HOW THE DAY WAS OBSERVED

THE G. A. R. CELEBRATION

General Holiday in Astoria—Procession in the Morning and Speeches in the Evening.

his usual eloquent style, and in the evening, at the same church, special music was rendered. The duet, "Show Us Thy Mercy," by Mrs. J. T. Ross and Mr. J. W. Bohler, was one of the features of the day. Mrs. Ross's beautifully rich contralto needs no comment, while Mr. Bohler's tenor, always a naturally good voice, has been much improved by cultivation, and the two voices harmonized well, making the members of the large audience forget for the time the cares and worries of everyday life, and lifting them to higher realms of thought. Rev. Mr. Bollinger, at the Congregational church, and Rev. Mr. Trumbull, at the Baptist church, delivered sermons on the day, drawing rich lessons of life from the deeds of the patriots gone before. At Grace church vesper services, Rev. Mr. Short preached a patriotic sermon to a large congregation, and the boy choir during the service sang "America." Cushing Post, No. 14, attended in a body the services at the M. E. church, Rev. Mr. Walters delivering a special sermon. The church was handsomely decorated in the national colors, and flowers and plants were grouped about the pulpit and platform. The choir sang music appropriate to the occasion. The subject of the evening was the struggle for truth and the nobility of the nation. The speaker said, in part: "Popular government in the United States has as yet been a failure. It has the faults, but has not yet failed, and our nation lacks all others. Carlyle once said that nothing noble had yet been accomplished by America. Is not the subduing of a vast country, the building of towns and cities which rival anything in Europe, noble? Is not the building of vast railroads through the entire land, many of them across mountains and long stretches of desert, noble? Is it not a noble achievement to fill the land with schools, colleges, courts of justice and churches? From a small beginning, little more than a century ago, the vast area of the United States has been peopled until now there is no more land to pioneer from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and we are living with the last of the pioneers. There will be no more veterans of the late war—the last ones are now living in our midst. Were not the conquerors of the wilds and the preservation of the Union noble deeds? In science, philosophy, art and literature our works and workers have made their way into every European city and compare favorably with the old world. Is not this noble? You say all this is commonplace. Well, then, look at the heroes of the army of Tennessee, which covered a 200-mile march without a defeat. Were not their deeds heroic? Gettysburg ranks with Marathon. There was a nobility among the rank and file of the army whose names will never be inscribed in history, but they endured all things and their manhood saved the nation. Thank God we have not forgotten them. Hail them with grateful hearts tonight! "We are tonight members of a grand army, which is growing more numerous day by day and is led by an immortal captain, whose victories will never cease. There are many divisions of this army, but all are fighting for the same end. Let each and every one here tonight enlist in that army, in some one of its great divisions, and press onward to the greater victory."

MONDAY'S CELEBRATION

Throughout the city yesterday was observed as a general holiday. At 9 o'clock in the morning Cushing Post, led by the Marine Band, and followed by school children and citizens, each laden with flowers, to the refrain of muffled drums and solemn music, marched to the hillside cemetery, where the usual services of the G. A. R. were held by the post and the thousands of flowers were offered at the shrine of departed heroes. Business was generally suspended during the day and the time given over to the revival of the memory of great and noble deeds done by those, both living and dead, who took part in the great struggle for the preservation of the Union. In the evening Fisher's Opera House was packed by a dense throng, ladies largely predominating. Long before the hour set—8 o'clock—the house was filled and standing room was not to be had. The stage was beautifully decorated with designs in flowers and dais gracefully draped, and was occupied by Cushing Post, the speaker of the evening, Hon. C. W. Fulton, and others. The exercises began promptly at 8 o'clock. After the invocation by Rev. Mr. Short, Miss Fay Lieberman delighted the audience with a recitation. Mr. John McCue's address, "The Stability of Democratic Institutions," was closely listened to. A tribute to the unknown dead, by the Woman's Relief Corps, was the next number. Misses Grace Rannels and Myrtle Green rendered interesting recitations. A quartet

"CUBA PIG MEAT"

The Way the Spanish Label Cuban Carcasses in Havana.

