AROUND TOWN.

I ask myself, what should I do? I hear wise counsel in reply, And wonder if I'm one or two, And what is truly meant by I.

I am not lonely when alone, For when this other self comes nigh, And we exchange thoughts all our own, In happiest praise, myself and I.

No jealous moods gives us unrest; I love the world, and when I try To make it brighter and more blest,

We're best of friends, myself and I. -Jane Ellis.

EQUITABLE'S FINANCIAL STATEMENT

It is refreshing in these times to read the statement of any concern showing such great financial strength as that exhibited in the annual statement of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, published today on the first page.

Throughout the entire statement the amounts are simply colossal, but the figures that must be most interesting to the policy holders of the society are those which show the surplus over all liabilities, $43,277,179. There are other the city can do nothing better at the ing: Assets, $216,773,947; outstanding assurance, $915,102,070; income, $45,011, 084 and many others that show the Immense business done by this society These are all interesting, by reason immensity, but, after all, the foundation stone of the strength of a life assurance company, as of any other necessary as in that of a life assurance company. The contracts issued by these companies extend into the far future, and, although they may mature tomorrow, yet on the other hand the company may not be called upon to pay the claim for ten, twenty or thirty years, or even more. This being the case, absolute security should be the great consideration to anyone contemplating assurance, and it must certainly be difficult to find a contract more se-
