A vigorous policy towards aliens has been adopted by the legislature of British Columbia. A petition has been or is about to be forwarded to the governor-general of Canada urging that if Canada should decide to join in the British treaty with Japan, it shall only be on condition that Canada shall reserve the power to restrict Japanese immigration into British Columbia, as it is claimed that the Japanese have excluded the whites almost entirely from the fisheries and lumber trade. An act has already been passed forbidding the employment of Chinese or Japanese in the mines.

According to late numbers of the London papers, the boom in seats to witness the jubilee has been succeeded by a slump, very few having been found to pay the prices for windows which their owners flattered themselves they would be able to exact. The truth says "that persons would be found willing to pay sums varying from $50 to $200 for a window along a line of six miles, was far too high an estimate of the wealth and of the folly of the community to be probable. The idea appears to have been that every American with more money than brains would take ship and arrive on our shores ready to pay any sum that might be demanded for one of these windows. But rich and silly Americans have arrived in their hundreds and not in their thousands, while as for English men and women, we do not believe that more than one or two thousand will be ready to pay over $1 per head for the sight of the jubilee procession."

Treasury officials seem to entertain no doubt that the tariff bill as reported to the senate will yield sufficient revenue for the needs of the government. Assistant Secretary Howell is quoted in an interview in a Washington journal as saying that while the revenue which it is estimated certain schedules will yield is less than that estimated under the same schedules in the house bill, there will be offsets in increases of $10,000,000 from the duty on tea and $15,000,000 from the duty on beer. He doubts whether the increased rate of duty on prepared opium will result in increasing the revenue. When the duty on opium was $2 per pound, in 1895, the quantity imported on which duty was paid was 67,723 pounds, valued at $137,454, and the duty amounted to $135,416, whereas, in 1896, when the duty was $6 per pound, there were 12,545 pounds imported, valued at $75,270, and the amount of duty was $75,270. The great difference in the quantity imported in the years mentioned is attributed to the fact that while the higher duty remained the article was constantly smuggled, so that the quantity which actually reached the country was much larger than the statistics of imports would show.

Mayor Taylor has done the right thing in calling out the people to take action in the matter of raising provision for a celebration of the Fourth of July. Portland already has arrangements perfected for a grand demonstration, and this year, of all others, Astoria should give vent to its patriotism. Not only is it incumbent upon our citizens to practically demonstrate to the rising generation the meaning of the day itself and help the boys to make all the noise they can—the thing of all others so dear to every boy's heart—and teach the hundreds of adults who live in Astoria and yet do not know what we hang out Old Glory for on that day; but every body this year 1897 can well afford to make all the noise money can buy. The long expected railroad is rapidly nearing completion; hundreds of men are busily engaged in new building work and manufactures; an era of unprecedented activity and the establishment of large enterprises has dawned; a prosperous fishing season promises to enrich the people, and the only fear is that Astorians will not be able to grasp the rapid changes promised in the next few months. There is plenty to make a noise about, besides the ever-present, always inspiring stars and stripes. Let there be a large meeting, a good committee, a rousing big subscription and a glorious Fourth that shall outshine all other Fourth in Astoria as the sun eclipses the moon.

The "American Economist" says: "It is the simplest thing in the world to make it more costly for imports to reach us in foreign ships than in American ships. It is one of the easiest and best ways in the world to open up new employment for American ships. It would be the quickest way of giving our shipbuilders something to do in their shipyards besides employing workmen to look after their idle property. It would create a demand for millions of tons of our iron ore. It would raise a demand for millions of feet of our timber. It would give employment to all of the manufacturing places between the raw product and the finished ship, besides the furnishing and provisioning of every vessel, and hundreds of thousands of American workmen would earn good wages."

We have a school of political economists in our country who held substantially that we never were so free from the rule of the people living on the other side of the Atlantic as to be at liberty to exercise our faculties for ourselves. They contend that we are tied up in the constitution of the United States with some self-inflicted disabilities, and must not do certain things because our fathers did not say we must and write it down, giving us a chance in an emergency to take care of ourselves. The number of things the democrats have always said we couldn't do under the constitution is astonishing to one familiar with the history of this country. But there is one thing to say for the fathers. They did not say the protection of American industry was unconstitutional, but rather stated that a tariff was levied for protection—actually the correct headline on the first protective tariff law. The escape from the motherly embraces of old England was too recent at that time to be misinterpreted. Since that day protection and nationality have gone together—the protection party has always been the national party, and the free trade party has always been the one which stood opposite to the idea of national greatness.

In one of this month's magazines a professor of meteorology gives some interesting facts about fog and frosts and suggests the possibility of dispelling fog by scientific means. It is known that fog may form in three different ways—first, when the air has been cooled by rapid radiation; second, when the cooling results from a mixture of different air currents, and, third, where a cooling has been caused by an uplifting of the air. The sea fogs come from a difference of temperature between the water and the air. Coast fogs are caused by damp air from the sea passing over the cooler land or are formed at sea, when there is some great area of high pressure. In California last year large quantities of fruits were saved by a process known as "fog-bulldozing." The newest and most effective method of preventing frost consists in the introduction of large amounts of moisture in the vaporous state. "When this vapor condenses, or, in other words, when fog is formed, an enormous amount of heat is given off, generally at the very height at which it is most needed. Fog and frost both occur when the skies are clear and little or no air stirring." Fog may be a blessing to fruit growers, but to sailors and travelers, it is frequently a source of annoyance and danger. "Whether vapor condenses as fine Scotch mist or coarse black fog is largely determined by the dust. If we can remove the dust from the air we have removed the nuclei of condensation. Five methods for removing dust have been suggested—filtration, settling, receding, calcining and electrification. The last named is thought to contain the greatest possibilities and the day is probably near at hand when electric fog-dispersers will be placed on ships, ferries and at all terminal depots and crowded thoroughfares.

Growing Children

One-third of all the children die before they are five years old. Most of them die of some wasting disease. They grow very slowly; keep thin in flesh; are fretful; food does not do them much good. You can't say they have any disease, yet they never prosper. A slight cold, or some stomach and bowel trouble takes them away easily.

SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is just the remedy for growing children. It makes hard flesh; sound flesh; not soft, flabby fat. It makes strong bones, healthy nerves. It changes poor children to children rich in prosperity. Book about it free for the asking. No substitute for Scott's Emulsion with Hypophosphites. What you know Scott's Emulsion will do. Get the genuine. For sale by all druggists at 50c. and $1.00. SCOTT & BOWNE, New York.

Fifty Years Ago.

This is the cradle in which grew that thought of a phylanthropic brain: A remedy that would make life new. For the multitudes that were racked with pain. 'Twas sarsaparilla, as made, you know by Ayer, some 50 years ago.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

was in its infancy half a century ago. To-day it doth "bestride the narrow world like a colossus." What is the secret of its power? Its cures! The number of them! The wonder of them! Imitators have followed it from the beginning of its success. They are still behind it. Wearing the only medal granted to sarsaparilla in the World's Fair of 1893, it points proudly to its record. Others imitate the remedy; they can't imitate the record!

THE BEST REMEDY FOR RHEUMATISM.

From the Fairhaven (N. Y.) Register. Mr. James Rowland, of this village, states that for twenty-five years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few nights ago she was in such pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had read of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and secured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr. Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the Balm thoroughly and in an hour's time was able to go to sleep. She now applies it whenever she feels an ache or a pain and finds that it always gives relief. He says that no medicine which she had used ever did her as much good. THE OBJECTION NOT GOOD.

There are people who have objections to advertising matter in the columns of a newspaper. The ground of objection is that they do not want to read advertisements.
