LOOK OUT for fraudulent telegraphic news in the Astoria afternoon papers. None of these papers receives one line of outside news by telegraph.

Nils Nilsson, a native of Sweden, yesterday declared his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States in County Clerk Dunbar's office.

Ladies, you can save big money in your dress goods. The Low Price Store is selling at wholesale prices. Goods are selling fast, 431 Bond street.

Don't forget that the Low Price Store has the only perfect fitting wrappers, the handsomest line of jackets and capes, and is selling them at wholesale prices, 431 Bond street.

The Guild of the Chapel of Holy Innocents will hold their annual sale of fancy articles in the old school house in Upper Astoria on Saturday, November 21st, afternoon and evening.

The Harvest Queen yesterday lighted two hundred tons of the cargo of the Penthesilea and pulled that ship off the sands opposite Smith's Point where she was driven during the recent gale.

Dancing school at Fisher's Hall, Prof. Dege, for boys and girls, will begin today at 2 o'clock. Every child in the city should attend the first lesson. An evening class formed next week. Parents and guardians invited today.

Detective Hudson, who has been on the Portland police force for thirty-two years, was in the city yesterday. He says that in his opinion, as well as that of others in the business, the Ball kidnapping case at Kalama is a fake.

The meeting of the East End Improvement Club, advertised to be held in Alderbrook today, has been postponed until two weeks from today, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at which time business of importance will be transacted.

Col. E. C. Hughes and Frank Cook returned from their hunting trip yesterday. They brought with them a string of seventeen ducks and ninety-five snipe, the most of them being secured on Russian and Little Sea Islands.

California potatoes must be very cheap where they are grown, as they can be shipped to Astoria, freight, drayage and commission charges paid, profits made, and yet be sold here at 75 cents per sack. What is the matter with Clatsop potatoes?

A large number of prominent Republicans left for Portland on the Telephone, and others will leave on this morning's boat to attend the banquet to be given this evening in honor of the Hon. Sol. Hirsch, chairman of the Republican state committee.

It has been suggested by a shipping man of experience that a lightship should be placed in the lower Columbia harbor, upon the same theory as those now in use in the Clyde. With a lightship inside the harbor and one outside navigators would find it an easy matter to keep the channel in darkness as well as by daylight.

It was reported yesterday afternoon that the steamer Dalles City, running on the Upper Columbia, had a hard time of it yesterday in the heavy east wind. Captain Johnson, of the Dalles City, stated that it was the worst gale of wind that he had seen in a long time. The rocking of the boat was so great that it broke all the water pitchers on board.

Yesterday noon in the presence of a large number of people, Joe Leathers launched the new boat for Elmore's cannery, which he has been building during the last month or two. She is an improved twin screw steamer and is expected to equal anything of her class on the river. She will be used in the season as a cannery tender. After the launching the steamer was towed up to scow bay, and was christened the El Hurd.

The success of the "character" concert Thursday night has called forth many wishes that it be reproduced. The ladies and gentlemen who took part will not, however, comply with this unanimous request, but will after the holidays give another entertainment. Mrs. Erenham VanDusen is deserving of great credit for her efforts in making the affair a success, and also for the artistic manner in which she accompanied several of the singers.

Captain Matthews returned yesterday from Washington. He had been on a visit to the Sound country, but was laid out at Centralia by the washouts which made travel impossible on the railroad. While in the little Washington town the boys say the captain made a good record as a kicker. He kicked against the railroad, the town, the grub, and everything else. But it didn't do any good as he had to stay there until the track was repaired.

Captain Phil Johnson, the oldest river pilot on the Columbia river, was examined before the county court yesterday as to his sanity. He was pronounced insane. He will not, however, be taken to Salem, the local lodge of Odd Fellows, of which he is a member, having generously offered to care for him. Captain Johnson is not dangerously insane, but talks incoherently for hours at a time. He is 78 years of age and has lived in Astoria since 1848.

Captain Tom Crang, the popular Columbia river skipper, returned from his vacation yesterday, and is again in charge of the Telephone, Captain Larkins having gone to San Francisco on his vacation. Captain Crang started on a hunting trip but didn't like the storm, and even after having his gun loaded his hunting clothes on, he sat down at home and stayed there until it was time to report. He says that this is Larkins' first voyage on the ocean, and he expects to hear that the jolly pilot will be half way overboard before he gets to San Francisco.

