After the Want Columns fourth inning they went to pieces and the Mongrams won by a score of 32 to 12. In the afternoon the boys played the Calts three innings, but made no effort to score. After the third inning the Monograms took the Astorians great deal of interest is being excited places and played a hot game. The Colts, however, were too much for the Portland boys and won the game. Just before the Astoria-Albany game the former withdrew its protest against the Mongrams, as complaint would othyacht race between the Jessie and the erwise have been made against the Colts. The protest affair had become so distanteful to the Astoria manager that he decided to await the outcome of the protests of the other two teams against each other, as one protest would be as effective as a dozen. The Astoria boys are firmly convinced that nearly all the men in the Albany and Portland teams are over age, but of course have no positive evidence. The Examiners looked like infants by the side of the large players in the othsult, the Astorians have the best wishes of all Portland for their gentlemanly conduct. Even the members of the Colts and Monograms praised the Examiners' clean ball. Fleming, the Albany pitcher, is under protest. The man really looks over 21, and pitches great ball; but he was treated disgracefully during the games with the Astorians and the Monograms. He was hooted and hissed, but conducted himself wonderfully. The meet was not all that could have been desired, but the Astorians acted as the circumstances allowed. Since the return of the local team several parties have gone about the city circulating stories regarding the conduct of the boys in Portland. When the Astorians went on the field, so it goes, several were intoxicated. The manager and captain, together with the catcher, are accused of selling out to the Monograms and other equally ridiculous things. The manager says the stories are malicious falsehoods. Mr. Joe Smith, the gentleman who umpired the games, was as fair as could be, and his decisions won for him the hearts of all the players in the various competing teams.

When people wanted anything they knelt down and prayed for it. However, that was some time ago. Along about 160 a fellow named Gutenberg, who had "come de Rhine over," was monkeying around a carpenter shop in Lentz. He whittled some little blocks and actually made an alphabet. Then he rigged a sort of—well, a machine that would look something like our letter press of today. He arranged his blocks in order, put some ink on them, also a piece of paper, and then screwed his press down. That was called printing. Old Gutenberg made a howling success of the racket, and his head became so swollen that he really smubbed the king one day. The king overlooked it, however, for he had an idea what kind of fellows printers would be. Well, finally they got the printing system down rat, said, as the centuries rolled by, began printing newspapers—first person, invariably singular number, any gender and hard case.
