AROUND TOWN.

TRUST. By Lisette Woodworth Reese. I am Thy grass, O Lord! I grow up sweet and tall But for a day; beneath Thy sword To lie at eventful.

Yet have I not enough In that brief day of mine? The wind, the bees, the wholesome stuff The sun pours down like wine.

Behold, this is my crown: Love will not let me be; Love holds me here; love cuts me down; And it is well with me.

Love, love, keep it but so; Thy purpose is full plain; I die, that after I may grow As tall, as sweet again.

While Astorians are glad to have the company of the storm-bound captains, yet these skippers whose vessels are all ready for sea, say that they would prefer to be making time on the briny deep to spending their time visiting.

Mr. E. R. Davis, superintendent of construction of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and a force of men, arrived down yesterday morning. They will proceed at once to the election of the telegraph line to Seaside and Flavel.

From all indications the present storm is not yet ended. The glass is going down, and the Portland and Astoria weather bureau predict a continuance of the gale. It might be well for these successful rain makers to seek some other employment.

The Harvest Moon with a barge loaded with telegraph poles for the new Western Union line to Seaside, was still lying in Cathlamet bay late last night, unable to get around Tongue point because of the storm. She will probably get down today.

Several ranchers who were in the city yesterday were anxiously looking around for that central market. Upon being told that it had not yet been erected, they were a little indignant and wanted to know how long it took to build a shed in Astoria.

Mr. R. L. Durham, president of the Commercial National Bank, Portland, is visiting in the city. Mr. Durham says that since the election of McKinley money matters have become much easier, and a large amount of hoarded capital has been put in circulation through the banks.

A letter received yesterday from Mr. W. W. Corey, dated at Ogden, states that they are getting a large force of men to work on the new mining canal in Nevada, and had that day shipped fifty more men, a car of horses and two cars of material to the front. There are now altogether about 130 teams at work.

On Friday the steamer Eclipse, carrying the mail from Gray's river, was shut in by a log jam and may be detained there several days before she can be released. Captain Skibbe put the mail pouches on his back and taking the trail over the mountain caught the boat from Deep River, arriving here yesterday at 10 o'clock.

Mr. D. F. Stanford, writing from Clatsop, says that he understands the county court has the matter of the Young's River bridge under advisement and are looking up facts and figures in order to have a bridge that will be a bridge. He says the farmers have much confidence in Judge Gray and the county commissioners, and believe that the bridge will be built as it has been asked for by the people, and that it will be well built.

The mail from Olney and Nehalem Valley postoffices which should have arrived here at 6 o'clock Friday night did not reach the postoffice until 1:30 yesterday afternoon. The road is completely blocked with fallen timber and the carrier had to abandon his horse near the other end and make the distance on foot; eight miles above Olney the darkness was so intense he was obliged to camp under the shelter of a friendly tree until day light.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the county clerk's office by the Lannetar Publishing Co. The incorporators are J. A. Astram, John Hobaganar, and J. A. Harpet. The capital stock is placed at $1,000, divided into 100 shares. A Finnish paper called the Lannetar was published here some years ago, but suspended from lack of support. The promoters of the new paper, however, are confident of success. The first issue will come out about January 1.

Mr. E. L. Dwyer, the well known promoter, who has recently come back to this section of the country, and who is now in Portland, says he will spend the next few months in bonding valuable mining claims which he will sell in the East or Europe, and that he will plant his share of the proceeds in Astoria, which he considers the best place for investment on the Pacific coast. Mr. Dwyer says there is no place in the West possessing the remarkable advantages of Astoria.

It is understood that Mr. A. B. Hammond will arrive in this city sometime before the first of next month and a gentleman who has just returned from Portland and claims to be posted, says that when Mr. Hammond gets here the town will be awakened. He also suggested that it might be as well for Astorians to rub some of sleep from their eyes before Mr. Hammond arrives. In order that they might be prepared to make propositions and receive propositions looking to the starting of large enterprises.

Rescue Club held its regular meeting last evening, President Estes being in the chair. Miss Nellie Busey presided at the piano. Devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. J. J. Walter. quite a popular form of amusement, and evidently it is now epidemic about town. An offer of reward made in these columns is still open for the return of a month's salary which was dropped on the street by a young lady a few days ago. A similar loss was sustained yesterday by another lady but the purse was found and immediately returned by a stranger who gallantly refused any reward. There is at least one person in the community who still has faith in humanity.

A meeting of the officers of different fire companies was held in the parlors of Engine Company No. 1 last night. J. E. Gratke was elected president, and M. B. Bogert secretary of the meeting. The principal business of the meeting was to formulate an address to the city council asking for an advance of ten per cent of the amounts now being received by the different companies, in order to make up the deficiency caused by the discount on warrants. Under present arrangements it is alleged that the department cannot possibly get along, and there was a lengthy discussion as to whether the department should not ask for a return of the discount on past warrants. It was concluded, however, that if the advance asked for was secured, the department would try to get along without further assistance. There was a large attendance at the meeting, every company being represented by all of its officers.

NATURE'S VOICE. Not worlds on worlds in phalanx deep Need we to prove a God is here. The daisy fresh from winter's sleep Tells of His love-in lines as clear. For who but He who arched the skies And pours the day-spring's living flood, Wondrous alike in all He does, Could rear the daisy's purple bud, Mold its green cup, its wiry stem, Its fringed borders nicely spin, And cut the gold embossed gem That set in silver gleams within, And fling it unrestrained and free O'er hill and dale and desert sod, That man, wherever he walks, may see At every step, the stamp of God.

Has made such deep cuts in the prices of goods that they don't need to make auction now to raise money. The people have found it out from the bargains they are getting at private sale. We are not yet out of the woods. We must raise $4,000 by the 19th of December, and to continue the rush so that the amount can easily be raised we will sell from 30 to 50 per cent below actual value until the amount is raised.
