by leveling the barrier which a vigorous operation of the digestive and secretory organs opposes to it. No defensive medicine in use has stronger commendations in professional quarters both for purity and remedial qualities.

Did you ever know how many women there are of indolent patriotism, who prefer a dozen struggling societies to one strong, moving organization?

The two most critical times in a woman's life are the times which make the girl a woman and the woman a mother. At these times, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is of incalculable value. It strengthens and invigorates the organs distinctly feminine, promotes regularity of the functions, allays irritation and inflammation, checks unnatural, exhausting drains, and puts the whole delicate organism into perfect condition. Almost all the ills of woman-kind are traceable to some form of what is known as "female complaint." There are not three cases in a hundred of woman's peculiar diseases that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will not cure.

The subtle fascination that everything English has for the American girl makes the flat-heeled shoe her special desideratum.

MARVELOUS RESULTS.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderson, Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. This I was pastor of the Baptist church at Rives Junction, she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption, and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work, and highly satisfactory in its results." Trial bottles free at Chas. Rogers' Drug Store. Regular size, 50c and $1.00.

In Medieval Days

When people wanted anything they knelt down and prayed for it. However, one day, a king named Gutenberg, who had "come de Rhine over," was monkeying around a carpenter shop in Mainz. He whittled some little blocks and actually made an alphabet. Then he rigged a sort of well, a machine that would look something like our letter press of today. He arranged his blocks in order, put some ink on them, also a piece of paper, and then screwed his press down. That was called printing. Old Gutenberg made a howling success of the racket, and his head became so swollen that he really snubbed the king one day. The king overlooked it, however, for he had an idea what kind of fellows printers would be. Well, finally they got the printing system down pat, and, as the centuries rolled by, began printing newspapers—first person, invariably singular number, any gender and hard case.

In This Enlightened Day

There are many newspapers—as a matter of fact. But it is an utter impossibility to get a newspaper to admit it. The advertising patronage of a newspaper depends largely, wholly, upon its circulation. A newspaper is a great deal like the human body; if its circulation is good, it prospers; otherwise, it starves. Some papers publish

Want Columns

That is, a column, or a number of columns, devoted to small advertisements. If a fellow wants anything—trouble, a wife, a house—let him make any difference what it is—he can get it by means of a small ad. Included in the "want" column are "For Sale," "For Rent," "Lost," "Found," "Stolen," and "Miscellaneous." Now, just see what changes some people are! Why, a man has been known to hunt over a city—this city—for days looking for a house in which to live. Has he come to The Astorian office and asked for a want ad, he could have gotten his house without the least bit of trouble and for about 25 cents.

It Is Needless

To tell of The Astorian's circulation. The paper has been established for a quarter of a century. Why, old Comstock read the first number of the building of a railroad to his horses from it. Circulation is The Astorian's long suit. Consequently, when a fellow comes into The Astorian office, looks pleasant, throws down 25 cents on the counter and says he wants a house, he gets it.

Why, Just Think!

The Astorian goes into every house in Astoria and a great majority of those in the surrounding sections of Oregon and Washington. Hence, if you insert an ad in The Astorian, it is equivalent to engaging a man to go around to all those houses and telling the inmates that you want something or have something for sale. Why, talk about a snap!

A Bit of Advice

When you want anything—no matter what it is—when you have anything for sale, when you lose, find or steal anything, come around and tell your trouble to The Astorian. Bring 25 cents with you, and, above all things, look pleasant. Tell the clerk that you want a want ad, in the want column, give him your 25 cents and go away happy. As Herman Wiles would say, a want ad will restore the blind, the bald and the bowlegged to manhood.

Declaration of Principles OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

The Republicans of the United States, assembled by their representatives in National Convention, appealing for the popular and historical justification of their claims to the matchless achievements of thirty years of Republican rule, earnestly and confidently address themselves to the awakened intelligence, experience and conscience of their countrymen in the following declaration of facts and principles:

For the first time since the Civil War the American people have witnessed the calamitous consequences of full and unrestrained Democratic control of the Government. It has been a record of unparalleled incapacity, dishonor and disaster. In administrative management it has ruthlessly sacrificed indispensable revenue, entailed an unceasing deficit, eked out ordinary current expenses with borrowed money, piled up the public debt by $262,000,000 in time of peace, forced an adverse balance of trade to a perpetual menace hanging over the redemption fund, pawned American credit to alien syndicates and reversed all the measures and results of successful Republican rule. In the broad effect of its policy it has precipitated panic, blighted industry and trade with prolonged depression, closed factories, reduced work and wages, halted enterprise and crippled American production while stimulating foreign production for the American market. Every consideration of public safety and individual interest demands that the government shall be rescued from the hands of those who have shown themselves incapable of conducting it without disaster at home and dishonor abroad, and shall be restored to the party which for thirty years administered it with unequalled success and prosperity.

