A "SAILOR MAN'S" POINT OF VIEW

Astoria's Future as a Shipping Port Assured With Right Conditions.

NO SHIP WILL GO UP A RIVER

For Cargo When It Can Be Had Cheaper Only Ten Miles From Sea—Can't Kick Against the Pricks.

"Captain Corkhill, of the British ship Crown of India, now at Astoria, has been interviewed by the Astorian, which is at present agitating the building of a seaway for the fishing smacks to make fast to. Captain Corkhill is very diplomatic, and in a column interview, said among other things:

"Shipmasters would consider it a blessing if they can find their loading ten miles from sea at little or no towing expense. You can readily understand, also, that by the reduction in time and towage necessary for a ship to load in Portland or on the Sound or in San Francisco, there will be a corresponding reduction in the rates of chartering and marine insurance. This will have two effects. The farmer will get a better price for his wheat, and the ship-owner a better profit in his business."

"Considering the fact that the Crown of India is now offering at a charter rate so low that a corresponding reduction of any other kind of a reduction would not leave profit enough to buy line juice and salt horse for the crew, it is a trifling difficulty to understand where the marvelous benefit to the ship-owner is coming from. Her owners are willing to pay towage and pilot-age to Portland, and charter her for considerably less than 20 shillings per ton, and the port that advertises a lower rate than that as one of her features, will hardly succeed in drawing the fleets of the world to her seaward harbor. Captain Corkhill either talked too much or too little."

To a man up a tree the above local editorial of the Daily Oregonian of the 21st inst., sounds like the wall of a living swan. Every ten-year-old boy who has gone to school and is posted knows that when the conditions outlined by Captain Corkhill become facts and Astoria is in position to load wheat onto deep sea vessels, that Portland must cease to be a port of shipment, to any great extent. No master of a deepsea vessel is going to risk his ship by towing her one hundred miles up a tortuous and narrow river channel to Portland at heavy expense when he can load his cargo at Astoria, with little or no towage charges to pay, and under conditions which will reduce his insurance. The writer of the article quoted knows as well as anyone what are the facts and he also knows that the statements made are misleading. Matters are not yet completed for the loading of ships at Astoria, and until they are it will not be possible for deepsea vessels to receive their cargoes at Astoria.
When the conditions are ripe it will be found that Captain Corkhill's predictions will be more than fulfilled. Not only will deepsea vessels tie up to As-toria's seawall if she builds one, but the fishing "smacks" will also find dockage there as well as Oriental steamers. The state of Oregon can not afford very much longer to pay out $500,000 a year to keep the channel of the Columbia deep enough for large ships to use it at all seasons of the year, nor can the United States government rightfully appropriate the money of the people for the maintenance of an interior channel or canal.
If there was no harbor at Astoria and none could be created there, while one might be maintained at Portland, even at high expense, conditions would be changed. But that such is not the case is only too well known to the Oregonian writer. Portland business men fully realize the situation, and are only too anxious, when the time comes, to plant their surplus money at the growing port at the mouth of the river.
It is impossible to kick against the pricks. Oregon for Oregon; Portland for what she is and always will be, the financial center of the state. Let As-toria be what she is designed to be, the shipping port of the Northwest.

When seen yesterday Captain Cork-hill said that he had read the article in the Oregonian, but had nothing to say further than to reiterate his former statements. "I did not know that it was striking the people of Portland in so vital a part. But they must know, as others do, that what I said and others endorse, is but the truth.
I want to deny one thing, most emphatically. So far as I am concerned personally, and so far as any information I have from my own eyes goes, we have not offered at any time to go to Portland and take on a cargo at 20 shillings per ton or less. On the contrary I have made arrangements to remain in this port an indefinite length of time awaiting better charter rates.
I came here under old conditions, insurance rates being high, and anticipating the necessity of paying extensive towage rates to and from Portland.
Had you your seawall built here and your railroad in operation, with a line of barges running between here and the interior through the newly opened Cascade locks, I am safe in saying there is not a shipmaster afloat who would not prefer to take his cargo in Astoria, only ten miles from sea. When I was talking the other day it was from a sailor man's point of view, and I still say that, from a sailor man's point of view, Astoria is the port and is destined to be as far ahead of Portland as a shipping port as the sun is above the stars. Why, I would rather take $1 per ton less and load at As-toria than take the chances to my ship of going up the river to Portland for a cargo. Mind you, now, I am only speaking from a sailor man's point of view. I am not trying to run down Portland or its business. It was on my former visit the great business center of this state, and you tell me it is now, and probably always will be, but common sense must show that with the proper conditions prevailing at As-toria, this must be the shipping port of the Northwest coast. You have everything to make it such if you get the towage here which we want to load. I will say again, from a sailor man's point of view, that when you do get your products shipped here and adequate docks or a seawall at which we can load, you will find that my former statements will be found true in the main. I was not then talking of present conditions."

