Supplying sugar to the world must be a profitable business. Our own average cash payment for foreign sugar of about $274,000 every day in the year is proof enough that there is a great deal of money in it from one customer alone This stream of treasure should be diverted to our own farmers and factory workers, and in the course of time this country should reach a secure place as a heavy exporter of SUGER. Our production of beet sugar be tween 1880 and 1896 increased from 500 tons to 40,000 tons. This is not much, but it is a beginning. One important point to be kept in mind is that an American consumes two or three times as much sugar as a German or a Frenchman. Sugar here is considered a necessity, not a luxury, and our abundant and varied crops of fruit require its free use. The culture of the sugar best will be quickly mastered by our farmers.
