Mason, Spokane; W. H. Duvall, Pittsburg; A. Eisenbach, San Francisco; E. R. Proeder, Centralia, Wash.; N. M. Singleton, St. Paul, Minn.; Mrs. A. I. Magill, Georgia; H. S. McGowan, Chinook; A. H. Hershman, Helena, Mont., were guests at the Occidents yesterday.

Some of the members of the school board and teachers are taking much interest in the invitation extended by Dr. Alfred Kinney to the school children to attend an old-fashioned clam-bake at Gearhart Park on Saturday. With his usual generosity, President Hammond has placed the equipment of the road available for the purpose at the disposal of the school people. It certainly will be a very easy matter to arrange for the entire protection of the children on the short ride of thirty or forty minutes between this city and Gearhart. One grown person at each door of every car, would easily prevent the children from running back and forth upon the platform.

It has been suggested by a gentleman who is perhaps a little ahead of his time, that the old cemetery on the 14th street hill, be used as a city park, taking in the adjoining blocks so as to include the new reservoir. By grading down the cemetery and filling in the gulch, and grading down the streets to the north, not only would a handsome park be secured, but a much better grade up 14th street for teams going over the Wallcut and pipe line roads. Sooner or later such action will have to be taken, and at comparatively little expense the bodies now interred in the cemetery might be removed to Greenwood. The suggestion is certainly a timely one and worthy of consideration.

Family commutation tickets can be had on application to the auditor, room 4, Flavel block. AT GEARHART. Many Guests Still Enjoying the Beauties of Park and Ocean.

Those who really enjoy surf bathing and a stay at Seaside resorts, have the best of it who go late and remain through September. The campers at Gearhart are nearly all still in the park, and while many have left the hotel, others are arriving.

Sunday was a beautiful day and all of the beaches were crowded. The big excursion by the A. F. C. boys led Seaside to overflowing, while many found their way to Gearhart and the Holiday place.

Among the guests registered at Gearhart, besides the sixty-six editors who visited there Friday, were Susie Scott, Pearl Williams, Carl Williams, Mildred Holbrook, Mrs. V. Cook, Miss Clementine Cadin, Miss Lella Cook, Robert H. Strong, H. E. Judge, J. Thorburn Ross and family, Mrs. A. L. Lindsay, L. T. Brock, B. D. Beckman, C. A. Macrum, W. R. Walpole, E. T. Williams, Fred M. Pendleton, N. D. Simon and family, F. W. Graves, J. H. Eddy, Miss Minnie Moses, Miss Ladessa Munsell, A. E. Echalard, W. H. Barrett, J. W. C. Francis and wife, Effie Schmetzler, Portland; W. E. Talant, H. G. Smith, Chas. McDonald, T. O. Trullinger, J. H. Seymour, Oswald H. Beckman, O. Alrpaans, H. M. Teets and wife, Astoria; Miss Alice Munsell, Vellou; Miss Bessie Bradley, Bridal Veil; L. N. Day, Cascade Locks; Miss May Hughes, Miss Margaret Burton, Seaside House; Miss Mary Merdian, Vancouver.

Mrs. G. W. Lounsbury and family were among the Seaside visitors. The friends, thirty or more in number, of Mr. J. W. Cook, gave that gentleman a surprise party on the occasion of his birthday one evening last week. The affair was very swell, the house beautifully decorated with ferns and Chinese lanterns, while a bonfire supper was served later in the evening, and visits were exchanged between the house, and Dr. Kinney's clam bake near by. The doctor's entertainment was the event of the season, and he used his patent Baker, Mr. Vin. Cook, who ate some of the clams without paying much attention to the outside of them, said they were all right but a little gritty. He had taken them from the hot oven without even brushing the sand off.

Most so-called "salmon twines" are colored with acids. The acids rot the fibre and render the material useless. In the office of Elmore, Sanborn & Co. is an object lesson that ought to be examined by all fishermen. It is the whole of the material used in the manufacture of Marshall's twines—from start to finish. Go there and examine the color right through. You will see them why Marshall's is called the best in the world.

Go to Elmore, Sanborn's office and see their new and handsome twine testing machine. Take along some of the twines "as good as Marshall's," in your pocket, and test them. Then see how much more Marshall's will stand. It's money in your pocket and fish in your net to find out.

WESTERN OREGON WEATHER. Weather—The weather for the past week has been warm, rainless and somewhat stinky. The week opened cool, but by Wednesday it began to be warm and on Saturday and Sunday temperatures during the heat of the day ranged from 90 to 96 degrees. The night temperatures ranged from 54 to 64 degrees, these being about as high night temperatures as prevail in this section. Since the middle of June the night temperatures have averaged from 55 to 60 degrees. The mean temperature for the week was 71 degrees, which is two degrees higher than it was the preceding week. During the heat of Saturday and Sunday, when the maximum temperature was from 90 to 96, the air was dry and the sensible temperature was from 65 to 70 degrees. This dryness of the air is the main reason that sunstrokes and heat prostrations are unknown in Oregon—in fact, on the entire Pacific coast. Dew has been heavy at night, which has done much toward keeping vegetation growing. Smoke in the air, from forest fires, is becoming more dense. The winds have been northerly and light in force.

