TO READERS.—The "Daily Astorian" contains twice as much reading matter as any other paper published in Astoria. It is the only paper that presents its readers with a daily telegraphic report.

State of Oregon, County of Clatsop. We, the undersigned, local managers respectively of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies, hereby certify that the "Daily Astorian" is the only paper published in Astoria which now receives, or at any time during the control of said offices has received, a telegraphic press report.

A queries addressed letter was placed on the Telephone last night. Its inscription was as follows: "Rev. Al. McMillis, pastor church Telephone."

The arrival in the city yesterday of a steamer load of railroad ties was doubtless the beginning of the fulfilling of the contracts recently let for 140,000 ties.

Another one of those popular whist parties will be given by Alert Hook & Laddie Company in their parlors next Wednesday evening, to aid in the maintenance of the organization.

Some people do not know that the United States senate is an ever-existing body under the national constitution, and has never adjourned since the time of Washington.

A committee has been appointed to investigate the weather bureau, and, if necessary, expedite its removal from the city. They say there has been too much weather in Astoria of late.

The headlines in the Portland Evening Telegram of the 10th misled a number of Astoria readers as to the sessions of the United States senate, having stated that that body adjourned on the 10th sine die.

Mr. J. G. Lewis, the Frankfort sturgeon fisher, in the gale of Wednesday night, was blown clear across the river in his skiff, landing in Astoria. Yesterday he shook hands with some of his old friends here, and returned home.

During the gale of Wednesday night both telegraph lines experienced considerable trouble. The Postal line was entirely useless for a few hours, and the Western Union had considerable difficulty in keeping up communication with Portland.

The "Union Fishermen's Co-operative Packing Company," by its board of directors, yesterday filed additional articles of incorporation whereby the company is empowered to buy and sell real estate and execute notes and mortgages.

The case of George Wroten, charged with larceny by bailiff, will come up in the justice's court this morning. It appears that George Hill turned over to Wroten several wedges and a sledge, which Wroten now refuses to give up; hence the suit.

In the county clerk's office yesterday the Olsen Boom Company filed articles of incorporation. The company is a logging affair, and the incorporators are Ben F. Olsen, John Anderson, T. Olsen, Luther Campbell and Sydney Campbell. The capital stock is placed at $1,000, divided into ten shares.

Real estate men report that inquiries are coming in daily from the East in regard to Astoria property, and the opportunities of investment here. A Nebraska real estate man, in company with a lumber merchant, visited Astoria the other day, and expressed their determination to return and do business here.

The Astoria Football Club will receive the bulletins from Carson just as soon as the big battle commences, and will post them in the club room for the inspection of all holders of tickets. The entertainment to be given by the club will take place in the evening. One ticket will admit the holder both afternoon and evening.

A Cutting Affair.—At W. J. H. B. Swartward, business manager of the Kewley Institute of Salem, is in the city in the interest of the work. He can be found at the Occident Hotel for the next week or ten days, where he will be pleased to meet those who wish to learn of the Kewley treatment for liquor, opium and tobacco habits. Leave name and address for private interview, which are always strictly confidential.

A few nights ago a well known society young man of this city fell through the window of an Eleventh street cafe. The cause of the accident is not known. When he heard the crash of breaking glass, his "feet got cold," and he started to run. A policeman, who was standing by, took in the performance, and running after the titled gentleman, captured him. How the affair was squared is the young man's business.

Progress—progress everywhere. A visitor from Albany, Oregon said yesterday that just before leaving for Astoria he noticed in the railroad yards at that point, several handsome new standard 60,000-pound box freight cars, bearing the inscription on their sides, "Astoria & Columbia River Railroad." It is evident that the railroad company is rapidly getting ready to do business, and to show that it is onto business methods, these freight cars came west from the factories loaded with merchandise, thus not only saving the cost of transportation of the cars themselves, but earning a handsome profit for the A. & C. It is probable that the cars will be used on the Oregon Central until the completion of the Astoria road.

The police department is strictly enforcing the city ordinance prohibiting minors from frequenting saloons and dance halls on the Bowery. To lessen the humiliation to which a young man is necessarily subjected when told that he is too young to take in the sights

The proprietors of the several dance halls approach the youthful would-be sport saying, "Have you heard the news?" Yes, he has heard it, and generally closes the door from the outside. The other night a young gentleman dropped into one of the dance halls to "see what was going on." He had a pretty, dark moustache, and might, under favorable circumstances, be taken for a man. Soon after a policeman dropped in. The cop said nothing to the boy, but the latter gave him a mean volume of solid nonpareil. The boy blew out in a hurry, greatly to the amusement of those who witnessed the performance.

