Mr. Andrew Young, Mr. Normlie and Mr. McGregor, who are the owners of Block 24, East Astoria, have agreed to give $100 towards the planing of 33rd street. Property is rapidly developing in that vicinity, and a good street is much needed.

The members of the local lodge of Foresters of America enjoyed themselves at a stag party at K. of P. hall Thursday night. The program, it is said, was in the nature of a pot pourri and was highly appreciated. An orchestra lent music's charm to the occasion and a feast concluded the entertainment.

Mr. J. M. Gillette, who returned Friday from a trip up the valley to Salem and along the Columbia to The Dalles, states that the sentiment for sound money and McKinley is surprising. The Dalles, he says, formerly a Democratic town, will go for the Republican candidate. Mr. Gillette is confident McKinley will carry the state.

It has been stated that Friday night's Bryan parade was the largest demonstration ever seen in the city. The highest count yet heard of the number in line was 470, while a dozen agree within ten that there were less than 400 in line, excluding the boys and bands. It will be remembered that the first parade of the McKinley people had 800 torches out, and yesterday about 400 new ones were purchased. Probably a thousand lights will be in the procession Monday night.

Mr. O. Seim, the well known blacksmith at Fort Stevens, is building a residence on 28th street. Mr. Andrew Rauma is grading his lot in the same block in which Mr. Jensen's house is situated on 33rd street, preparatory to building a residence. Three more property owners on the same street and in the same block will soon commence building. Apparently quite a movement has commenced for the improvement of Uppertown, in and around Block 34, owned by Mr. McGregor.

The I. R. and N. Co.'s launch Canby's accommodations are taxed just now by the large freight shipments between this city and Washington coast points. Considerable quantities of cans are being exported to the Barnes and Seaborg and McGowan canneries on Shoalwater bay, and the return cargoes consist largely of canned salmon and the famous Shoalwater Bay oysters. Some 700 sacks of the latter having come to this city early in the week for trans-shipment to San Francisco, where there is great demand for them.

The assessment was completed yesterday for the 5th street improvement to Young's bay. As soon as property owners sign the contract for the work, Mr. Normlie will commence operations. He is very anxious to begin at once while the good weather lasts, and hopes to be able to complete the work by January 1st, as he will put on a large force of men. The contract is in the hands of Mr. E. Z. Ferguson at present, and property owners can sign it at his office. This is an important piece of work, and as the owners of property have for a long time been anxious to have it completed, doubtless the contract will be signed at once.

On Friday Judge Gray and Commissioners Peterson and Lewis made a trip up the Necanicum five miles beyond the Seaside House, to where a number of the settlers were hard at work making the new road. The country court were very much pleased to find that a good wide road on an easy grade is being built. This short piece will open up a wagon road to the forks of the Necanicum, nearly half way from Seaside to the Clatsop county line. On the way home the court examined the new draw bridge at Warrenton, but the contract not having been complied with the bridge was not accepted.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at the Alderbrook schoolhouse yesterday of property owners interested in the development of that portion of the city. The various committees reported, and the principal topic of discussion was the improvement of Date street from the terminus of Bond east to VanDusen's line. The street car company was represented at the meeting, and President Conn stated that they would start a man out tomorrow who would visit all the property owners and ascertain what could be done towards the extension of a temporary line from 45th to 51st street until the Date street improvement could be finished. The meeting adjourned until next Saturday.

Hon. John H. Mitchell will address the citizens at the McKinley Club room, and Hon. Geo. C. Brownell will address the overflow from the Occident balcony. The procession will start promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Line of march will be formed at 7 o'clock, rain or shine.

Torches will be distributed to the different clubs as they form in line of march, from wagons.

One of the most enthusiastic rallies of the campaign was last night held at Warrenton under the auspices of the McKinley Club of that place. A delegation of the Astoria McKinley and the Young Men's McKinley and Hobart Clubs went over with the drum corps on a special train to assist in the parade, in which there were over 300 in line and marched to the hall. The hall was already half full of ladies.

In a few well chosen words Mr. R. E. Abbott introduced the orator of the evening, Robert G. Smith, of Grant's Pass, who spoke for an hour and twenty minutes. He said in part: "People are studying the financial question all over the country. Ever since the days of Washington and Hamilton, the men who have been the loudest in shouting about liberty, like the people of France, have been the first to receive Napoleon. Since the days of Washington and Hamilton, from 1789 to 1829, we have been under a coinage ratio of 15 to 1. It was then found we could not change the law of value. Since 1829 we have had bimetallic money, but in 1834 it was found necessary to change to a market ratio. Andrew Jackson was opposed to a silver basis and United States bonds. At that time silver was overvalued, and gold undervalued which caused gold to disappear. Mr. Bryan tells the farmers that they know more about finance than Washington, Jefferson, Cleveland and McKinley. From 1834 down to the present time there has been a continuous system of bimetallicism. At that early date 31 1/2 grains made the silver dollar, which was used in exchange. Do the people want a dollar whose purchasing power is only 53 cents, or do they want a purchasing power of 100 cents. The attempt to debase our currency is one of the most deplorable schemes recorded in history. The hardest thing in the world is for the wage-earner to get his wages raised when once they have been reduced. They say you can pay your debts with these dollars. The debts were contracted on a gold basis, and I for one call such a proposition repudiation, and I do not believe that the people of Oregon on the third of November will give their verdict for such a scheme. If your wages are cut in half how could you pay your creditors. You couldn't be honest if you tried. Beware of the man who is always shouting "Liberty, liberty," for there have been many crimes committed in that name. The man who starts a factory is a benefactor, and makes a market for the farmers' products."