SALEM NEWS.

Salem, January 19.—(Special Correspondent Astorian.)—Many bills have been prepared and will be introduced in the senate changing the law in regard to fisheries. It is probable, however, that none of them will become laws in either form or substance as introduced. Chairman Reed, of the committee on fishing industries, was seen by an Astorian representative, and spoke freely on the subject. Senator Reed is a member from Douglas county and is a cannyman of well known reputation. He says that the committee will endeavor to prepare one general bill that will cover all the provisions of all the bills, striking out conflicting portions and preserving those features that seem to be for the best interest of all. Some of the bills prepared are almost exclusively favorable to fishermen, while others are favorable to cannerymen; some seek to give advantage to certain fishing grounds while others will favor other portions of the state, where fishing is an industry. The object of the committee will be to ascertain the needs and wishes of those interested and recommend a bill that will be just to all and partial to none.
There seems to be a prevailing opinion that there should be at least the same limitation upon fishing that there is upon voting; that only qualified voters be allowed to fish in the waters of this state. Some are inclined to favor a more strict limitation but the committee will probably not deem it necessary or advisable.

As there is to be a provision in the general bill that will be recommended providing for an appropriation, this will make it necessary that the bill be first introduced in the house of representatives, and there will consequently be a delay occasioned by the failure of the house to organize. Nothing definite can be known yet as to what will be the provisions of the fishing bill. If the house delays organization much longer the work of the committee will be so crowded that due consideration can not be given to the measures proposed, and a faulty law is likely to be the result. The members of the committee and especially the chairman, are pleased to receive suggestions and to have those interested and informed upon the subject express their opinions.

SCHOONER AND CREW.

Lost in Sight of Hundreds of People Unable to Render Assistance.

Special to the Astorian.
New York, January 21.—The three-masted schooner Nahum Chapin, of Rockland, Maine, coal laden from Baltimore to Boston, went ashore near Quogue, Long Island, early this morning and her entire crew, consisting of nine men, was lost in sight of hundreds of people who had gathered on the beach, but were powerless to render assistance.

CARNEGIE TALKS.

Johnstown, Pa., January 21.—Andrew Carnegie is the guest of Johnstown this evening, and his reception on the arrival of the special train from Pittsburg was a cordial and hearty tribute of honor by a grateful people. The reception was prompted by the fact Carnegie rebuilt the public library here after the flood and was the largest contributor to the relief fund. In the course of Carnegie's address in response he spoke of the business depression of the past three years, which he attributed to the general agitation against the gold standard.

OREGON AHEAD.

Washington, January 21.—The war department has just published the results of rifle, carbine and revolver firing of all the troops of the army during the past year. The table shows the department of the Columbia was first with rifles at 200, 300, 500, 600 and 800 yards.

ORGANIZATION EFFECTED AT LAST

Benson Men Get in Their Work and Are Sworn In.

NO TRAGEDIES PERPETRATED

Temporary Speaker Davis Still Claims to Be in Power—Complications Arise in the Senate.

Special to the Astorian.
Salem, Oregon, January 21.—Two o'clock was the hour set by the Benson men for organization of the lower house, with a majority numbering thirty-one, and the entire program was carried out with no friction. The Benson men were early in their seats. So were two Democrats, Gratke, of Clatsop, and Misener, of Crook. Riddle, Republican, and Speaker Davis were also present, assuring an attendance of more than thirty-one.

At 2 o'clock, when Speaker Davis called the members to order, an audible rustle of expectancy passed around the house. The speaker directed Clerk Moody to call the roll, which showed 33 present and 27 absent. The first formal move of the Benson men was made by Brown, who addressed Speaker Davis, and, being recognized, said:
"We have sat here for ten days in our effort to organize this house; but the rulings of the temporary speaker have at all times been adverse to the possibility of organization. If he has been conscientious in his ruling I respect him." Brown then offered a formal resolution, as follows:

"Resolved, That the present temporary speaker, Mr. E. J. Davis, be and he is hereby removed; and that Dr. J.
N. Smith be and he is hereby elected speaker pro tem in his stead; second, that E. R. Lake and Mr. F. S. Stanley be and they are hereby appointed a committee to escort Dr. J. N. Smith to the speaker's chair."

