The opinion of Dr. William A. Hammond is quoted as favoring the idea that every human being does a good deal of thinking with his heart, his liver, his kidneys, and various other organs, and that the "ganglia," which are scattered all through the body, are nothing more nor less than minute brains—along the sympathetic nerves they are strung like beads, and, without the aid of the thinking which they do, nobody could get along at all—and are largely made up of the sort of gray matter that composes the thinking part of the brain. This theory assumes that the system of sympathetic nerves extends throughout the body, and there are ganglia even in the fingers and toes, and an examination of the heart shows a great collection of them, there being in fact a lot of "mind stuff" in the heart, that organ being a secondary brain, an emotional center. The greatest collection, however, of gray tissue outside the brain proper is behind the stomach, there being located an elaborate interlacement of sympathetic nerves which is called the solar plexus, a property delivered blow upon which will produce death as quickly as upon the skull.

The action of the city council in pushing the Commercial street improvement through to the new depot will meet with the hearty approval of every thinking man in the community. For months the railroad company was hounded until it built a depot in the heart of the city, one year in advance of the time when it would be needed. After it was completed, several months ago, it was found there was no way for the public to reach the depot, as there was no street within two blocks of it. Some weeks ago the city council awoke to the situation and commenced proceedings to build a street to the depot from the natural approach at the west, and also one from the east. The matter will now be rushed, and the people will sustain the proposed action of the council tomorrow to that end, and will insist upon the extension of both Commercial and Twenty-third streets. There is but one course to pursue—when you do a thing, do the whole thing or nothing.

Recollecting the value of an experiment of the Iowa Agricultural College some years ago, Secretary Wilson is going to attempt something in the same direction. He has decided to send Prof. Hampton, of South Dakota, to Western Asia to make a collection of plants and grains which flourish there with a view to their introduction in this country, where like climatic and soil conditions prevail. The Iowa college did this, sending Prof. Hild to Russia and Siberia. The fruits and grains and vegetables which he brought were tried in parts of Iowa, and added much to the productiveness of the state. This proved particularly true of the cherries which were introduced in Iowa in that way. Those cherries are even finer than in the Russian climate, from which they were brought. Secretary Wilson believes that Prof. Hampton will find something, the introduction of which will be especially valuable in some of the more Northern states.

Those who are interested in knowing where the city's money goes should inspect the new ordinance naming "Ocean View Cemetery." The rules governing the sale of lots, interments, planting of flowers, etc., on individual lots would take a Philadelphia lawyer to unravel. After a man buys a lot, he can only put a flat stone on a grave, no erect headstone or foot stones being allowed; and he cannot plant a flower without the consent of the superintendent and city council. An exchange of lots in Hillside cemetery with lots in Clatsop, or Ocean View cemetery, is authorized, and a superintendent on a salary, in addition to a sexton, is appointed.

The licensing of dogs to run at large in a city is considered by many not only to be a nuisance to public health, but contrary to the charter of Astoria. Like cattle they should be kept off the streets, or else a change made in the manner of conducting stores. Cows running at large are also a nuisance to every man's garden, and it is useless to spend money in beautifying homes only to have the work undone by cattle.

The new street improvements on Bond street are not only greatly needed for every day business, but will go a long way to convince people abroad that Astorians mean to stand by their own proposition and not sit idly down to wait for something to turn up, or for Eastern lightning to strike them with a prosperity unimagined.

Advocates of short skirts say that few women would have perished at the burning of the Paris bazaar but for the fact that they stumbled on their skirts and fell in a helpless mass. Three women who had been through a previous panic raised their skirts and were thus enabled to escape.

Roland Reed has just received a verdict of several thousand dollars against a southern railway for damages sustained in a smash-up last year. In these times of theatrical depression perhaps more money could be made if actors would play less and travel more.

A South Carolina moonshiner who has recently been sent to the penitentiary made a very strong plea for clemency. He explained to the court that he was the sole support of six wives and thirty-nine children. It seems too bad to suppress such enterprise as this.

It clearly is a mistake to suppose that General Miles' trip to the scene of the trouble in Thessaly will be of no benefit. After seeing that uniform no crafty European monarch could be induced to pull even a single tail feather out of the American bird.

Charles Darwin must be placed among the strongest advocates of foreign missions. After a visit to heathen lands he wrote: "The men who denounce missions forget that human sacrifices, infanticide, bloody wars and cannibalism disappear with the advent of Christianity."

Mr. Isaac Horner, proprietor of the Burton House, Burton, W. V., and one of the most widely known men in the state, was cured of rheumatism after three years of suffering. He says: "I have not sufficient command of language to convey any idea of what I suffered, my physicians told me that nothing could be done for me and my friends were fully convinced that nothing but death would relieve me of my suffering. In June, 1894, Mr. Evans, then salesman for the Wheeling Drug Co., recommended Chamberlain's Pain Balm. At this time my foot and limb were swollen to more than double their normal size and it seemed to me my leg would burst, but soon after I began using the Pain Balm the swelling began to decrease, the pain to leave, and now I consider that I am entirely cured. The Dutchess of York was married July 5, 1893. June 23, 1894; December 14, 1895, and April 23, 1897, are the dates of the births of her three children.