In the circuit court yesterday the case against William Armstrong, charged with rape, was the only case on the docket. It occupied the greater part of the day. An effort was made by the defense to exclude spectators from the court room, which was crowded, but Judge McBride refused to close the doors. The testimony was until to be heard, and at times actually revolting. At 4:20 Deputy District Attorney Allen addressed the jury for the prosecution, after which adjournment was taken till 7:30. Last night arguments were concluded and the case went to the jury. Mr. Allen's argument was strong, and no doubt had much influence with the jury. He assisted District Attorney Gleason, who ably conducted the prosecution. Messrs. Fulton Bros and Smith Bros, as ably represented the defense. In the case of F. S. Cornelius vs. Thomas F. Lethenbauer et al., Frank Spittie was appointed guardian ad litem, and a decree given to plaintiff. In the suit of Benjamin Young vs. Mary H. Lethenbauer et al., a decree of foreclosure was entered, as prayed for. The suit of Samuel Oliver vs. David Depees was remanded to the United States circuit court.

EUCHE and DANCING. The Misses Tallant entertained their many friends last evening at their handsome residence on Grand avenue. Seven handed euche, games and dancing occupied the hours until midnight. Among the guests were the Misses Reed, Upehar, Sherman, Smith, Lionberger, Holden, Bennett, McKean, Heilborn, Nellie Nickerson, Nora Nickerson, Woods, Crang, Sayre, Lewis, and the Messrs. Grover, Shields, Calendari, Smith, Bryce, Carruthers, Prall, Heilborn, Wilkinson, Gibson, Rogers, Sherman, Badollet, Bennett, Hawes and Higgins.

SOMETHING NEW. Old Simon, the Clatsop County Farmer, at It Again. The farmers of Clatsop county are evidently on the invent. Numerous labor-saving machines have recently been patented by them. The other day an Astorian representative met his old friend Simon, the inventor of the patent Clatsop county butter-maker and aluminum mud-tyers on one of his latest rigs, making his way to the business part of town. This time Simon had on his patent sled a load of brick. Struck with the queer appearance of the load, which looked to be somewhat bespattered with mud, the reporter asked him if it paid to haul bricks over Clatsop roads this time of the year, as it was evident this load had come a long distance. With a twinkle in his eye the old man said, "You see, there is a secret in this here brick business. It only depends on the way you handle and do my kind of business to make it pay. I am certain that very few men would make this brick business pay, if they went at it in an ordinary way. In any business, a man must watch his opportunity. I saw an opportunity in the deplorable condition of our county roads, as they are at present and have been all through the winter. They reminded me very much of former years when I used to work in a brickyard. There we had several horses to grind the clay fine in a sort of mill. I also knew that the soil of Clatsop county was very well adapted for the manufacture of bricks, and on some of the sandstone bluffs, I found was also mixed with the clay in the road, on account of the trampling of the horses and the cutting done by the wagon wheels to about the proper consistency for the making of good brick. With this idea I went to work with a will, making bricks from the mud in the road, and succeeded, jumping the intervals of good weather and spare time from my farm work, in making quite a lot. The firing of the bricks, of course, took much labor, but all along the road there is plenty of available timber, the cutting of which improved the road, and I used this timber along the way, besides that on my farm, which in the course of events would have to be cut anyway to clear the land.

"This lot of bricks now on my shelf is my first trial at this new industry. They are not extra good, but I believe I can improve on them later on." The bricks looked like ordinary ones good enough for any common purpose, and the reporter gazed at the man as he wended his way down the street with his team, with the thought that a few more such men might soon put Astoria and Clatsop county in the front rank of communities.

ORDINANCE NO. 225. An Ordinance Prohibiting Expectoration or Spitting Upon the Streets of the City of Astoria.

Whereas, the health of the City of Astoria and inhabitants thereof are daily endangered by microbes or germs of disease arising from saliva caused by expectoration or spitting upon the public streets of the City of Astoria, tending to impair the health of the inhabitants of said city and causing the spread of contagious diseases; now, therefore,

The City of Astoria does ordain as follows: Section 1.—It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to expectorate or spit upon the sidewalks of the city or upon the floor or carpets of any public hall, meeting house, assembly room, or upon the floor of any street cars.

Section 2.—Any person violating the provisions of this ordinance shall, upon conviction before the auditor and police judge, be fined not less than $2 nor more than $10, or by imprisonment in the city jail not exceeding five days.

Section 3.—It shall be the duty of the chief of police and each police officer to see that the provisions of this ordinance are strictly enforced.

Passed the common council March 6, 1897. Approved March 10, 1897. FRANK J. TAYLOR, Mayor. ATTEST: H. E. NELSON, Auditor and Police Judge.

OBITUARY. Yesterday afternoon, a large concourse of friends and relatives attended the funeral services of the late Leander Brown, held at the chapel at Elmors's cannery in Uniontown. The funeral was one of the largest ever held in Uniontown. The Finnish Brotherhood and the Finnish Temperance Society attended with a full force of members. Services were conducted under the auspices of the Finnish Brotherhood. Leander Brown was one of the oldest, most respected, and best known fishermen in the employ of Elmors's cannery. His taking off was not unexpected, as he had been sick for some thirteen weeks with consumption. Death came at 11:30 o'clock Tuesday night, and a wife and child remain to mourn the loss of a kind husband and father.

The remains of Mr. Brown were buried yesterday afternoon at Greenwood, the steamer Electric and Mayflower carrying the mourners and funeral cortege. All who know Mr. Brown sincerely mourn the loss of a good man and an honest citizen.