"We have serious business to do," Brown said.
"Mr. Speaker," interrupted Riddle, of Douglas, addressing Davis, "I desire to enter an emphatic protest against this proceeding. I am against this resolution."

He then read an opinion of Hon.
George H. Williams against the legality of the proceeding. Riddle then replied:

"I will ask the speaker to put the question," said Brown, "although I realize that this is a delicate matter for him."

"This whole proceeding is out of order," replied Davis, coolly, "and I decline to put the question."

"I will put the question," continued Brown. "All who favor the resolution will say 'aye.'"

There was a loud chorus of "ayes."
"Those opposed, no."
Several voices of "no" came from the lobby.

"Carried," cried Brown.
Smith was marched up beside Speaker Davis. When he was opposite the speaker, Smith, who is a very small man, nervously extended his hand to Davis, who is quite tall, and there was an awkward handshake. The crowd breathed sighs of relief and smiled. There was to be no tragedy. Smith then asked the further pleasure of the house, and Somers offered a resolution removing the temporary clerk, Moody, and appointing R. R. Hays, the Benson caucus nominee. Smith put the motion and it was declared carried.
Hays assumed the place beside Clerk Moody.

Thomas, of Multnomah, then called for the report of the committee on credentials. Clerk Hays responded that he could find no report.

"Do I understand that Clerk Moody declines to furnish the report?" demanded Thomas.

"I have made no declaration or affirmation," responded Moody. "Whatever I am directed to do by Speaker Davis I'll do."

"All these proceedings are out of order," said Speaker Davis. "I direct the chief clerk not to surrender the report." Thomas then announced that he had a report ready. He submitted a report signed by himself and Stanley, of the original committee on credentials, declaring thirty-one members entitled to seats. These included all present except Speaker Davis. The report was declared adopted. The committee returned and soon reappeared accompanied by Chief Justice Moore, who swore in the members. Conn then offered a resolution to proceed with permanent organization, which was carried.

Speaker Somers placed in nomination H. L. Benson, of Josephine, Benson received 28 votes, Benson, Gratke and Misener voting blank. Speaker Davis name was not called. Benson assuming the gavel, made a short speech of thanks. Chief Justice Moore then swore him in.

The following officers were then elected:

Assistant chief clerk, H. S. Jordan.
Reading clerk, Frank Motter.
Calendar clerk, E. W. Bartlett.
Sergeant-at-arms, H. W. Murphy.
Doorkeeper, S. W. White (colored).
These were Benson caucus nominees.
There was some discussion as to the proper way to notify the senate of the house organization, but it was finally settled by the adoption of a resolution by Brown, appointing a committee of two for the senate and three for the house to notify the governor that the senate and house were organized and ready for business. On motion of Brown, the Benson house then adjourned till 10 o'clock tomorrow. Speaker Davis then recognized Riddle, who had returned, and made a motion to adjourn. He put the motion and declared the house adjourned till 9:30 tomorrow.

The deadlock on organization in the house has been transferred to the senate. The Mitchell men will tomorrow begin the fight in that body for the recognition of the house organized today. In the event that the senate should not recognize them, they claim that since they have created a de facto house they can now proceed to vote for United States senator, and that their nominee will be seated. If the senate should not recognize the Benson house the situation in the senate would only be a senate and house not working in harmony. Notwithstanding this they claim that the Mitchell men in the senate can enter into joint convention with the members of the Benson house and vote for United States senator. To support this position they quote the following telegram received today from United States Senator McBride by Senator Mitchell:

"Senators Platt, Vilas, Thurston, and others concur in Senator Hoar's opinion that two thirds of those members of the house who have qualified constitute a quorum of the house and that the qualified members of the house can enter into joint assembly with members of the senate and lawfully elect a United States senator. You will remember that Dubois was elected on the second Tuesday of the session, although one of the houses had only a so-called temporary organization on the first Monday."

WILL BE SETTLED

In Caucus, and Interests in Washington's Senator Flags.

Olympia, January 21.—Three ballots were taken for United States senator in joint session today without any material change from yesterday.

The legislative hall was again packed by a curious crowd and there was a belief that some decided change would occur in the Populist ranks, but the different Populist candidates finished in relatively the same position as the day before. Considerable flirting with votes was indulged in but this was done without serious intention.
Judge Turner increased his strength to 24 votes, and Senator Squire increased to four votes on the last ballot as against two yesterday. This is not considered important as one of the votes was cast by Williams, who was sick yesterday. After the second ballot a motion was made to adjourn, and although the roll call was demanded, the motion was defeated by a large majority. After the third ballot a similar motion prevailed by unanimous vote. The fact that there is a decided feeling that the matter will be settled in caucus within a few days detracts interest from the vote in the session.