Havana, May 31.—Among the foreigners imprisoned here is the nephew of a Roman cardinal and the son of an Italian general of note. He was a lieutenant on his father's staff and after his departure from Abyssinia he visited the Holy Land, went thence to Barcelona and embarked for Cuba. His name is Vito Emanuele Dierozza, Count of Gauda Polona, a native of Turin. He holds two decorations from his monarch, the Order of the Crown and State and the Order of the Holy Sepulchre. Count Dierozza was arrested by the Spanish authorities while he was endeavoring, they say, to reach the rebel lines, and Weyler has kept him incarcerated in one of the filthiest cells of Calanias. He is charged with having come to Cuba as a rebel from the rebel Junta in Paris.

At San Antonio de los Baños six poor countrymen, after having been in town two days without food, asked permission from the military commander to go a mile outside the forts for vegetables. Permission was granted, but half an hour later the local guerrilla force was sent out "to operate against the enemy." The guerrillas met six peaceful and killed them. Their bodies were brought to town and cut to pieces. In one of the streets the bodies were put on a table with this inscription: "Cuba pig meat for sale; meat of American pigs expected soon."

GATEWAYS ARE BEING OPENED

Ogden and Silver Bow Routes Will Receive New Traffic.

BUSINESS WILL BE DIVIDED

Rich Plun for the Burlington, Northern Pacific and Great Northern—Union Pacific the Loser.

OMAHA, MAY 31.—Speaking of the opening of the Ogden gateway and the effect on traffic arrangements, General Manager Dickenson of the Union Pacific, said: "I cannot predict what the effect will be, and I do not think anyone can at this time. There will probably be a conference at an early date between the Union Pacific and the Short Line officials to make such traffic arrangements as are necessary by the change."

THE DURRANTS NOW PROPOSE TO APPEAL TO THE FEDERAL AUTHORITIES.

San Francisco, May 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Durrant received the news of Governor Budd's decision shortly after 11 o'clock last night. They expressed themselves as greatly disappointed, but neither manifested any emotion. They took the news quietly and gave vent to neither anger nor tears. Mr. Durrant was with his son at San Quentin for several hours yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Durrant will go over today to visit him. She declares that if he is executed she will be present. Eugene Desprey, Durrant's attorney, last night said there was yet an appeal pending before the supreme court. He added: "Failing in the state courts, we may file our case in the federal courts and seek for a writ of superseas to the warden of the state prison, based upon the proceedings pending. This will prevent the execution and can be done either by application to the United States supreme court or to those of inferior jurisdiction. Referring to the possibility, Warden Hale says he will be governed by the opinion of the attorney general."

A PIONEER SUICIDES

Requested That His Grave Be Decorated on Memorial Day.

Oakdale, Wash., Leonard Niboul, a pioneer resident of this section, committed suicide at Pine City, fourteen miles west of here, under circumstances unusually tragic. Late at night he went to the cemetery where the body of his first wife was buried, took a fatal dose of strychnine, and then fired a pistol ball into his brain. The body was found next day across the grave. Niboul had been living in Spokane, where he conducted a little cigar and confectionary store. He had a second wife. It is said they did not live happily. His first wife committed suicide at Pine City four years ago. A note was found on Niboul's body requesting that his grave be decorated with flowers on Memorial Day.

THE PORT WANTS PEACE.

Latest Note From the Turkish Government to the Powers.

Constantinople, May 31.—The Turkish government has replied to the collective note presented by the ambassadors to the porte on Saturday last. The ambassadors then announced that they did not object to the conclusion of a military armistice, which the Turkish government insisted must be signed between the military commanders in the field, after which the porte will negotiate the peace conditions with the ambassadors. The treaty to be signed by the Turkish and Greek plenipotentiaries in Thessaly. In this latest note the porte insists upon an armistice of a fortnight, which can be renewed in the event that the negotiations are not finished. The porte, however, desires that peace be concluded as soon as possible.