A Protective Tariff.

We renew and emphasize our allegiance to the policy of protection as the bulwark of American industrial independence and the foundation of American development and prosperity. This true American policy taxes foreign products and encourages home industry; it puts the burden of revenue on foreign goods; it secures the American market for the American producer; it upholds the American standard of wages for the American workman; it puts the factory by the side of the farm, and makes the American farmer less dependent on foreign demand and price, it diffuses general thrift and founds the strength of all on the strength of each. In its reasonable application it is just, fair, and impartial, equally opposed to foreign control and domestic monopoly, to sectional discrimination and individual favoritism. We denounce the present Democratic tariff as sectional, injurious to the public credit and destructive to business enterprise. We demand such equitable tariff on foreign imports which come into competition with American products as will not only furnish adequate revenue for the necessary expenses of the government, but will protect American labor from degradation to the wage level of other lands. We are not pledged to any particular schedule. The question of rates is a practical question, to be governed by the conditions of the time and production; the ruling and uncompromising principle is the protection and development of American labor and industry. The country demands a right settlement and then it wants rest.

Reciprocity With Other Nations.

We believe the repeal of the reciprocity arrangements negotiated by the last Republican administration was a national calamity, and we demand their renewal and extension on such terms as will equalize our trade with other nations, remove the restrictions which now obstruct the sale of American products in the ports of other countries and secure the enlarged markets of our farms, forests and factories. Protection and reciprocity are twin measures of Republican policy, and go hand in hand. Democratic rule has recklessly struck down both, and both must be re-established. Protection for what we produce, free admission for the necessities of life which we don't produce, reciprocal agreements of mutual interest which gain open markets for us in return for our open market to others. Protection builds up domestic industry and trade and secures our own market for ourselves. Reciprocity builds up foreign trade and finds an outlet for our surplus.

Protection to Sugar Producers.

We condemn the present administration for not keeping faith with the sugar producers of this country. The Republican party favors such protection as will lead to the production on American soil of all the sugar the American people use, and for which they pay other countries more than $100,000,000 annually.

Wool and Woollens.

To all our products—to those of the mine and the field, as well as to those of the shop and the factory—to hemp, to wool, the product of the great industry of sheep husbandry, as well as to the finished woollens of the mill—we promise the most ample protection.

Merchant Marine.

We favor restoring the early American policy of discriminating duties for the up-building of our merchant marine and the protection of our shipping in the foreign carrying trade, so that American ships—the product of American labor, employed in American shipyards, sailing under the Stars and Stripes, and manned, officered and owned by Americans—may retain the carrying of our foreign commerce.

The Financial Issue.

"The Republican party is unreservedly for sound money. It caused the enactment of the law providing for the resumption of specie payments in 1879; since then every dollar has been as good as gold. We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of our country. We are, therefore, opposed to the free coinage of silver, except by international agreement with the leading commercial nations of the world, which we pledge ourselves to promote, and until such agreement can be obtained we believe the existing gold standard must be preserved. All our silver and paper currency now in circulation must be maintained at a parity with gold, and we favor all measures designed to maintain inviolable the obligations of the United States, and all our money, whether coin or paper, at the present standard, the standard of the most enlightened nations of the earth."

Pensions for Veterans.

The veterans of the Union armies deserve and should receive fair treatment and generous recognition. Whenever practicable they should be given the preference in the matter of employment, and they are entitled to the enactment of such laws as best calculated to secure the fulfillment of the pledges made to them in the dark days of the country's peril. We denounce the practice of the pension bureau so recklessly and unjustly carried on by the present administration, of reducing pensions and arbitrarily dropping names from the rolls, as deserving the severest condemnation of the American people.

Foreign Relations.

Our foreign policy should be at all times firm, vigorous and dignified, and all our interests in the western hemisphere carefully watched and guarded. The Hawaiian Islands should be controlled by the United States and no foreign power should be permitted to interfere with them. The Nicaragua Canal should be built, owned and operated by the United States, and by the purchase of the Danish Islands we should secure a proper and much-needed naval station in the West Indies.

Armenian Massacres.

The massacres in Armenia have aroused the deep sympathy and just indignation of the American people, and we believe that the United States should exercise all the influence it can properly exert to bring these atrocities to an end. In Turkey, American residents have been exposed to the gravest dangers and American property destroyed. There and everywhere American citizens and American property must be absolutely protected at all hazards and at any cost.