Crops—Harvesting of fall-own wheat is about over and threshing is in progress. The yields reported are slightly more than expected, but yet not up to the average, as our correspondents report. "This is the poorest wheat season in forty-four years." The hot, dry period in July caused the grain to shrink. There are yields of from 20 to 25 bushels an acre reports. Some spring grain has been cut, but general spring grain harvesting will not begin until this week. Oats harvest will begin this week and the general opinion of the correspondents is that the yield will be better than was expected. Some farmers have commenced to work their summer fallow. Hops are growing finely. Those yards which have been given proper attention are generally better than usual. There is not so much complaint about the hop loss as yet.

Corn is doing unusually well, and will make a better crop than usual. There is never a very large corn production in Oregon, seldom more than enough for home consumption. The warm weather has been very beneficial to corn. Pasturage continues good. The rain the fore part of August revived it, and the result is that it is better than usual. The pasturage in the coast counties is reported to be very fine. Stock is everywhere reported to be in fine condition. Vegetables continue to make good growth. Potatoes will be about an average crop; the rain of August saved all the late planted potatoes. Garden stuff of all kinds is very plentiful.

The late peaches are ripening and being shipped to market. There will be the greatest shortage in peaches and all kinds of fruit on record. For the first time in the history of the country there is a failure in the fruit crop. It must not be understood that there is no fruit, but rather that the shipment will not be so large. There is, in the whole, more than enough for local demands.

The weather conditions today indicate that cooler weather will prevail this week, but no rain is expected to occur. It frequently occurs that there is rain the fore part of September, so that rain from the 1st to the 12th of September may occur.

THE GEM... A RESORT FOR GENTLEMEN. Corner Commercial and 11th Sts. ALEX CAMPBELL, Prop.

In Medieval Days. When people wanted anything they knelt down and prayed for it. However, that was some time ago. Along about 1493 a fellow named Gutenberg, who had "come da Rhine over," was monkeying around a carpenter shop in Lentz. He whittled some little blocks and actually made an alphabet. Then he rigged a sort of well-a machine that would look something like our letter press of today. He arranged his blocks in order, put some ink on them, also a piece of paper, and then screwed up the device. That was called printing. Old Gutenberg made a howling success of the racket, and his head became so swollen that he really snubbed the king one day. The king overlooked it, however, for he had an idea what kind of fellows printers would be. Well, finally they got the printing system down pat, and, as the centuries rolled by, began printing newspapers—first person, invariably singular, number, any gender and hard case.

In This Enlightened Day. There are many newspapers—as a matter of fact, more than there is possibility to get a newspaper to admit it. The advertising patronage of a newspaper depends largely—yes, wholly—upon its circulation. A newspaper is a great deal like the human body. If its circulation is good, it prospers; otherwise, otherwise. Some papers publish.

Want Columns. That is, a column, or a number of columns, devoted to small advertisements. If a fellow wants anything—trouble, a wife, a house—let's make any difference what it is—he can get it by means of a small ad. Included in the "want" columns are "For Sale," "For Rent," "Lost," "Found," "Stolen" and "Miscellaneous." Now, just see what chumps some people are! Why, a man has been known to hunt over a city—this city—for days looking for a house in which to live. Had he come to the Astorian office and asked for a want ad, he would have gotten his house without the least bit of trouble and for about 25 cents.

It Is Needless. To tell of the Astorian's circulation. The paper has been established for a quarter of a century. Why, old Concomly read the first number of the building of a railroad for a sale, when you lose, find or steal anything, come around and tell your trouble to The Astorian. Bring 25 cents with you, and, above all things, look pleasant. Tell the clerk that you want a want ad, in the want column, give him your 25 cents and go away happy. As Herman Wise would say, a want ad will restore the blind, the bald and the bowlegged to manhood.

Why, Just Think! The Astorian goes into every house in Astoria and a great majority of those in the surrounding sections of Oregon and Washington. Hence, if you insert an ad in The Astorian, it is equivalent to engaging a man to go around to all those houses and telling the inmates that you want something or have something for sale. Why, talk about a snap!

A Bit of Advice. When you want anything—no matter what it is—when you have anything for sale, when you lose, find or steal anything, come around and tell your trouble to The Astorian. Bring 25 cents with you, and, above all things, look pleasant. Tell the clerk that you want a want ad, in the want column, give him your 25 cents and go away happy. As Herman Wise would say, a want ad will restore the blind, the bald and the bowlegged to manhood.