After the close of the address the McKinley quartet rendered several campaign songs, three cheers were given for McKinley and the speaker, and the meeting adjourned.

MR. DALTON'S CANDIDACY.

Iwaco, Wn., October 12, 1896.

Editor Astorian.—

I enclose with this a clipping from the South Bend Journal, as follows: "Does Dalton expect to get that 300 majority in Astoria? The papers over there are unduly interested in his campaign."

Knowing that the people of Astoria are interested in the welfare of the great salmon industry of which Clatsop county, of Oregon, and Pacific county, in Washington, are about equally concerned, have quite an interest in the election of Mr. Dalton to the Washington legislature, for the reason that the gentleman has always been deeply interested and an ardent supporter of effective legislation for the good of the Columbia river fisheries. He is thoroughly familiar with every branch of the business and for years past has been a strong friend of the fishing interests of the Washington side especially, and has done all possible for effective joint legislation. To his efforts are largely due the establishment of the hatcheries on the Columbia river. At every session of the joint committee on fisheries of Oregon and Washington, for the past ten years and at each session of the legislature, he has always been one of the representative men laboring for just and effective measures, irrespective of the methods employed or to the benefit of any particular class of fishermen. He was one of the original promoters of the Chinook fish hatchery on the Chinook river in Pacific county, and has always advocated that a similar hatchery could be as successfully operated on Young's River, below Astoria.

The Republican papers have another reason to be interested in the election of Mr. Dalton. He is a sound money Republican and if elected to the legislature will vote for a sound money senator and uphold Republican principles, from which Oregon will receive its benefit as well as the state of Washington in particular. Very Truly Yours,

BRYAN ANTIDOTES.

1. That omission of the silver dollar from free and unlimited coinage in 1873 destroyed half our money.

The per capita circulation in 1873 was $18.04. In 1872 we had neither gold nor silver in circulation. The total of our money, including treasury coin, was $75,881,809. July 1, 1896, our money in circulation consisted of gold coin, $456,128,482; standard silver dollars, $52,175,998; with $75,614,043 in the treasury; subsidiary silver, $99,909,894; gold certificates, $42,320,759; silver certificates, $33,259,509; "Shermans," $95,217,361; "greenbacks," $225,451,358; currency certificates, $31,840,000; national bank notes, $215,331,927. This makes a per capita in circulation of $21.10 (See official treasury report).

2. That the act of 1873 "destroyed silver as money."

Under our limited coinage of silver we coined from 1878 to 1896, eighteen years, a total of $471,927,729. During the entire eighty-five years previously, with free coinage up to 1873, the total silver offered and coined was $222,585,921. (Mint reports.)

3. That the act of 1873 was a "gold conspiracy against silver."

It was earnestly supported and voted for by the senators and representatives of the silver states. The bill was referred to the finance committee of the senate April 28, 1870; submitted to the house June 25, 1870; passed through various stages, all public and of record, until February 12, 1873, when it became a law. (See Laughlin's "Bimetallism," page 98, or Congressional Record for the years indicated.)

4. That legislation can keep up the price of silver.

During the operation of the Bland-Allison act (1878), when the government was buying $2,000,000 monthly, and during the operation of the Sherman act (1890), when the government was buying $4,000,000 ounces annually, silver declined per ounce from $1.16 to 73 cents. (Mint reports.)

5. That because silver cannot be kept at par with gold, in a "poor" country like Mexico, it must not be presumed the United States cannot keep the metals at par.

This is suppression of the fact that all the countries now on the gold standard tried to keep the metals at par and failed, one group consisting of the combination of France, Italy, Belgium and Switzerland. Can the United States hope to succeed alone where all the greatest countries in the world, singly or in combination, failed?

6. That gold and silver with free coinage at 16 to 1 is the "money of the constitution."

Read the constitution.

7. That free coinage of silver at 16 to 1 of gold is the money of Jefferson, Hamilton and Jackson.

Read their writings. Each knew that unless the coinage ratio approximated closely to the market ratio the undervalued metal would not circulate and advised accordingly.

8. Bryan garbles Blaine and quotes Carlisle before the great era of silver production set in.

9. That while free coinage of silver will advance prices of commodities, it will also advance wages.

The same report shows that between 1860 and 1885, when gold went to a premium, as it will under free coinage of silver, the average price of all articles in this country advanced 116 per cent and the average increase in wages was 43 per cent, although during that time there were withdrawn from the labor market 2,800,000 men, making a scarcity of labor. There will be no withdrawal now. Wages, therefore, cannot rise, because the supply will be in excess of the demand.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE. Notice is hereby given that I have been appointed administrator of the estate of W. H. Ryan, deceased. All persons having claims against said estate must present the same to me at Astoria, within six months from the date hereof. All persons indebted to said estate are hereby notified to pay said indebtedness to me, forthwith.