Monroe Doctrine.

We reassert the Monroe doctrine in its full extent and reaffirm the right of the United States to give the doctrine effect by responding to the appeals of any American state for friendly intervention in case of European encroachment. We have not interfered, and shall not interfere, with the existing possessions of any European power in this hemisphere, but those possessions must not, on any pretext, be extended. We hope to look forward to the eventual withdrawal of the European powers from this hemisphere, and the ultimate union of all the English-speaking part of the continent by the free consent of its inhabitants.

Independence of Cuba.

From the hour of achieving their own independence the people of the United States have regarded with sympathy the struggles of other American peoples to free themselves from European domination. We watch with deep and abiding interest the heroic battle of the Cuban patriots against cruelty and oppression, and our best hopes go out for the full success of their determined contest for liberty.

The government of Spain, having lost control of Cuba and being unable to protect the property or lives of resident American citizens or to comply with its treaty obligations, we believe that the government of the United States should actively use its influence and good offices to restore peace and give independence to the island.

Enlargement of the Navy.

The peace and security of the republic and the maintenance of its rightful influence among the nations of the earth demand a naval power commensurate with its position and responsibility. We therefore favor the continued enlargement of the navy and a complete system of harbor and sea-coast defenses.

Immigration Laws.

For the protection of the equality of our American citizenship and of the wages of our workmen against the fatal competition of low-priced labor, we demand that the immigration laws be thoroughly enforced, and so extended as to exclude from entrance to the United States those who can neither read nor write.

Civil Service.

The Civil Service law was passed on the statute book by the Republican party, which has always sustained it, and we renew our repeated declarations that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced and extended wherever practicable.

Free Ballot.

We demand that every citizen of the United States shall be allowed to cast one free and unrestricted ballot, and that such ballot shall be counted and returned as cast.

Lynching Condemned.

We proclaim our unqualified condemnation of the uncivilized and barbarous practice, well known as lynching or killing of human beings, suspected or charged with crime, without process of law.

National Arbitration.

We favor the creation of a national board of arbitration to settle and adjust differences which may arise between employer and employed engaged in interstate commerce.

Free Homesteads.

We believe in an immediate return to the free homestead policy of the Republican party and urge the passage by congress of the satisfactory free homestead measure which has already passed the house and is now pending in the senate.

Admission of Territories.

We favor the admission of the remaining territories at the earliest practicable date, having due regard to the interests of the people of the territories and of the United States. All the federal officers appointed for the territories shall be selected from bona fide residents thereof, and the right of self-government shall be accorded as far as practicable.

Alaska Representation.

We believe the citizens of Alaska should have representation in the congress of the United States, to the end that needful legislation may be intelligently enacted.

Sumptuary Legislation.

We sympathize with all wise and legitimate efforts to lessen and prevent the evils of temperance and promote morality.

Rights of Women.

The Republican party is mindful of the rights and interests of women. Protection of American industries includes equal opportunity, equal pay for equal work and protection to the home. We favor the admission of women to wider spheres of usefulness, and welcome their co-operation in regaining the country from Democratic and Populist mismanagement and misrule. Such are the principles and policies of the Republican party. By these principles we will abide and these principles we will put into execution. We ask for them the considerate judgment of the American people.

Confident alike in the history of our great party and in the justice of our cause, we present our platform and our considerations, in the full assurance that the election will bring victory to the Republican party and prosperity to the people of the United States.

NOTICE OF INTENTION.

To Change the Grade on Eleventh Street, Between Kensington Avenue and Harrison Avenue, McClure's Astoria.

Notice is hereby given that the common council of the city of Astoria propose to re-establish the grade of that part of Eleventh street in McClure's Astoria, as extended and changed by Cyrus Olney, which lies between the south side of Harrison avenue and the north side of Kensington avenue, at the following heights above the base of grades as established by ordinance No. 7, entitled "An Ordinance to Establish a Base of Grades for the Streets of Astoria," to-wit:

On the north side of the crossing of said Eleventh street and Irving avenue, 126 feet.

On the south side of said crossing, 126 feet.

On the north side of the crossing of said Eleventh street with Jerome avenue, 126 feet.

On the south side of said crossing, 126 feet.

And unless a remonstrance signed by the owners of three-fourths of the property fronting on said portion of said street be filed with the auditor and posted by said city within ten days from the final publication of this notice, to-wit, on or before June 20th, 1896, the common council will re-establish said grade as above proposed.

By order of the common council.
Dated June 6, 1896.

H. E. NELSON,
Auditor and Police Judge.