Captain W. J. Riley, the well known sporting goods man of Portland, and George Johnson and Emil Amott, Skamokawa, arrived in the city yesterday on their annual elk hunt. This is the twentieth year that Captain Riley has gone hunting for elk. In his time he has killed forty-eight head, and says this will be his last hunt as he expects to bring his record up to fifty. The party will leave for Cement creek, Washington, on the Ilwaco this morning. The captain has his two friends with him in order to peek him out if he can't stand up himself, should his disappointment be too great.

The coroner's jury in the case of Anton Verange yesterday returned a verdict of suicide. No evidence was produced to indicate that the man had been murdered, or that he had committed suicide. At all events, if Verange took his own life he performed a feat heretofore considered impossible. According to Dr. Fulton's testimony the wound in Verange's left breast caused almost instant death; yet the knife cannot be found. It is indeed a strange case of suicide. Then, again, people don't kill themselves at Clifton; some one else believes them of the trouble. Verange is the sixth person who has met death at that place. When asked yesterday what constitutes murder on the lower Columbia, Coroner Pohl shrugged his shoulders.

NEW GOLD FIELDS.

Rich Developments Being Made Daily in the Trail Creek Country.

Gold is not only coming out of its hoarding places and again entering the channels of trade, but it is coming out of the ground in larger quantities than ever before. The latest Eldorado is the Trail Creek region in West Kootenai country, where the little town of Roseland is destined to become in the immediate future a second Cripple Creek.

Mr. Lincoln H. Pontius, a mining engineer and locator, Seattle, who is now visiting in the city, and who has just come from Trail Creek is enthusiastic over the prospects of that country and predicts for it one of the most remarkable eras of prosperity ever known in this country, even in the palmy days of '49 in California. Talking over the question of gold mining, Mr. Pontius said to an Astorian representative last evening:

"Yes, I am interested in gold mining and here is a piece of quartz which I have just brought with me from Trail Creek, having dug it with my own hands in the mine. I am interested in together with two of your well known citizens, about six miles from Roseland, the principal town of the Trail Creek region, lying in West Kootenai. Roseland is 121 miles north of Spokane and has now about six thousand people. In a year or two more it will be a second Cripple Creek. This whole country, which as you know is on the Upper Columbia river, is very rich in minerals and particularly in gold quartz. The formation is of a peculiar volcanic nature, and the greater part of the quartz is base, or smelting ore. Our mine, and the O. K. are about the only free mill-ore producers in the region. The quartz in this region will run from 350 to 125 per ton. There is of course more profit in the free milling quartz, but millions are being taken out now from the mines which produce the smelting ores. The LeRoy, War Eagle, and Center Star, besides a large number of other mines, are shipping ores now and in fact, the railroad is unable to carry all the products promptly to the smelters. The other day I saw over 500,000 worth of ore on the dumps at the LeRoy, awaiting shipment. Only a year or two ago one of the principal stockholders of the LeRoy was a poor man living in Spokane, having lost all his property during the hard times. He believed in Trail Creek, however, and held on to his stock. Today he is immensely wealthy. The city of Spokane is now almost out of debt from the product of these mines. The town is booming. There isn't an empty house in it. Rents have advanced and property has so appreciated that the mortgages against it are rapidly being lifted. "Our own mine, which includes three claims, is a magnificent ledge of eruptive origin and we can trace the same kind of quartz along the whole length of it. The peculiar formation of this whole territory has proved in every instance where a mine has been sunk that the deeper down you go the richer the mine becomes, showing that the ore has been ejected from below. This mining territory, unlike others in Colorado or California, is easy of access, either by railroad or by river. The country is not very rough, and travel either by horseback or by team is very comfortable. Our company, the Acme, will commence active operations early in the spring, although we have now a lot of men at work taking out ore. I am a crank, if you please, on this subject, but am as certain as you are living, that in another year or two Trail Creek will be known the world over, and those who, like the Spokane people, have invested there early, cannot fail to become immensely wealthy. Every claim has already been staked out and taken up."

A NEW CHRISTMAS IDEA.

The ladies of the M. E. Church have struck a popular method of securing articles for their bazaar to be held December 17 and 18. Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Walter and Mrs. Wm. Kinley, are making a thorough canvass of all lines of business and each business firm donating any article has the privilege of placing as large and conspicuous an advertising card as they choose upon their articles, advertising special Christmas and general lines of goods.

The plan has met with the most enthusiastic endorsement upon the part of all four business men, with only two or three exceptions, all having agreed to be represented at the bazaar. No admission will be charged and the bazaar will be open for two days and nights. Lunches will be served and a fine musical program will be rendered the last evening.
