The San Francisco Examiner is in gentasies over the defeat of the fundng bill. Whether the vote in congress the other day was the final death of this measure or not we do not know, but it is safe to say that if California is to have a railroad operated by the government in her especial interest. there are some other states in this country that propose to have something to say about it before the matter goes so far. Nine years ago an internal revenue tax was imposed on oleomargarine, are sick headache, heartburn, nausea, There was no pretense that the tax was at that time. It was simply done at the demand of the dairymen, because the extended use of oleomargarine threat-ture of the new product. But the nine are drifting on the coast of disease, People prefer good oleomargarine to poor butter. The first official report of the internal revenue department on this product was for 1888, which showed that 32,667,755 pounds were made and sold that year. In 1893 it had risen to 65,961,775 pounds-about double that of the first year under the tax. The tide begin to turn in 1895, when the total product was 53,264,475 pounds. For the fiscal year ended June 30 last, it was only 50,853,000 pounds. There is but one explanation of this-that the increased production of oleomargarine forced down the price of butter, and that this diminished consumption of the artificial product.

The New York Tribune is generally a pretty good guide for the rural Republican press to follow on national questhat the treaty is all right. There are, however, two or three reasons why those who are Republicans from conviction, and who like to exercise the independence of thought which is and death. finally adopted. In the first place, it is not easy to overcome the traditional deference which most people in this country have always paid to George Washington's warning against entangling alliances with foreign governments; for however much Mr. Olney and other friends of the treaty may deny that construction, the treaty unquestionably tends to commit us to an alliance both offensive and defensive with Great Britain, and when the occaation arises it is this interpretation which will be contended for and perhaps ultimately conceded to it. Another reason why an old fashioned Republican is apt to shake his head over the trenty is the effect it must have in divorcing the friendly relations subsisting so long between this country and Russia; and it does not help to fering men quiet this view of the case, when it is noticed that some of the men who ERIE MEDICAL CO., BUFFALO.N.Y.
