MAJ. M'KINLEY'S ACCEPTANCE

party with gold and are full legal tender for the payment of all debts, public and private. How are silver dollars now in use different from those which would be in use under free coinage? They are to be the same weight and fineness; they are to bear the same stamp of the government. Why would they not be of the same value? I answer:

"The silver dollars now in use were coined on account of the government, and not for private account or gain, and the government has solemnly agreed to keep them as good as the best dollars we have. The government bought the silver bullion at its market value and coined it. Having exclusive control of the mintage, it only coins what it can hold at a parity with gold."

The profit, representing the difference between the commercial value of silver bullion and the face value of the silver dollar goes to the government for the benefit of the people. The government bought the silver bullion contained in the silver dollar at very much less than the coinage value. It paid it out to its creditors and put it in circulation among the people at its face value of 100 cents, or a dollar.

A BIG DEED. Recorder Williams did a land office business yesterday, having received for a deed and mortgage, the fees for recording which will amount to almost $100. A. Marcus, Chas. S. Fairchild, and Chas. C. Beaman, the purchasing committee under the reorganization scheme of the O. R. and N. Co., deed to the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company, all of the property, rights, franchises, and choses in action, of the O. R. and N. Company, the Washington and Idaho Railway Company, and the Oregon Railway and Extension Company, purchased by them at the recent sale under decree of the United States court. The consideration of the deed, is $4,988,798, representing $2,400,000, common stock, and $1,988,798 preferred stock, in the new company. The deed also was given in consideration of the new company of a first mortgage of the entire property to cover the issue of $2,400,000 consolidated mortgage bonds, to the New York Security and Trust Company. Immediately following the record of the deed will appear a first mortgage of the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company to the New York Security and Trust Company, to secure the issue of $2,400,000 of first mortgage consolidated bonds.

These dollars, in the particulars I have named, are not the same as dollars which would be issued under free coinage. They would be the same in form, but different in value. The government would have no part in the transaction except to coin silver bullion into dollars. It would share in no part of the profit. It would take upon itself no obligations. It would not get them as any citizen would get them by giving something for them. It would deliver them to those who deposited the silver and its connection with the transaction would end. Such would be the free silver dollars which would be issued under the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Who would then maintain the parity? Who would keep them at par with gold? There would be no obligation resting upon the government to do it and if there were, it would be powerless to do it. The simple truth is, we would be driven to a silver basis—silver monometallism. These dollars, therefore, would stand upon their real value, i. e. the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 ounces of silver to one ounce of gold, as some of its advocates assert, make 53 cents in silver worth 100 cents, and the silver dollar equal to a gold dollar, then we would have no cheaper money than now, and it would be no easier to get. But that such would be the result is against reason and is contradicted by experience at all times and in all lands. It means the debasement of our currency to the amount of the difference between the commercial and coin value of the silver dollar, which is ever changing, and the effect would be to destroy property values, further impoverish the laborer and producer of the country, create a panic of unparalleled severity, and inflame upon trade and commerce a deadly blow. To any such policy I am unalterably opposed.

"Bimetallism cannot be secured by independent action on our part. It cannot be obtained by opening our mints to the unlimited coinage of the silver of the world at a ratio of 16 ounces of silver to one ounce of gold, when the commercial rate is more than 20 ounces of silver to one ounce of gold. Mexico and China have tried the experiment. Gold has been driven out of circulation in these countries and they are on a silver basis alone. Until international agreement is had, it is the plain duty of the United States to maintain the gold standard. "The Republican party has not been, and is not now, opposed to the use of silver money, as its record abundantly shows. It has done all that could be done for its increased use, with safety and honor, by the United States acting apart from other governments. There are those who think it has already gone beyond the limit of financial prudence. Surely we can go no further and we must not permit false lights to lure us across the danger line. "The Republican party has declared in favor of an international agreement, and if elected president it will be my duty to employ all proper means to promote it. The free coinage of silver in this country would defer, if not defeat international bimetallism, and until an international agreement can be had, every interest requires us to maintain our present standard. "It is not increase in the volume of money which is the need of the time, but an increase in the volume of business; not an increase in coinage, but an increase in confidence; not more coinage, but more active use of the money coined; not open mints for the unlimited coinage of the silver of the world, but open mints for the full and unrestricted labor of American workmen."