A. H. Patten, with E. C. Atkins & Co., Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I have never before given a testimonial in my life. But I will say that for three years we have never been without Chamberlain's Colic and Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house, and my wife would as soon think of being without flour as a bottle of this Remedy in the summer season. We have used it with all three of our children and it has never failed to cure—not simply stop pain, but cure absolutely. It is all right, and anyone who tries it will find it so." Dr. Jameson, according to the Cape Town "Times," will return to South Africa to receive the Rhodes transcontinental wire to Lake Tanganyika.

There is no joy in the world equal to the happiness of motherhood. A woman's health is her dearest possession. Good looks, good times, happiness, love and its continuance depend on her health. Almost all of the sickness of women is traceable directly or indirectly to some derangement of the organs distastefully feminine. Troubles of this kind are often neglected because a very natural and proper modesty keeps women away from physicians, whose insistence upon examination and local treatment is generally as useless as it is common. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do more for them than 50 doctors in 100. It will do more than the hundredth doctor can unless he prescribes it. It is a prescription of Dr. R. V. Pierce, who for 31 years has been chief consulting physician of the World's Dispensary and Invalids' Hotel at Buffalo, New York.

After.... Taking

A course of Ayer's Pills the system is set in good working order and a man begins to feel that life is worth living. If who has become the gradual prey of constipation, does not realize the friction under which he labors, until the burden is lifted from him. Then his mountains sink into mole-hills, his moroseness gives place to jollity, he is a happy man again. If life does not seem worth living to you, you may take a very different view of it after taking TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.—It is a terrible accident to be burned or scalded, but the pain and agony and frightful disfigurements can be quickly overcome without leaving a scar by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Charles Rogers.

Gen. Calorini, who commanded the Italian troops when they took possession of Rome in 1870, died recently at the age of 87 years.

Not only piles of the very worst kind can be cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, but eczema, scalds, burns, bruises, boils, ulcers and all other skin troubles can be instantly relieved by the same remedy. Charles Rogers.

Doesn't it always happen that when you think you are looking particularly well, you either stub your toe or discover that half of the balayuse of your skirt is dragging behind you?

"There's no use in talking," says W. H. Broadwell, druggist, La Crosse, Kas. "Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy does the work. After taking medicines of my own preparation and those of others, I took a dose of Chamberlain's and it helped me; a second dose cured me. Candidly and conscientiously I can recommend it as the best thing on the market. The 25 and 50 cent sizes for sale by Estes-Conn Drug Co."

Don't thin your blood with sassafras or poison it with blue-moss; but aid Nature by using DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills for constipation, biliousness and stomach and liver troubles. They are purely vegetable. Charles Rogers.

The fowl who revels in the inquiry, "Is it hot enough for you?" is on the outs with the weather clerk.

Some for ten, some for twenty and some for thirty years have suffered from piles and then have been quickly and permanently cured by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great remedy for piles and all forms of skin diseases. Charles Rogers.

W. B. Johnson, Newark, O., says, "One Minute Cough Cure saved my only child from dying by croup." It has saved thousands of others suffering from croup, pneumonia, bronchitis and other serious throat and lung troubles. Charles Rogers.

Piles are much worn by fashionable men in lieu of the violet out of season.

Sick headache can be quickly and completely overcome by using those famous little pills known as "DeWitt's Little Early Risers." Charles Rogers.

The Rev. Samuel May, of Worcester, Mass., the well-known abolitionist, was 87 years old.

"They are dandies," said Thos. Bowser, of the Crockett, Texas, Enterprise, while writing about DeWitt's Little Early Risers, the famous little pills for sick headache and disorders of the stomach and liver. Charles Rogers.

The rivers continue to fall and there are no indications of a further rise. Much warmer weather will prevail during the next few days over the entire Columbia basin. The rivers will continue to fall. The fall will continue for 45 hours at about the same rate as it has fallen during the past 24 hours.

The modern sailing ship is an unfortunate craft. Marine architecture has been so engrossed in the development of steam craft that it would appear as if the wind-propelled ship had been altogether neglected, says the "Heron." Certainly the fact that so many "updraft" sailing vessels disappear and "leave not a wrack behind" would suggest that there is some truth in the contention. As things of beauty sailing craft must be classed, but joys forever they certainly are not, for in many cases the period of their active life is very restricted indeed. As there is a cause for anything, there must necessarily be some reason for the alarming mortality among modern sailing ships. As a rule, we must admit that the sailor is well built so far as the material and workmanship go. But a potent source of weakness lies in the fact that so far as iron or steel hulls are concerned, the sailor is not a universal. It matters not a jot what the trade may be in which the vessel is engaged. She may be required to carry copper ore or lime, coal or nitrate. She may be required to round Cape Horn or the Cape of Good Hope, to bear the brunt of North Atlantic weather, or to enter the gentle waters of the Tropics. It is all one to the hull. Sailing vessels are not built with a view to the trade in which they will be engaged. Therefore, they should be built independent of any trade or any weather. Of course it must in fairness be admitted that as the sailing vessel may be required to go west one voyage, to "steeple" and on another east, to Sydney, the question of employing sails on one special cruise or in one special department of commerce is altogether unimportant, and hence the adoption of a universal type. But this condition of things is merely an argument and a strong one in favor of a staunch ship which will weather Cape Horn or cross the North Atlantic in midwinter without coming to grief.

After the close of the council meeting Friday night, the mayor and the board notified that the new jobs of the Telegraph and Telephone Companies were being marred by people who used gunk knives, and suggested that the police arrest parties for defacing property and permitting dogs and enterprisers to run at large, as well as the poor unfortunate who got drunk.