PENDLETON'S SHORTAGE.

Pendleton, January 21.—A personal friend of Geo. R. Lash said today that others were implicated in causing the shortages in the city funds now charged to him alone. Rumors on the streets make the situation appear ugly.
The city council appointed Frank B.
Clifton to make a thorough search of all the city books, preparatory to inaugurating a complete reform in the manner of keeping the municipal accounts. A member of the council remarks that there would be no surprise at a total shortage of $10,000 when all the departments of the city government are gone through. Recorder Lash is yet confined with officers patrolling before his residence.

TO RESCUE THE WOMEN.

San Francisco, January 21.—The story published recently in a local paper to the effect that the Island of St.
Johns, in the South Seas, was inhabited solely by women who were plining for husbands, has borne fruit in the incorporation today of the "United Brethren of the South Sea Islands." The capital stock has been placed at $20,000 and already over thirty men have subscribed.

THE TILLAMOOK TRIBE.

Washington, January 21.—Representative Fisher from the committee on Indian affairs, today submitted a report on the bill appropriating $10,500 to make final settlement with the Nehalem band of the Tillamook tribe of Indians of Oregon for ceded lands.

MURDERS IN SOUTH AFRICA

Nine Officers of British Expedition to Benin Killed in Cold Blood.

WELL NAMED CITY OF BLOOD

Six British Warships Dispatched to the Scene—Munitions of War Will Follow at Once.

London, January 21.—The Evening News this afternoon has a dispatch from Lagos, the capital of the British West African Colony of that name, giving the details of the massacre of the British expedition under Consul J.
R. Phillips, by the inhabitants of Benin City, early in the present month.

The party consisted of Consul General Phillips, Major P. R. G. Copeland, Crawford, deputy commissioner, and vice consul in the Niger Coast protectorate, and adjoining native territory; Capt. Boissarange, commander of the Niger Coast protectorate forces; Capt.
Malling, of the 16th Lancers, and officer of the Niger Coast protectorate forces; R. F. Locke, of the consular staff; H. C. Campbell, of the consular staff; Dr. H. Elliott, medical officer, and Messrs. Powers and Gordon, civilians, and 200 native carriers.

The party were unarmed and were proceeding to Benin City in order to make request for a conference with King Obboah, in regard to increasing trading facilities with that part of Africa. A few miles up the river the expedition landed. Fifteen miles from Benin City the carriers were sent ahead through the dense jungle, the officers following. Five miles from Benin City the officers suddenly came upon a narrow defile which was filled with the dead carriers who were fearfully mutated. Almost immediately afterwards the officers and their servants were surrounded and attacked by hundreds of savages, and in a few minutes all the members of the party, excepting Boissarange and Locke were killed. Captain Boissarange and his companion, after wandering in the bushes for a week succeeded in reaching New Benin, wounded and exhausted, bringing the first authentic news of the affair. The affair is looked upon as deserving a punitive expedition. Benin City is known as the "City of Blood," on account of its being the seat of the Fetich priests of that part of Africa, and because human sacrifices are of frequent occurrence.

Six British warships have already been dispatched to the entrance of the river Benin. British officers left Liverpool for the same coast Saturday and munitions of war will follow Saturday next.

AFFAIRS IN CUBA.

Cincinnati, January 21.—A Commercial Tribune special from Havana says: Emanuel Silvero, a wounded Cuban, arrived here tonight from Key West, having escaped from Cuba on a fishing vessel. He comes from the field near Artemisa. He states that General Rivera is sadly in need of ammunition and arms. His men are short of cartridges. He has over 3000 men that could be used had they arms. A machete is the only weapon that hundreds are armed with. In ambuscade the machete is the Cuban weapon and is a terrible one.

He confirms the story of January 9 when a Spanish band came upon a Cuban hospital near San Cristobal, containing 500 wounded insurgents, and put to death all of them, even the attending physicians.

Cot. San Martin's troops are raiding all that section, though very seldom going into the hills near Rivera's camp.
One of his bands was ambushed two weeks ago and out of forty-five men in it only three escaped. They are blood thirsty and are credited with more murders of women and pacificos than any other band.

THE CUBAN LEAGUE.

New York, January 21.—The Cuban League of the United States is organizing branch leagues in every town or city in this country of 5000 or more inhabitants. There are 750 such towns and cities in the United States. The object of the league is to call forth an expression of unanimous sentiment of the American people in favor of Cuban independence. The effort is also being made to secure the passage of a resolution in every state legislature demanding that such action should be taken by the government as will end the war in Cuba and insure the independence of the island.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.
