There is undoubtedly more than a slight cause for the excitement in the senate over the Cuban question. If the suppressed reports in the state department are one half as bad as surmised the situation is certainly a grave one, and calls for immediate action on the part of the government for protection of American citizens. But notwithstanding the gravity of the matter, the question should be stripped of all sensational features and trumped up, fictitious sympathy on the part of would be agitators and misplaced confidence on the part of congressmen. President McKinley and the secretary of state can be trusted to deal wisely with the problem, and in the meantime it is imperative that the press and the people of the United States keep cool and cease from all bombastic demonstrations and braggadocio threats. The executive will deal with the matter as may be necessary to secure to United States citizens all the rights to which they are entitled at the hands of Spain in Cuba, or any other country. To rush headlong into complications at the instance of hot headed, jingo congressmen would be the sheerest folly, of which the senate nor the president will be guilty.

The progressive decline in the value of silver bullion the world over has at last compelled Peru to take decisive steps to stop the depreciation of her currency, which is on the silver basis. On May 10 the coinage of silver at the Peruvian mines ceased entirely, and no silver bullion will be received at the mint. The importation of silver coin is prohibited, except it be converted into bullion, which, of course, can not be coined. This prevents any increase of the volume of silver coins through importation. The amount of silver coin brought into Peru by travelers is also stringently limited. The unit of Peruvian money is the sol, whose face value is about 92 cents of our money. Its actual value is now 46.8 cents. The government of Peru is trying to prevent any further depreciation by adopting the method in vogue in France for the past twenty years, and which the United States has used since 1893—to limit the volume of silver, thus preventing its fluctuation in value with the price of silver bullion. Yet there are men in the United States who would bring upon this country the calamity of a fluctuating currency, which always is ruinous to the workingmen and farming community, in pursuance of the theory that the government stamp confers value!

RUSSIA'S WAITING GAME.

Col. W. F. Mason McCarty, in the May number of the North American Review, discusses the plans and purposes of Russia in a very interesting as well as very timely paper. He realizes fully the vast scope of Russian diplomacy and the long reach into the distant future which her presumed policy involves.

The definite end toward which Russia is working, according to Col. McCarty, is to make the empire a great commercial and industrial power—to connect Eastern Asia by the trans-Siberian railway, and thus populate the enormous plains of Siberia from the crowded populations of Southeastern Asia; and to finish up her transcontinental line by extending it westward to Constantinople, making that city Russia's commercial capital.

We have no doubt that this is the line along which the St. Petersburg cabinet is working. It is a vast scheme, but Russia is not only a great country territorily considered, as every one knows, but it is a greater nation in the financial and commercial way than the world generally supposes. From the days of Peter the Great, the obtaining of Constantinople, and consequently a free outlet to Russian commerce via the Black Sea and the Dardanelles, has been a known object of Russian ambition. Those conversant with European history for the past forty years know how surely, if slowly, she has been getting nearer and nearer the coveted goal.

That the Bear of the North will come still nearer the achievement of this purpose through the Graeco-Turkish war, is certain, though how it will be accomplished is still unknown. It seemed probable at first that Russia might at the proper time join Greece and reach her aim directly. This she has not done. This simply means that she prefers on indirect and possibly a longer but safer road to the goal of her desires than through the provocation of a general European conflict.

PROTECT THE SYSTEM FROM MALARIA.

It is possible to do this even in regions of country where miasma is most rife, and where the periodic fevers which it causes assume their most formidable types. The immense popularity of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is very largely attributable to the fact fact of its efficacy as a remedy for chills and fever, bilious remittent, and as a preventive of the various forms of malarial disease. In those portions of the West and South where complaints of this nature prevail, and in the tropics, it is particularly esteemed for the protective influence which it exerts; and it has been very widely adopted as a substitute for the dangerous and comparatively inefficient alkaloid, sulphate of quinine. Physicians have not been among the last to concede its merits, and the emphatic professional indorsements which it has received have added to the reputation it has obtained at home and abroad.

A foul breath is one of the greatest afflictions that a man or woman can have. An affliction not only to themselves, but to those with whom they come in contact. A foul breath is a great discourager of affection. It would be more so if people only realized just what bad breath means. Bad breath is one of the symptoms of constipation. Some of the other symptons are sour stomache, loss of appetite, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, heartburn and distress after eating. These things mean indigestion. They lead to dyspepsia and worse things. They all start with constipation, and constipation is inexcusable because it can be sured—cured easily, quickly and permanently, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. The give nature just the little help that she needs. There is no case of biliousness, constipaton, indigestion, "hearburn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure.

THE BEST REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM.

From the Fairhaven (N. Y.) Register.

Mr. James Rowland, of this village, states that for twenty-five years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few nights ago she was in such pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had read of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and secured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr. Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the Balm thoroughly and in an hour's time was able to go to sleep. She now applies it whenever she feels an ache or a pain and finds that it always gives relief. He says that no medicine which she had used ever did her as much good. THE OBJECTION NOT GOOD.

There are people who have objections to advertising matter in the columns of a newspaper. The ground of objection is that they do not want to read advertisements. Now this objection is not good, for oftentimes these advertisements convey valuable information.
